U.S. RUSHES FOUR FIGHTER PLANES TO COSTA RICA TO BATTLE REBELS

'Big Mistake,' Nicaragua Says, Seeking Same Deal—Reported Sold for $1 Each—Ground Fighting.

SAN JOSE, Jan. 17 (AP)—Four United States fighter planes bought by Costa Rica to defend itself against air attack landed at El Coco airport here today.

President Jose Figueres and his wife, United States Ambassador Robert Woodward and other officials were on hand to greet the United States pilots who brought the World War II Mustangs in at midmorning. Costa Rican pilots will fly the planes against the rebels, who are said to have an air force of one fighter and two trainers.

It was reported the United States sold the planes to Costa Rica for $1 each.

The Organization of American States, which authorized transfer of the combat planes to bolster this nation's armed forces in the six-day uprising, received an urgent appeal last night from the Costa Rica government for "further and more effective help."

Costa Rica has accused its northern neighbor, Nicaragua, of stirring up the revolt. The latter has denied the charge, but an OAS investigating team—without naming Nicaragua specifically—has reported that a substantial amount of the rebel war material was introduced over Costa Rica's northern border.

Nicaragua Protests.

At Managua, Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza said the United States and OAS made a "big mistake" in sending planes to Costa Rica. He was urgently asking Washington to fly an equal number of planes to Nicaragua.

Until the transfer of the United States planes, the Figueres government's makeshift air force has consisted chiefly of slow civilian transports hastily armed with machine guns after the rebel outbreak.

The United States sold about $500,000 worth of rifles, machine guns, mortars and ammunition to Costa Rica last August, officials in Washington revealed today. The transaction, under the Mutual Defense Assistance Act, never was formally announced.

(The United Press, meanwhile, quoted rebel radio broadcasts as recording the death—apparently in combat—of Teodoro Picado Jr., the West Point-educated leader of the Costa Rican rebellion. Government military headquarters could not confirm the report. Picado was the son of former President Teodoro Picado, who was ousted in 1948 by military forces of Figueres.)

More Ground Fighting.

Fighting erupted again yesterday on the only active front, at Santa Rosa plantation in northwest Costa Rica near the Nicaraguan border. The continued activity in that area appeared to indicate a decisive battle might be shaping up.

A general staff communique said government troops, unofficially estimated at 1000 men, held fast in a clash yesterday afternoon although the rebel forces were aided by one plane.

Loyalist forces on Saturday claimed victory in a major skirmish at Santa Rosa. Informants said the outbreak Sunday came north of the plantation center when government troops moved out from positions captured in the engagement the day before.

Reports from the front said President Figueres had to duck for shelter when the rebels bombed the outskirts of Liberia, about 20 miles southeast of Santa Rosa. A communique said the bombardment killed two soldiers and Oscar Cordero, correspondent for the Diario de Costa Rica.

Hensley Takes Over Workhouse As Mayor Pushes Reforms

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

Workhouse inmates crowded into dirty cubicle of 100-year-old cellhouse which was described as "disgrace to city" in critical report of conditions at Workhouse made by Isaac Gurman, director of St. Louis Bureau for Men. Cell was designed for three occupants. (Additional pictures in Everyday Magazine.)

6 SOLDIERS FOUND GUILTY OF MUTINY, GET 7 YEARS EACH

Group Refusing to Obey Orders at Fort Bragg Ordered Dishonorably Discharged.

FORT BRAGG, N.C., Jan. 17 (AP)—Six Fort Bragg soldiers were convicted of mutiny today and sentenced to dishonorable discharge with forfeit of all pay and allowances and confinement at hard labor for seven years.

The general court-martial sentence is subject to review of higher military authorities. The court ruled that the offense did not merit capital punishment.

The six privates, ranging in age from 18 to 21, had been confined in the stockade for either being absent without leave or insubordination, the public information officer said.

He listed the six as Henry J. Murphy Jr., Philadelphia; Michael Deangelo, Hoboken, N.J.; Richard J. Tkach of Wallington, N.J.; William C. Lapata Jr., Upper Darby, Pa.; Norman J. Morrison, Philadelphia, and Richard J. Cummings, East Hampton, Conn.

They were convicted of "intent to override lawful military authority by acting in concert with each other by refusing to obey orders of an officer."

Lt. Arthur M. Rupp, prosecutor, gave this account of the offense:

A sergeant on duty at the stockade ordered the six to fall out for work call. One answered, "We ain't comin', Sarge." The others made no comment. The sergeant repeated his order. Nobody moved. He sent for the duty officer, Capt. Donald E. Eft, who ordered the six individually and collectively to fall out. Nobody moved.

NEED A JAIL CELL? WRECKING FIRM HAS TWO FOR SALE

Two cells are being put on the block for only $75 apiece. Each is seven feet square, has four bunks and sturdy steel bars.

There may be a short delay in delivery since the cells must first be removed from the old St. Louis County Jail at Clayton, where wrecking operations began today.

What anyone would do with a jail cell is not Aalco Co.'s problem. The firm never ceases to be surprised at what people want from razed structures.

Acting Warden Says He Plans No Big Changes Now—Awaits Permanent Custodian.

Warden E. E. Hensley of City Jail began his first full day as acting warden of City Workhouse today as Mayor Raymond R. Tucker's administration laid plans to raise operation of St. Louis's correctional institutions to standards acceptable to modern penologists.

Hensley said he did not intend to make any immediate major changes at the Workhouse, which was assigned to his administration following forced resignation of Warden Clarence Weismantel Saturday night. Changes will await appointment of a new custodian, he indicated.

Public support of a proposed $100,000,000 bond issue, which would include $5,000,000 for a new Workhouse, was urged by Mrs. E. G. Brungard, director of public welfare.

Proposes Removal.

If this issue is approved by the people, she said, the city intends to build a new Workhouse at Missouri Hills (formerly Bellefontaine Farms) in northern St. Louis county.

"I feel it would be a mistake to spend too much money in rehabilitation of the present Workhouse," she said. "Eight of the 11 acres there are part of an abandoned quarry, and little can be done in the other three acres to provide a work program for prisoners."

Missouri Hills is now operated as a correctional school for boys by the Board of Children's Guardians. Under the proposed bond issue, which is expected to be placed before the voting public in May, the board would receive $2,000,000 to construct a Children's Center at a different location.

Mrs. Brungard said the city then could acquire the buildings and property at Missouri Hills. New buildings would be constructed, with the city using architectural services of the American Prison Association, and activities of Workhouse inmates could be centered on cultivating food for city institutions.

Little Training Needed.

Short-term prisoners at the Workhouse could be used in farm work, which does not require a great deal of training, much more readily than in any intensified industrial program, Mrs. Brungard said.

Inmates of the present Workhouse operate a small truck garden and a few are kept busy in small industrial activities. But most are idle because city ordinance forbids their use in any work outside the institution.

A new warden for the Workhouse will be selected under civil service procedures, Mrs. Brungard said she would confer with Director of Personnel R. Elliott Scearce to establish qualifications. The city then

Defendant Wired for Sound Tuned Out by Irate Judge

A defendant showed up wired for sound in United States tax court in the Federal building today, and the judge informed him promptly that although it was a court of record it was not a court of wire recording.

William Lusk of Chicago, a used-car dealer from whom the Government is seeking $72,000 in income taxes and penalties for 1942-47, appeared as attorney for himself.

With a miniature recorder concealed under his coat he was all set to be his own court reporter as well, until a government attorney noticed the slight bulge. He had seen it before.

"Take it off and take it out," said Judge G. Gregory Bruce, with some impatience, and passed the case until the next call of the docket.

On the second call, Lusk was still wearing the recording outfit. "You are laying yourself open to contempt proceedings," the judge said, with rising volume, and ordered him to take the thing off.

Lusk stepped into the corridor and returned wireless, adjusting his clothing.

Asked if he were ready for trial, Lusk said he was not, that he had not had enough time and that furthermore he had other cases to attend to, at Fairfield and Cicero, Ill. A Government attorney observed that the trial had been postponed three times because of the other cases.

Judge Bruce then ordered Lusk to be ready for trial next Monday, without gadgets.

GRAND JURY WILL CHECK ON U.S. TAX BUREAU'S EFFICIENCY HERE

One of Inquiry's Purposes Would Be to Learn if Conditions Have Improved Since Finnegan's Tenure.

Efficiency of the Internal Revenue Service office here, covering generally the eastern half of Missouri, is expected to be a subject of inquiry by a federal grand jury convening tomorrow, the Post-Dispatch was informed today.

One purpose of the inquiry would be to determine if improvements have been made in conditions in the office from the time that James P. Finnegan, now serving a two-year prison term for misconduct in office, was Collector of Internal Revenue here.

The grand jury also will attempt to ascertain if transfers and retirements of Internal Revenue employes here are being made for efficiency or political reasons. Some complaints have been made of the injection of politics into office operations.

25 Collectors Transferred.

Recently 25 collectors of delinquent accounts in the St. Louis office were ordered transferred to Chicago on the ground the local office was overstaffed.

Of these, 19 accepted transfer, four resigned, one took a lower-paying job to stay here and one transferred to another Government agency.

Two delinquent-account collectors were dismissed recently for "the good of the service." Collectors, who are covered by Civil Service regulations, receive $4200 to $4900 a year. There are now 63 such collectors in the St. Louis office.

Chief task of the grand jury will be to continue an inquiry started in Omaha, Nebr., into tax scandals in the Truman Administration revolving about the activities and political tie-ins of Finnegan.

Jury Instruction.

United States District Judge George H. Moore probably will give the jury, in his charge tomorrow, instructions on how to proceed with the tax-scandal investigation. Hearing of witnesses on this matter is not expected to start for a week or more.

The staff of United States Attorney Harry Richards will give the jury results of an investigation concerning alleged perjury by a man whose employer's income tax return was under scrutiny by the Internal Revenue Service.

Also scheduled for presentation to the grand jury are several income-tax evasion cases, and results of an FHA investigation in southeast Missouri.

The income tax returns of Clyde M. Powell, former St. Louisan and central figure in a nation-wide inquiry into FHA scandals, were to be considered by the grand jury here.

Powell, who resigned last April as an assistant FHA commissioner, last filed an income tax return here in 1948 or 1949.

NAZI UNIFORM AMONG CAPTAIN'S SOUVENIRS ON SALE

Army Capt. Stanley G. Evans has decided, after 10 years, to part with the German officer's uniform worn by a man captured by the Allies on a beachhead in southern France.

Capt. Evans, now attached to the Army Transportation Corps office here, was with the landing unit in 1944 when the prisoner, a physician in the Nazi army holding the rank of lieutenant, was taken.

In his service in the European and Pacific war theaters, Capt. Evans acquired many souvenirs which are taxing storage facilities at his apartment, 6331 Southwood avenue, Clayton.

With the happy consent of his wife, he placed a want ad in yesterday's Post-Dispatch offering for sale the complete German uniform, including helmet and gas mask. If anyone is interested, he'll throw in a large Nazi flag displaying a huge swastika. Yesterday the Evanses got rid of some German and Japanese sabers.

BLAST WRECKS BANK, SEALS VAULT CONTAINING $100,000

NICHOLASVILLE, Ky., Jan. 17 (AP)—A blast set off at the Farmers Bank at 1:40 a.m. today wrecked the building and sealed off from would-be robbers a vault containing $100,000 in cash.

The explosion, presumably caused by nitroglycerine, shook this little Jessamine county town of 3400 wide awake and sent townspeople hurrying to the scene.

The debris was so thick that investigators were unable to make their way to the vault immediately. However, R. D. Jeter, executive vice president and cashier, said he was confident nothing was missing.

"They set off too big a charge," he said, and the wreckage kept them from the vault.

62-BILLION BUDGET SENT TO CONGRESS; TVA FUNDS SLASHED THREE-FOURTHS

VALLEY AGENCY DIRECTOR SAYS ITS REQUEST HAS BEEN 'MURDERED'

By RICHARD DUDMAN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—President Eisenhower asked Congress today for $27,550,000 to operate the Tennessee Valley Authority for the fiscal year starting next July 1. This is less than one-fourth the amount appropriated for TVA for the current fiscal year.

The Administration's TVA budget provides for no new power generators for the agency through June 30, 1956, although the President said TVA would continue installation of steam electric and hydro-electric units already started.

Cutbacks in many phases of the TVA program were indicated in the budget message. Total number of employes would drop by 5389 in the fiscal year, after a reduction in the current year of 3228. This would mean a 36 per cent cut in two years.

'Power Trust' Assailed.

(Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem.), Tennessee, told the United Press that the budget request is part of a plan of "some in the Administration to destroy TVA and public power generally." He said he would do everything in his power to get Congress to override the President's TVA budget recommendations.

("Furthermore the Congress should continue its investigation into the power trust, which is exercising such a dominant influence over the White House, the Bureau of the Budget and the 'independent' agencies," Kefauver said.

(Senator Albert Gore (Dem.), Tennessee, asserted that "this budget was prepared and submitted by enemies of TVA." Gore said the Administration is not satisfied with "strangulation" of TVA power but has submitted recommendations which will impair navigation, flood control and resource development programs as well.

'Removes Last . . . Hope.'

("The budget proposal removes the last vestige of hope, if any vestige remained, that the Administration has any intention of supporting the TVA program as prescribed by the TVA law," Gore said.

(Gore attacked also Mr. Eisenhower's statement that he will propose legislation requiring TVA interest payments to the Treasury. Gore said the $66,000,000 payment which TVA will make under the budget "is a sufficient return on investment, unless the Administration insists that the Government receive as much return upon its investment in the TVA as the Administration proposes to give Dixon and Yates after taxes.")

In recommending the deep cut in expenditures for TVA, Mr. Eisenhower emphasized the agency's increasing earnings from sales of power. The budget showed that TVA would pay $65,982,000 into the Treasury in fiscal 1956—more than twice the requested appropriation.

'Very Substantial Decrease.'

In his budget message, the President said:

"The Tennessee Valley Authority, in the fiscal years of 1955 and 1956, will continue installation of steam electric and hydro-electric generation units started in prior years. With construction on some of the facilities nearing completion, gross expenditures of the authority are estimated to show a very substantial decrease from $431,000,000 in 1955 to $250,000,000 in 1956. Receipts from operations, largely from the sale of power, are expected to increase from $217,000,000 to $248,000,000. Thus, an approximate balance between expenditures and receipts is estimated for 1956, with net budget expenditures of $2,000,000.

"No appropriations have been recommended for new power generation units in the fiscal years 1955 or 1956 for the Tennessee Valley Authority. After 600,000 kilowatts contracted for by the Atomic Energy Commission with the Mississippi Valley Generating Co. (Dixon-Yates) become available for replacing power furnished the AEC by TVA, the scheduled capacity of the TVA system will provide for a substantial increase in loads through the calendar year 1958."

The President then discussed briefly a plan to finance TVA by means other than federal

President Again Says He Believes Ability 'to Retaliate Swiftly' Is Best Safeguard Against Attack.

By BRIG. GEN. THOMAS R. PHILLIPS, U.S.A. (RET.)
Military Analyst of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—"Never before in our peacetime history," the President told Congress in his budget message today, "have we been as well prepared to defend ourselves as we are now."

Expenditures for major national security programs in the fiscal year 1956, he continued, are estimated at $40,500,000,000, or 65 per cent of total budget expenditures.

"This budget," he declared, "provides more expenditures by the Department of Defense for air power than ever before in peacetime history."

"About two-thirds of the Department of Defense expenditures in 1956," the President stated, "will be devoted to air power and related programs—both offensive and defensive."

Out of a total expenditure for major procurement for all the services of $12,718,000,000, about 60 per cent, or $7,530,000,000, will be devoted to procurement of aircraft.

Expenditures for the major national security programs, which include foreign military assistance, atomic energy, stockpiling of strategic materials, etc., the President estimated, will be about $186,000,000 less than that for fiscal year 1955, and about $6,100,000,000 less than actual expenditures for 1954.

The President explained that with the cessation of the war in Korea it became possible to reduce the 1955 military appropriations because the unobligated balances available were greater than required and the large stocks of supplies on hand permitted the military services to "live off the shelf" to a large degree without replacing the items consumed.

This is a one-shot saving and the effect will be small on succeeding years.

As a result, while the expenditures for fiscal years 1955 and 1956 for major security programs will be about the same, the new obligational authority asked from the Congress will be about $5,000,000,000 greater.

President Eisenhower restated his military philosophy in his justification of the budget. "I then (in earlier budgets)," he explained, "proposed that we should finance our national se-

DEFICIT IS PUT AT 2.4 BILLION; HOPE HELD OUT FOR '56 TAX CUT

(Partial Text on Page 6A.)

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—President Eisenhower sent to Congress today an "optimistic" budget for the next fiscal year, forecasting a deficit of 2.4 billion dollars on June 30, 1956.

He estimated a deficit of 4.9 billion dollars for the current fiscal year. The actual deficit for last year was 3.1 billion dollars.

The budget estimates expenditures at $62,408,000,000 for the new fiscal year, compared with the 1955 budget at $63,504,000,000, and estimated income at 60 billions next year, compared with 59 billions for the 1955 fiscal year.

Vague on Balanced Budget.

The message held out hopes for a tax reduction in 1956—a Presidential election year—but was much vaguer about a balanced budget, merely saying:

"A growing prosperity will result in increasing revenues and should make possible both a balanced budget and lower tax rates in the near future."

Treasury Secretary Humphrey, who apparently had a large hand in supplying the estimates of revenues and expenditures, said at a budget seminar Friday, however, that he would favor tax reductions next calendar year "if a balanced budget is in sight then." He ruled out any substantial tax reduction by this session of Congress. He declined to give his definition of "the near future."

'Optimistic,' Humphrey Says.

Humphrey described the budget as "optimistic." He said it was "optimistic" in calculating that individual income tax receipts during fiscal year 1956 would increase from the 29.7 billion dollars estimated for this year to 32.5 billion dollars next year, and that corporate profits for the calendar year 1955 would reach 38.5 billion dollars, although they were running at the annual rate of 34.5 billion dollars during the first half of calendar 1954 and at 36 billion dollars during the three months just ended.

Corporation tax receipts, however, are expected to go down from the 18.5 billion dollars estimated for this fiscal year to 17 billion dollars next year, because of a change in tax collection methods. Excise taxes are expected to increase from 9.1 billion dollars this year to 9.4 billion dollars next year and all other taxes are slated to rise from 4 billion dollars to 4.3 billion dollars.

If the informed guesses prove correct, there will be a "cash deficit" of 2.4 billion dollars this year and a "cash surplus" of $558,000,000 next year.

Based on Actual Dollars.

These "cash" figures are based on the actual dollars that come in and go out of the Treasury and include social security collections and payments and other trust funds, which do not involve regular Treasury transactions. These figures are studied by economists interested in deflation and inflation, but budgets as large as these they are only one of many factors.

There were other "optimistic" figures in the message not fully explained by President Eisenhower, Humphrey or Budget Director Rowland Hughes, who also held a budget seminar Friday. For instance, major national security, including atomic energy and mutual security outlays for fiscal 1956, was estimated to cost $40,459,000,000. Of this, the Defense Department was allotted $34,000,000,000. But the items listed under the Defense Department totaled $35,850,000,000, from which there was deducted about 5 per cent or $1,750,000,000 as "unallocated reductions in estimates."

Humphrey and Hughes explained that Defense Secretary Wilson believed he could make this over-all reduction but they could not explain why the reduction was not calculated for the separate major items or why the same 5 per cent reduction was not applied to the estimates of other departments and agencies.

Against Corporate Tax Cut.

The message also called for retention of corporate income tax rates at 52 per cent and major excise taxes are kept at present levels.

The corporate tax rate would

SMOKE PALL CUTS VISIBILITY, LIKELY TO STAY ALL DAY

Smoke in the downtown area reduced visibility to three fourths of a mile at 9 a.m. today, and Meteorologist Harry P. Wahlgren said the pall was expected to remain throughout the day.

The weather man said wind velocity of only three to five miles an hour and cloudy skies with little warming should keep visibility down to one half to three fourths of a mile today.

Smoke also was reported today at the Lambert-St. Louis Field weather station, but visibility was 2½ miles.

Slight wind movement several days last November failed to remove smoke and fog in the downtown area, thereby reducing visibility sharply.

STEADY SELLING PUSHES STOCK PRICES DOWN

At the worst, the average level of prices was down around the bottom reached in the severe break of two weeks ago when the Federal Reserve tightened up on credit used for speculation.

UNMANNED PLANE TAKES OFF, LANDS SAFE IN HIGH WIND

SALZBURG, Austria, Jan. 17 (AP)—A United States Army L-19 observation plane took off by itself in a 72-mile-an-hour wind here today, flew over a village at a height of 200 feet and then landed virtually unharmed in a field a mile and a half away.

"The plane made its solo flight just as well as if it had been piloted," said Lt. Col. Wayne N. Phillips, of Stockton, Calif., aviation officer of the United States Army in Austria.

The L-19 snapped six ¾-inch lines holding it to the ground. A two-hour search by military police turned up the errant craft resting comfortably facing into the wind in a small field.

2 BANK ROBBERS STEAL $4353 AT KEYESPORT, ILL.

President, Woman Cashier and Customer Are Forced Into Washroom.

The State Bank of Keyesport, Ill., in Clinton county, was held up today by two young men who escaped with $4353 after forcing two officers and a customer into a washroom.

Keyesport is about 55 miles east of St. Louis.

E. W. Gum, president of the bank, said the men entered the building about 10:30 a.m., and one told Miss Lorena Durham, the cashier, he wanted to see the manager.

"She suspected right away it was a holdup," Gum told the Post-Dispatch. "She went into the director's room and slammed and locked the door behind her. But I walked into the front of the bank about this time and one of the men drew a gun and held it on me.

"He directed me to tell Miss Durham to open up. I carried out the order and when she opened the door the robbers forced us and a customer, Dean Wade, to go into a washroom."

The three ignored an order to lie on the floor, but remained in the room while the robbers rifled a cash drawer at the teller's window.

Gum, Miss Durham and Wade, a farmer, were not threatened or harmed by the robbers. The loss is covered by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

The Keyesport bank was held up twice in 1931, robbers getting $3500 once and $500 on another occasion. In both cases the holdup men were apprehended quickly.

Baby-in-Arms Woman Robber Gets Helping Hand, is Out of Jail

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 17 (AP)—A young mother who, with a baby in her arms, robbed a liquor store to pay her husband's traffic fines has received a helping hand.

Ben S. Morris, former assistant district attorney, put up $41 to free James L. Benear, 27 years old, the unemployed husband. "I just felt sorry for the family," he said.

Attorney Gabe Nahas signed a $2500 bond for Mrs. Ada Elizabeth Benear, 22. She was charged with robbery by firearms after robbing the liquor store of $54 Friday night.

Mrs. Benear was arrested when she appeared at headquarters to pay the fine. On leaving jail, Mrs. Benear went to the home of her mother, who has kept the 16-month-old granddaughter.

RUSSIA TO GIVE 5 SATELLITES ITS ATOM KNOW-HOW FOR USE IN PEACE

In Return, Moscow Says, It Would Expect Continuing Supply of Atomic Raw Materials.

MOSCOW, Jan. 17 (AP)—Russia announced today it is turning over atomic know-how and fissionable materials for peaceful use to Communist China, East Germany, Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia.

The announcement was contained in a decision of the U.S.S.R. Council of Ministers read to Western reporters at a press conference at the Foreign Ministry.

It was the third such press conference in four days. At one conference Friday the Russians offered to share with the rest of the world experience they claimed to have gained by operating an industrial atomic power plant.

OnSaturday they suggested another Big Four conference be held on German reunification.

Today's announcement said that in return for scientific and technical aid to be given its Communist allies, the Soviet Union would expect to receive a continuing supply of atomic raw materials from them.

Peaceful Use Stressed.

The announcement added that all atomic aid to be given to the other Communist countries would be used for peaceful purposes and that experimental atomic piles given to them would be limited to that required to produce 5000 kilowatts of electric power each.

One of the charges the Russians have been making against the Paris agreement is that they will give West Germany atomic weapons. Today's statement from the Council of Ministers made no mention of arms.

The Russians last week offered to share their findings on use of atomic energy for production of electric power through the United Nations and said it would reveal this information at the scientific congress on peaceful uses of atomic energy which the U.N. General Assembly is to sponsor later this year.

(The United States has been conferring secretly with Russia in an effort to get it to join in a world pool of atomic energy information and material for peaceful purposes. The Americans also have been negotiating on the pool with non-Communist nations and have indicated they would go ahead with the idea whether Russia came in or not. Moscow's offer of last Friday was viewed in the West as the Kremlin's effort to counter the effects of President Eisenhower's plan.)

Meeting on Conference.

Today's announcement came as United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and atom experts of eight countries, including Russia, gathered at U.N. headquarters in New York for conferences to set up the scientific congress next summer.

The announcement said "the question is under discussion concerning extending the number of countries to which the U.S.S.R. will be in a position to grant aid in development of scientific experimental work in the field of peaceful use of atomic energy."

It said the Soviet government, "attaching great importance to the peaceful use of atomic energy," has decided to aid other states in developing research in the field of nuclear physics "and the peaceful use of atomic energy."

The announcement said the program will give scientists of the five satellite nations an opportunity to learn about "scientific work that is being conducted in the Soviet Union in the field of peaceful use of atomic energy and operation of experimental atomic piles."

East Germany, Czechoslovakia Rich In Uranium Ore.

BERLIN, Jan. 17 (AP)—East Germany and Czechoslovakia have rich supplies of uranium ore to feed the Soviet Union's atomic energy plants in the new exchange deal announced by Moscow today.

Allied and West German sources said new, rich veins of the ore have been discovered in the last year or two in both satellite areas.

The Soviet plan to swap atomic information and completed equipment for raw material from East Germany, Poland, Red China, Czechoslovakia and Romania, was received in Berlin with some surprise.

The Russians have been more secretive about their relations with the satellites on atomic questions than on any other. The East German fields, activated in 1947 and now employing almost 200,000 miners, have been off limits to all traffic for many years. Allied missions which are allowed to roam over much of the Soviet zone have been pointedly advised from the outset to stay away from the workings.

West German government officials, compiling information from refugees who have worked in the uranium mines, calculate that the East German fields have produced enough ore for 44 atomic bombs.

spondent for a San Jose newspaper.

Authorities completed evacuation of most of the civilian population from Liberia. Anti-aircraft batteries have been set up in the town and latest reports said they had managed to hold off the rebel planes.

Rebel Plane Crashes.

The rebel air force suffered a setback Saturday when one of its four planes, a DC-3 transport, crashed and burned. One eyewitness said the plane went down with one engine smoking near La Cruz after being hit by a loyalist rifleman.

The general staff said the situation in the Santa Rosa area was "definitely in our favor."

Several rebels and one loyalist were reported killed when the government routed between 200 and 300 rebel troops in Saturday's skirmish.

The general staff said in yesterday's skirmish the rebels pulled back leaving arms and equipment in the field.

Nineteen loyalist wounded, brought to San Jose hospital early today, said some of the rebels had taken to the hills and were selling their weapons for food. The wounded men said the rebels were using mortar fire and were operating under cover of a P-47 fighter plane.

Appeal Made to OAS.

Fernando Fournier, Costa Rican undersecretary of foreign affairs, told the OAS council in Washington last night that urgent steps were needed to "end the aggression of which my poor defenseless country is a victim."

The OAS investigating commission which has been checking developments moved today to Managua, Nicaragua, to continue efforts to pin down blame for the outbreak.

The commission, headed by Mexico's Luis Quintanilla, received a warm welcome at Managua's airport. On hand were Foreign Minister Oscar Sevilla Sacasa; Col. Anastasio Somoza Jr., son of the President and the country's chief of staff, and members of the diplomatic corps.

Sevilla Sacasa disclosed two rebel A-6 planes had landed early today at Rivas in southern Nicaragua. He said the planes were quickly seized by Nicaraguan authorities. He did not disclose the nationality of the pilots or why they landed. The information was cabled to OAS headquarters in Washington.

Nicaraguan President Somoza, in an interview, again denied any intervention in Costa Rica and declared the revolt was "100 per cent Costa Rican and inside the country."

He said the OAS commission should have come to Nicaragua first "because we are the accused. We need them very urgently so Figueres will stop telling them a lot of lies."

Somoza told reporters Washington should give him as many planes as were sent to Costa Rica.

"We have no air defense and you never know what Figueres is going to do next," he said.

(A New York Times dispatch from Panama said the German freighter Eleanna passed through Balboa Saturday en route to the Nicaraguan port of Corinto with 25 F-51 fighter planes and 500 Thompson submachine guns which Somoza's government had purchased from Sweden.)

Planes Sent From Kelly Base.

The four United States planes which left Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio, Tex., yesterday afternoon are F-51 one-seater craft widely used in World War II and known then as the P-51. They have a cruising speed of about 350 miles an hour and a top speed of more than 400 miles per hour. What armament they carried was not disclosed but they were described as fully armed.

The fighters were accompanied by a C-54 transport carrying spare parts. It will bring the four pilots ferrying the fighters back to the United States.

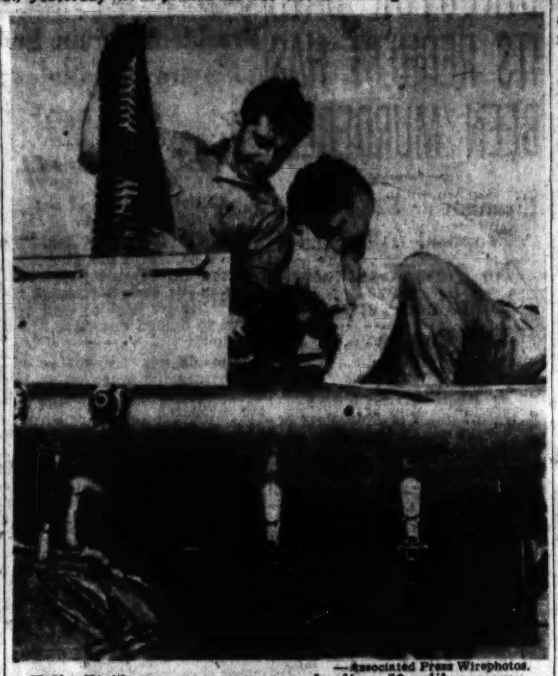

United States Air National Guardsmen gave the planes a quick checkup to assure they were in top condition, then turned them over to the United States Air Force ferry command for the long flight south.

The Costa Rican government imposed censorship on foreign news correspondents last night, but it was lifted three hours later. There was no official explanation. The local press and radio have been under censorship since last Wednesday.

There was some confusion as to the whereabouts of six foreign correspondents captured Saturday by rebel forces at Santa Rosa.

United States Ambassador Robert F. Woodward said the six had returned to government lines but the rebel radio heard in Managua said they now were covering the action from the rebel side.

They were identified as United Press photographer John Abney, Time magazine correspondent Philip Payne, Life photographer George Skadding, Paul Sanche of the National Broadcasting Co., and two correspondents from Havana, Cuba—Jose Garcia of Cine Periodico and Antonio Llano Montes of Diario Nacional.

BUDGET REQUESTS MAKE WASHINGTON LOOK LIKE PIKER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (UP)—George Washington spent less in his first year as President to run the entire Federal Government than President Eisenhower has budgeted for things like paper cups and paper towels in fiscal 1956.

Mr. Eisenhower's item for paper cups and the like runs to $4,250,000. That's more than half as much as the whole Federal Government spent in the first eight years of its existence.

In the first 127 years of United States history, only one budget hit one billion dollars. That was in 1865 to pay a big part of the Civil War's cost.

In the old days you could have run the Government more than eight years for the $10,000,000 one B-52 intercontinental H-bomber costs.

WAYNE REPLACES MITCHUM AS STAR IN NEW MOVIE

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17 (AP)—Film Star John Wayne has cut short his New York honeymoon to replace Robert Mitchum, who was dropped last week from the starring role in the $2,500,000 picture, "Blood Alley."

A Warner Brothers spokesman said Mitchum was dismissed for "action detrimental to the making of the film." "There are no hard feelings—we didn't see eye to eye," Mitchum said.

It was reported last week from San Rafael, Calif., the film's location site, that Mitchum had pushed a company transportation manager, George Coleman, into San Francisco bay. However, Mitchum and Coleman both later denied it happened.

DR. WILLIAM M. JARDINE DIES, COOLIDGE'S FARM SECRETARY

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 17 (AP)—Dr. William M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture in Calvin Coolidge's Cabinet and former president of Kansas State College, died here today. He was 76 years old.

Dr. Jardine, an outstanding figure in agriculture and education, was an early advocate of farm co-operatives and corporations. His various activities included those of surveyor, farmer, farm manager, professor of agronomy, director of a farm experiment station, college president, minister to Egypt and Kansas State treasurer.

H-BOMB TESTS REPORTED RULED OUT THIS YEAR

Reversal Laid to Unfavorable Political Climate, Lack of Need for Tests.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (UP)—The word is out that the United States has decided not to undertake any H-bomb tests this year.

If this is true, and informed sources say it is, it reversed reports last year that new superbomb designs would be tested at the Pacific proving grounds in the fall of 1955.

President Eisenhower in today's budget message and Chairman Lewis L. Strauss on a number of occasions have made it clear that the United States will conduct both A-bomb and H-bomb tests as developments warrant.

But as of now, the word is, the only tests in the works for 1955 are the atomic experiments scheduled at the Nevada proving ground. These experimental shots will be pygmies compared with the hydrogen explosions touched off in the Marshall Islands last spring.

1. The 1954 experiments were so fruitful that there is no urgent need for new tests now. Tests of such magnitude and high cost normally are conducted only when important new scientific or engineering ideas need proving.

2. The world political climate is not favorable for any new demonstrations of the superbomb's power. Moreover, this country in 1955 hopes to focus the world's attention and energies on the beneficial uses of atomic energy through President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace program.

By the Associated Press.

Heads of major government atomic laboratories began closed-door discussions today on whether any changes are needed in the Atomic Energy Commission's security system.

The commission confirmed that the sessions have started, but did not announce the names of those taking part.

Strauss announced last week that the meeting would be held.

G.O.P.-Run State Dept. Denies McCarthy Charges on Democrats

Johnston Quotes Letter Refuting Red Hunter's 1950 Accusation That Department Was Communist-Ridden.

By EDWARD F. WOODS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—The Republican-controlled State Department has denied charges brought in 1950 by Senator Joseph R. McCarthy that the department, then under President Truman, was riddled with Communists and disloyal persons, Senator Olin D. Johnston, Democrat of South Carolina, disclosed today.

Johnston said that last month he submitted to the State Department the names of about 90 persons McCarthy had named as Communists or subversives and had been informed by the department by letter that "not one of these persons" on the McCarthy list has been proved to be, or found to be a Communist or disloyal to our government."

The State Department letter, Johnston said, verified a report filed in 1950 by a subcommittee of the Foreign Relations Committee, headed by Millard E. Tydings, then a Democratic Senator from Maryland. The Tydings committee, after an investigation of McCarthy's accusations, reported that McCarthy's "charges and methods are a fraud and a hoax" and constituted "perhaps the most nefarious campaign of untruth in the history of our republic."

McCarthy and his supporters called the Tydings committee report a "whitewash" and the Wisconsin Republican and his staff were instrumental in the 1950 senatorial campaign in Maryland in which Tydings was defeated for re-election by Republican John Marshall Butler.

"It is gratifying to have confirmed that the charges of widespread Communism in the State Department, put out in 1950 when the Democrats were in control of our national government, have now been contradicted by the letter to me from the present Republican Administration," Johnston said.

Johnston, who is the new chairman of the Senate Committee on Post Office and Civil Service, has announced that he will have his committee investigate the operation of the Eisenhower security program as it applies to Government workers.

Senator Thomas C. Hennings Jr., St. Louis Democrat, was appointed to the Johnston committee last week and will participate in the forthcoming investigations.

The State Department has informed Johnston that only three of the persons originally accused by McCarthy had resigned or been dropped from the State Department rolls and that none of these had been found to be disloyal or Communists.

"The State Department in its letter to me further verifies the findings of the Tydings committee," Johnston continued, "by stating that of the 80-odd names given to the Tydings committee by the Wisconsin Senator as persons then employed, only 40 were in fact employed in the State Department in 1950; 33 had resigned or left the State Department prior to that year and seven of the names given to the Tydings committee by the Wisconsin Senator as employes of the State Department had never been employed by the department.

"The State Department further reports that 12 of the 40 who were working in the State Department in 1950 are still employed by the State Department in 1955 and that 10 others who were working for the State Department in 1950 have been transferred to other United States Government agencies."

Johnston did not release the text of the State Department correspondence.

The three cases of persons referred to as having resigned or "been dropped" from the State Department rolls are understood to have involved John Carter Vincent, John Stewart Service and John Paton Davies.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in March 1953 cleared Vincent of any suspicion of disloyalty, but fired him from the foreign service on the ground that his work did not meet the department's standards.

In Service's case, a loyalty review board in 1951 found no evidence that he was a Communist or otherwise a subversive, but expressed a "reasonable doubt" as to his loyalty because he made "unauthorized disclosures of documents" in the Amerasia case.

The board said, however, "we are not required to find Service guilty of disloyalty and we do not do so."

Davies is involved in the most recent and controversial of these three cases. He was cleared last November by Dulles on all charges of disloyalty or Communist leanings, but he was fired, nevertheless, on the ground that he lacked "judgment, discretion and reliability."

U.S. NAVY PLANE GOES DOWN, 13 FEARED DROWNED

Crashes in Gulf of St. Lawrence Off Newfoundland—3 Empty Life Rafts Sighted.

CORNER BROOK, Newfoundland, Jan. 17 (AP) — A United States Navy Super-Constellation went down in the fog-shrouded Gulf of St. Lawrence today and it was feared all 13 persons aboard were drowned.

Rescue ships and planes criss-crossed over the place where the big craft is believed to have crashed after two engines failed. The first search plane at the spot reported three empty life-rafts. A ship circling the area radioed that it could find no sign of life.

The four-engine plane had been airborne less than two hours, out of Harmon Air Force Base near here, when the pilot reported one of his engines had failed. Moments later he said a second engine had cut out.

The Super Constellation was en route from Harmon, 70 miles from here, to the Patuxent river naval air station in Maryland. It carried a crew of six and Harmon field said there were seven passengers aboard. It did not identify them.

A search and rescue crashboat sped to the area. A C-47 twin-engine transport plane and a helicopter were ordered to stand by if needed in a rescue operation.

(The United Press said the Constellation was being escorted back toward Harmon by a B-29 after two of its engines failed, but that the escorting plane lost contact with it. Later, it said, the B-29 sighted wreckage.)

SHARKS ATE TWO OF CREW, SURVIVORS OFF GUAM SAY

GUAM, Jan. 17 (AP)—Five survivors of the 48-foot motor vessel Rota were rescued Saturday and told of seeing two of the crew eaten by sharks.

The United States Navy destroyer escort Whitehurst rescued the men 24 miles off Guam where the Rota was found wrecked by heavy seas.

The two crewmen were given up for lost, but a search is still on for a third missing crewman.

ACUTE SHORTAGE OF CLASSROOMS DEVELOPING HERE, SURVEY SHOWS

County Officials Convinced State or Federal Aid Is Necessary —City Needs 6 New Elementary Schools.

Harassed public school officials in many parts of St. Louis county—with enrollments swelling and local sources of construction funds virtually exhausted — are convinced that state or federal aid is necessary to avoid an acute classroom shortage in the next few years, a survey by the Post-Dispatch showed today.

In St. Louis, four new elementary schools and 10 smaller branch units are needed. The buildings, which would only partly solve the problem of crowded classes in some sections, would cost at least $6,000,000, exclusive of land.

Children Transported.

These buildings would not eliminate the need to transport some children from the central part of the city to schools in outlying areas.

Today, all 500 children in the Cochran Apartments public housing project who attend public elementary schools must ride to classes in busses, provided by the Board of Education. The practice was started about four years ago.

Sharply-climbing school population in St. Louis county has led, despite ambitious building programs, to use of improvised classrooms, holding classes in church buildings and—in some districts—to elimination of kindergartens.

Now, many county districts have almost exhausted their capacity to go in debt to build schools. This is limited by state law to 10 per cent of assessed valuation. Therefore, without state or federal help, additional construction will be impossible. But the number of school children continues to increase.

Classes in Storeroom.

In Ritenour Senior High School, serving the Overland area, classes are regularly held in a storeroom adjoining the boiler room, on the auditorium stage and in the cafeteria. An 18-room addition, to be used next September, will remedy the condition.

A new elementary school in Ritenour district, was overcrowded when it was opened last fall, so sixth graders attend classes in a church a block away.

Commenting on conditions in Riverview Gardens, Assistant Superintendent D. A. Ryan said: "About 700 children used classrooms in churches and in basements of school buildings, with natural light only from small windows."

Kindergarten was discontinued in the district last fall for lack of room. It will be resumed within a month when two new school buildings are opened, Ryan said.

Church Classrooms.

"We also will be able to take children out the church classrooms for the rest of this school year," he said. "But next September we will be overcrowded again."

In Kirkwood district, Supt. Floyd W. Hendricks said a new high school, to be opened next fall, will be six rooms too small when put into use. Five years ago, he said, there were 3600 pupils in the district. There are 6200 now, with 8000 predicted for 1955.

Throughout the county, enrollment soared from 52,555 in 1950 to 76,735 this year, George W. Vossbrink, county school superintendent, said. Moreover, predictions for 1960 range between 106,000 and 116,000, he pointed out.

"In those rapidly growing areas that have exhausted their bonding capacity," he said, "additional money must come from outside sources."

Kirkwood is within $60,000 of its debt ceiling. Ritenour is only $8000 below its limit. District R-9, in the southeast part of the county, cannot undertake any more major building projects. Among other districts near their debt maximum according to figures in Vossbrink's office, are Affton, Berkeley, Eureka, Jennings, Kinloch and Valley Park.

In Riverview Gardens, enrollment is rising so rapidly that if residents continue to vote all the bonds possible each year—through increased valuations—they still will be unable to keep up with needs, the assistant superintendent said.

"I hardly think that the people out here can furnish all the money we need for construction," Ryan said. "There very definitely is a need for outside aid."

Riverview Gardens voters Saturday approved a $440,000 bond issue. When the bonds are sold, the district will be at its authorized debt limit.

Unbalance in City.

In St. Louis, population shifts — even more than increased school attendance—have caused crowded classes in many elementary schools in the central part of the city, while some schools in outlying sections have vacant rooms. The most serious classroom shortages exist near the new public housing projects.

End of segregation in elementary schools next fall will alleviate some of the crowding. However, the four schools and 10 branches, for which funds have not been authorized, are minimum needs to help reduce the classroom load, it was reported.

That minimum program would not even meet one of the city's serious problems—a large number of outmoded elementary schools. The average elementary school building in St. Louis is 50 years old.

Wooden Portable Units.

An example of St. Louis's outmoded school facilities can be seen at O'Fallon School, 1409 North Fifteenth street. There students attend classes in a building erected in 1870. Because of increased enrollment, eight wooden portable units were added in 1948. These supposedly temporary structures, one with a decided tilt, are still in use.

The city's school indebtedness is $16,517,000, or about 10 per cent of the $165,163,000 authorized by law.

He said that "positive, affirmative action must be taken now" and said he would "present an affirmative program dealing with this shortage" in a special message to Congress Feb. 15.

'BIRD DOG' TAKES SHORT 'FLIGHT' TO ROUT PROWLER

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

Tootsie, temperamental 2-year-old female dog whose ancestry blends spitz and fox terrier strains, was recuperating at her home today from her impetuous chase last night of a suspected burglar. She jumped right out the window. Second-story window, that is.

Tootsie's unprecedented decision to make like a bird apparently was prompted by the anxious words of her owners, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cyrus, 7547 Lovella avenue, Richmond Heights, as they watched a poorly-clad loiterer lounge around their own backyard, the front of their house and finally study a house across the street.

A neighbor's house recently had been robbed.

The dog landed on the front porch roof and jumped from there to the sidewalk.

"She screamed like a banshee when she hit the concrete," Mrs. Cyrus said. "But when I rushed down (the man we thought was a burglar had run off by that time), Tootsie was apparently unhurt, though it's a drop of 20 feet. In fact, Tootsie ran up to the window and scratched at the glass, as though she wanted to do it all over again."

MAN WITH KNIFE ENTERS HOUSE, ROBS WOMAN OF $30

Mrs. Helen Miller, 4047 Easton avenue, was robbed of $30 late Saturday by a man who broke into her house and threatened her with a butcher knife, she reported to police

The man, a Negro dressed in a tweed topcoat, gained entrance through a side window. He grappled with Mrs. Miller, 30 years old, but she screamed and fought him off, police said.

Finally demanding money, the intruder took a billfold and ran out of the front door. Mrs. Miller was alone in the house with her 2-year-old son. She refused medical attention.

POOR CLERGYMAN OWES NO TAX BUT INSISTS ON PAYING $1

Some of this year's taxpayers, cheerfully co-operative because of the Government's recent crackdown on evaders, have found their epitome in an impoverished clergyman who insisted on paying $1 at the Federal building here, although he owed nothing.

Ernest M. Flinn, assistant director of the St. Louis office of the Department of Internal Revenue, told the story today of the pastor with the shiny pants. He made his return last week.

"We urged him to put the dollar down on a pair of trousers, for we saw that his were too well worn," Flinn said. "But he declared he wanted to help his Government and made out a return, inclosing an unowed $1."

HARRY SCHNARDTHORST DIES OF BURNS IN GAS BLAST

Harry Schnardthorst, a painter, 1041 Baden avenue, died yesterday at Homer G. Phillips Hospital of burns of the head, arms and body, suffered Dec. 30 in a gas explosion in an apartment at 4417A Floriss place. He was alone in the apartment.

Schnardhorst, 59 years old, was removing paint preparatory to redecorating when the blast occurred. Police found the gas supply to the apartment had been turned off, but that a pipe to the kitchen, where the explosion occurred, had been left unsealed.

FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW FOR SIDNEY C. SMITH

Funeral services for Sidney C. Smith, retired St. Louis high school teacher, will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Schumacher undertaking establishment, 3013 Meramec street, with burial in New St. Marcus Cemetery.

Mr. Smith, 70 years old, died Saturday of cancer at his home, 923 Bellerive boulevard. A teacher in the public school system for 30 years, he taught commercial subjects at Roosevelt High School at the time of his retirement two years ago.

A government tax claim against Taryle Bros. & Kramer, Inc., produce firm at 4 North Sarah street, was settled for $394,004 in the United States Tax Court through stipulation today. The claim was among 90 to be heard by Judge J. Gregory Bruce, who convened court at the Federal Building today.

The Government's claim included income taxes and excess profits tax for eight year, 1941-49, and penalties. Of the total, $286,668 was charged against the company. In some instances the fraud penalty of 50 per cent was invoked by the Government.

Seymour Kramer, treasurer of the firm, agreed by stipulation to pay $25,595 in income taxes and penalties. Two other officers and stockholders also consented to substantial payments. They were William Taryle, vice president, $27,042, and Harry Taryle, secretary, $16,548.

It also was stipulated that the estate of Samuel Taryle, former president and founder of the firm, will pay 37,191 in settlement of income tax claims.

Warwick Hotel Case.

Government claims against the Warwick Hotel Co. and seven stockholders also were settled by stipulation in the tax court today, for $39,314.

Attorney's fees paid to James P. Finnegan, former collector of internal revenue, were involved in the Government's claims against the taxpayers. Fees amounting to $15,000 paid to Finnegan in 1947-'48-'49, were disallowed as tax deductions on grounds they were personal obligations of the stockholders and were not deductible as corporate expenses.

The Government said a $10,000 fee to Finnegan was incurred in connection with the purchase of the capital stock of the Warwick Operating Co. by the Warwick Hotel Co., and that $5000 was for Finnegan's services in a claim by the hotel against the Coast Guard. The latter claim, for damage alleged to have resulted from Coast Guard occupancy of the hotel during World War II, was settled for $40,000.

A claim for $41,545 against the hotel for the years 1948 through 1950, representing disallowances on deductions for depreciation, notes and legal fees, was settled by stipulation for $16,050.

Settlements of the claims against the stockholders, were effected as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Saul Lichtenfeld, 8712 Teasdale avenue, University, City, $10,244 claim settled for $5533; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lichtenfeld, 751 Interdrive, University City, $11,932 claimed, $8794 settlement.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lichtenfeld, who live at the hotel, 1428 Locust street, a claim of $5956 settled for $4452; Saul Lichtenfeld, individually, claim of $1558 settled for $1439; Paul E. Adler, who lives at the hotel, $4355 claimed, $3075 settlement.

Deductions claimed for the Finnegan fees and interest on the sums due the Government accounted for the bulk of the deficiencies.

Four Children Die in Fire.

TIMMINS, Ont., Jan. 17 (AP)—Four small children were burned to death here early today when fire destroyed a four-room frame house. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jean-Paul Carriere, escaped. A fifth child, was saved by an uncle, Louis Carriere, 19 years old.

MRS. SULLIVAN PREPARING BILL TO REGULATE COFFEE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 — Representative Leonor Sullivan (Dem.), Missouri, today prepared for introduction in the House a bill providing for regulation of trading in coffee futures which is intended to prevent price increases such as occurred last year.

A year ago today the St. Louis woman boiled over as coffee prices soared and charged in a speech on the House floor that speculation hoarding and manipulation in coffee trading were responsible for coffee prices doubling at the retail markets. Her speech resulted in an investigation by the Federal Trade Commission, which upheld her views.

Mrs. Sullivan's bill would amend the commodity exchange act to include coffee along with other commodities such as wheat, cotton, rice, corn, oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, butter, eggs, peanuts, which now are subject to trading controls.

CHADEAYNE MADE TREASURER OF GENERAL AMERICAN LIFE

Appointment of Henry F. Chadeayne as treasurer of General American Life Insurance Co. was announced today by Powell B. McHaney, president. Chadeayne, who has been comptroller since 1945, succeeds Charles H. Hempel, who retired Jan. 7 after 46 years with the company and its predecessor.

Chadeayne has long been active in civic affairs. He was an organizer of the Grand Jury Association of St. Louis and was president of it from 1952 to 1954. He helped write the bylaws of the Greater St. Louis Community Chest and has headed several Chest agencies.

Victor F. Bachle, who has been manager of the investment accounting department, was appointed acting comptroller, and Burt Fehlig was made acting manager of investment accounting. Frederick Rodefeld was promoted from assistant manager to acting manager of the ordinary life claim department, succeeding Patrick J. O'Connor, who retired Jan. 1 after 47 years.

'HOT ROD' MOORE FINED $150 ON JULY SPEEDING CHARGE

Robert H. (Hot Rod) Moore was fined $150 by Police Judge Robert G. Dowd today on his plea of guilty of speeding 45 miles an hour on Morganford road last July 23 and violating automatic signals at Delor street and Gravois avenue on Morganford.

Moore, notorious traffic offender who was paroled Jan. 4 at Mexico, Mo., after serving four months of an eight-month term for an earlier violation in St. Louis, in a plea for leniency told Judge Dowd he felt he had "paid for the mistakes I've made and I don't want to be in jail again."

The court, rejecting the plea of Moore's lawyer, Henry G. Morris, for a "token" fine, pointed out the July offense occurred while appeals were pending "in all his other cases."

Moore interjected: "But I hadn't been to jail then."

Today's traffic convictions brought to 27 the total for Moore in the last six years. He is 23 years old.

The court allowed him until Feb. 28 to pay the fines after Morris pointed out Moore will have to earn money to pay them. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry G. Moore, 1 Portland place.

Poles Curb Religious Teaching.

VIENNA, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Polish Ministry for Culture has prohibited religious teaching in all Polish elementary schools, the Vienna Catholic news service, Kathpress, reported yesterday. From now on, religious education of Polish children will only be possible at home or in the churches, the report said.

93 MORE BOOKED AS SPEEDERS; 213 TOTAL FOR 2 DAYS

119 Motorists Arrested for Other Traffic Violations in Safety Campaign.

Police reported 93 speeders arrested in the 24 hours ending at 7 a.m. today, following a record catch of 120 speeders in the 24 hours to 7 a.m. yesterday.

To the two-day total of 213 speeding arrests was added 119 other "moving" violators.

Maj. William G. Cibulka, head of the police traffic division, said two-thirds of the speeders were caught by radar. Cibulka added that a majority of the arrests were at hours other than peak periods.

Speeding arrests in the first 16 days of the year totaled 1090, or about twice the 553 arrests in the comparable period last year. The increase in arrests is due to the continuing drive by police against reckless driving, started Dec. 24.

The drive against jaywalkers was stepped up Friday and Saturday, with 223 careless walking violations reported to 7 p.m. Saturday. There were no jaywalking arrests yesterday.

Glaring headlights also received police attention, with eight arrest notices issued Saturday night and seven last night for too-bright lights.

Ernest J. Hahn, House Springs, Mo., was fined $200 on three traffic charges and his driver's license was suspended for 90 days by Judge Robert G. Dowd today. Police testified they arrested Hahn last Saturday night after he drove his car on the sidewalk at Grand boulevard and Caroline street.

Tests showed that Hahn was intoxicated, the officers said. He was charged with driving when intoxicated, careless driving and failure to observe a stop sign. Hahn admitted drinking "several beers," but denied being drunk.

Henry Partlow, 1345A Elliot avenue, was fined $125 for careless driving and $25 for failure to observe an electric signal. Police testified in the court of Judge Morris Rosenthal that Partlow's automobile collided with another machine after going through an electric signal at Thirteenth street and Cass avenue Jan. 4.

HOW HIGH BIDDER GOT AWARD FOR PAKISTAN WORK

FOA Reset Deadline on Bids to Enable New California Firm to Submit Figures.

By EDWARD A. HARRIS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17—The Foreign Operations Administration postponed for two weeks the deadline for submission of bids for the construction of two grain storage elevators in Pakistan in order to enable a newly-organized California firm to get in the picture, the Post-Dispatch was told today.

The $2,430,980 bid of the Agricultural Construction Co. of Los Angeles, which was approximately $982,000 higher than the lowest bid, submitted by a Kansas City firm, was opened in Karachi last Aug. 23, along with other bids, after FOA had extended the deadline from Aug. 9. It was on Aug. 9, according to William G. Herron of Palm Springs, who with two associates organized the California firm, that the company was incorporated.

The California company's bid ultimately was accepted by the FOA after four months of delay, from August to late December. The decision was made by FOA Administrator Harold E. Stassen after Stassen met with Herron and his associates in the venture at the behest of Representative John Phillips (Rep.) of California, a member of the House Appropriations Committee and long-time friend of Herron.

Delays in Washington.

These new facts on the controversial contract award were made known today by Herron himself in an interview with the Post-Dispatch. His partners in the Agricultural Construction Co. are Norman P. Van Valkenburgh, president of the new firm and an experienced builder, and Alfred E. Poulsen, a skilled engineer, both of Los Angeles.

Herron spoke at length of the frustration he and his associates experienced after they had jumped into the bidding of the Pakistan project, obtained the recommendation of both the Pakistan government and the FOA technical assistance mission in Karachi, and stood by for four months as Washington refused to act.

Herron said he and his associates spent about $40,000 in preparing for the bid, including an exhaustive study of the design and overseas expenses for Poulsen. They could see no justice, he declared, in FOA's refusal to accept the recommendations from Karachi. He stressed that it was his company's combination design and construction bid that the Pakistan government liked best, and the dollar cost came well within the FOA's allocation for the project even though it was not the lowest bid.

Knows Way Around.

Herron explained to the Post-Dispatch that he knew his way around the capital because he had served there in various capacities, including several years as manager of the Washington office of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

After the design-bid of the Agricultural Construction Co. was approved in Karachi, the company waited long weeks, said Herron, before becoming impatient. Efforts to get an explanation of the delay in a Washington award announcement were fruitless, he went on, and finally he appealed to Representative Phillips. This, he said, was four months after their design-bid had been recommended.

$231 IN CASH, ITEMS VALUED AT $425 STOLEN FROM STORE

A market at 1028 Park avenue was robbed of $231 in cash and merchandise valued at $425 sometime this weekend by burglars who gained entrance through an insecure basement door, it was reported to police today.

Included in the stolen merchandise was 150 cartons of cigarettes valued at $270, Joseph Gilfiks, the owner, said. The cash was taken from a register located on the first floor of the store.

A second burglary, in which $693 was taken, occurred at the Star Theater, 16 South Jefferson avenue, sometime after 11:30 o'clock last night when the movie house close, it was reported to police. The money was taken from a safe in an office near the front of the building. The burglars used a blowtorch to burn the safe open, police said.

CANNON ACCUSED OF RESHUFFLING COMMITTEE JOBS

Appropriations Chairman Forms Unit on Public Works — Its Makeup Criticized.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (UP)—House Appropriations Committee Democrats today criticized Chairman Clarence Cannon (Dem.), Missouri, charging that he reshuffled members' assignments without consuling them.

In the reshuffle, a new Public Works subcommittee was created, with Cannon as its chairman, to handle appropriations for the Atomic Energy Commission, the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Bureau of Reclamation, Army Civil Functions, the Bonneville Power Administration, the Southeastern Power Administration and the Southwestern Power Administration.

The make-up of the Democratic membership of this new subcommittee indicated that, as far as the Democratic appointments were concerned, it was weighted with friends of public power. The Republican subcommittee assignments have not been made yet.

The groundwork already has been laid for a Congressional fight this year on the public power issue. The Dixon-Yates contract with the Atomic Energy Commission promises to be the focal point of this fight.

Cannon said the purpose of the changes in assignments was to distribute the work more more evenly and to put it on a "more reasonable basis." He said the public power question was not a consideration.

"There was no motive except to regroup and readjust the subcommittees," he said. "We've been going along since 1921 without substantial change. There has not been a complete revision and scientific realignment of committees since then."

He said he was surprised to hear that some members were unhappy about what had been done."

Members of the committee, while privattely critical, were not inclined to engage in a public controversy with their chairman, but one member said it is possible a move will be made to set aside the changes.

On the new subcommittee Cannon named, in addition to himself as chairman, Representatives Louis C. Rabaut, Michigan; Michael J. Kirwan, Ohio; John E. Fogarty, Rhode Island; Fred Marshall, Minneapolis; John J. Riley, South Carolina; Joe L. Evins, Tennessee; Edward P. Boland, Massachusetts, and James C. Murray, Illinois.

UNION ELECTRIC PAYS CITY $1,023,589 FRANCHISE TAX

A check for $1,023,589, representing the 5 per cent franchise tax on the gross receipts of Union Electric Co. for the final six months of 1954, was received today by Comptroller Milton Carpenter.

The payment, which Carpenter said was the largest ever received from Union Electric on six months' business, compared with $937,306 paid the city in the comparable period in 1953.

U.S. DISMISSING INDICTMENT AGAINST CHICAGO REPORTER

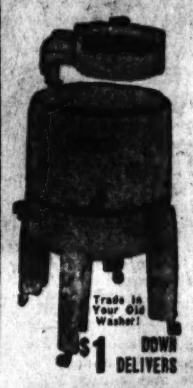

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Government announced today it is dismissing an indictment accusing Ray Brennan, Chicago Sun-Times reporter, of posing as a government employe to get secret testimony before the old Senate Crime Investigating Committee.

William A. Paisley of the Department of Justice told United States District Judge Bolitha J. Laws of the Government's decision. Paisley said that dismissal of the indictment was agreeable to all parties involved, including Senators who served on the Crime Investigating Committee. Laws said the dismissal would have to be taken up with Judge Henry A. Scheinhaut, to whom the case had been assigned for trial.

Brennan was accused of posing as new office manager of the crime investigating committee in order to get testimony given by Capt. Dan (Tubbo) Gilbert of the Chicago Police Department, known as "the world's richest cop." The testimony was printed by the Sun-Times a few days before the November 1950 election and Gilbert, the Democratic nominee for sheriff, was overwhelmingly defeated in normally Democratic Cook County.

Congress Gets 62-Billion Eisenhower Budget

go down to 47 per cent and the excises taxes on cigarettes, automobiles, gasoline and alcoholic beverages would be cut on April 1 unless extended by Congress. Congressional leaders of both parties favor retention of these tax rates but many Senators and Representatives think there should be some selective reductions in the excise taxes.

The estimates also assume that postal rates will be increased by more than $400,000,000. This increase is by no means certain.

In August, Congress, by a compromise, temporarily increased the national debt limit to 281 billion dollars when the Treasury wanted a 290-billion-dollar limit. This ceiling will revert to 275 billion dollars on June 30 unless another higher authorization is voted. On Dec. 31, the outstanding debt under this category was 278.2 billion dollars, and with two more deficits in prospect, the President told Congress:

"We recognize that the statutory debt limit is valuable as an expression of firm intent to maintain fiscal soundness. With present requirements for national security we have not been able to achieve a balanced budget, even though we have made substantial progress toward it. Therefore, I have no alternative but to ask the Congress to again increase the debt limit."

Amount Not Determined.

Humphrey said that no decision had been made as to what limit will be asked. The question, he said, would be discussed with congressional leaders, particularly Democratic Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, the new chairman of the Finance Committee, who was mainly responsible for the 281 billion dollar temporary compromise.

Democratic Presidents Roosevelt and Truman used to be fully informed on details of their budgets and held their own seminars, attended by Treasury and Budget Bureau experts, who could give the background of the bare statistics. President Eisenhower has delegated this job to Humphrey and Hughes, but these officials were unable or unwilling to give this information [illegible] day.

The expected foreign aid program expenditures was an example of Eisenhower budget.

The President in his message said that next year there would be "one billion dollars for economic and technical assistance (to foreign nations) under the mutual security program."

The mutual security program is divided between military and non-military assistance. For the non-military expenditures $725,000,000 was allotted plus $300,000,000 listed as "proposed legislation." In addition there was 1.5 billion dollars noted for new obligational authority, which usually means that the government will make commitments spreading over several years.

The Treasury Secretary said that no economic program for Asia had been "set" and Hughes said the details would have to wait for a special presidential message, probably in March.

Hughes said the 1.5 billion dollars obligational authority did not cover the 10-year minimum program for Asia which Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen has said is necessary to combat Communistic infiltration, subversion and competition in the countries extending from Japan to Afganistan. It is probable that the Administration is awaiting the southeast Asia pact conference at Bangkok next month before deciding the amount and the extent of the program.

The message itself merely said:

"In Asia, active warfare has only recently ceased and the free countries of this continent continue to face the threat of Communist subversion and external aggression. We therefore have been furnishing and propose to continue to furnish defense support to several countries including Korea, Formosa, Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. Some assistance in economic development has been extended to India.

Aid or Deterioration.

"Unless such support is provided, we may expect economic deterioration and dangerous reductions in the military defenses of the free world. Moreover, without such assistance, these countries, most of which border on Russia and Communist China, will not achieve the economic progress which is necessary to meet the threat of Communist subversion. The loss of northern Viet Nam makes this support more imperative.

"In the Middle East and Africa, we have provided some loan and grant assistance to promote economic development and political stability and will request funds to continue this type of assistance in fiscal year 1956. This assistance has gone to Iran, Israel, Lebanon, Jordan, Egypt and Libya."

Humphrey told reporters that his differences with Stassen over the size of the economic aid program had been "grossly exaggerated," but the message indicated that his views had won out with President Eisenhower, particularly for Latin American countries which wanted more liberal treatment from the United States. On this point the message said:

"Latin America, an area with which we have well established trade and investment relations, has a great need for capital for economic development. Nevertheless, if Latin American countries follow a policy of encouraging private investment, domestic and foreign, they should be able to continue to raise the capital needed for further economic growth. In those cases in which private or international bank resources are not available for appropriate for financing sound projects, the Export-Import Bank will welcome applications for loans. The new International Finance Corp., when organized, can also help provide capital. Grants in Latin America have been necessary only in special situations such as in Bolivia and Guatemala."

$35,000,000 for Finance Corp.

The budget called for an appropriation of $35,000,000 as this country's share in starting the International Finance Corp., which is expected to have a capitalization of $100,000,000.

President Eisenhower, like other Chief Executives before him, used the budget message to point with pride to the work of his Administration. He began by observing that the fiscal and budget story centered "around the fact that we successfully made the adjustment from a wartime to a peacetime type of economy—a truly significant achievement."

He predicted that although total expenditures would be 1.1 billion dollars less next year than this year there would be increased expenditures in the area important to human well-being. He placed first emphasis on national security, second on human welfare and third on financial stability. He repeated a familiar refrain with these words:

"A liberal attitude toward the welfare of the people and a conservative approach to the use of their money have shaped this budget. Our determination to keep working toward a balanced budget provides the discipline essential for wise and efficient management of the public business."

Desirable to Share Benefits.

Conceding that the budget would have been balanced in the present fiscal year if there had been no tax reduction, he said it was desirable to share the benefits of large expenditure reductions because "this enabled the people to have the extra money to spend for themselves which they retained because of the reduction in their taxes."

Supporting the Humphrey thesis that tax reductions should come before a balanced budget, he told Congress:

"The present tax take of nearly one-fourth of our national income is a serious obstacle to the long-term dynamic growth of the economy which is so necessary for the future. There must be the means for providing more and better jobs not only for those who are working today but also for the millions of young people who will come of working age in future years. The stimulus of further tax reductions is necessary just as soon as they can properly be made.

"We must always make adequate provision for our security and other essential services, and further tax reductions can only be made as savings in governmental expenditures or increased revenues resulting from growth in our economy are in sight.

"However, further tax reduction remains a firm goal of this administration, and our policy is directed to achieving both the savings in expenditures and the economic growth that will make such reductions possible.

"I hope that tax reductions will be so justified next year. If so, I shall recommend a reduction in taxes to spread the relief fairly among all taxpayers in a way which will be the most effective to relieve individual tax burdens and to increase incentive for effort and investment."

Humphrey, when asked whether the proposed reductions would go mostly to corporations or to individual taxpayers, said that no decisions had been made and would not be made until more information and experience were available.

Expenditures Compared

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP).

THE following official table summarizes by functions and by government subdivisions the way President Eisenhower's budget projects the spending of $62,408,000,000 in the fiscal year 1956, beginning July 1, together with comparative figures for the current fiscal year (1955) and the one ended June 30, 1954. The figures are in millions of dollars:

	1954 Actual	1955 Estimate	1956 Estimate
Legislative branch	$ 59	71	83
The judiciary	28	31	33
Executive office of the President	9	9	9

TVA FUNDS CUT THREE-FOURTHS IN PROPOSED BUDGET

appropriations. Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes told reporters at a seminar Friday that this would include the Dixon-Yates project, in which a private power syndicate has contracted with the AEC to build a steam plant at West Memphis, Ark., to feed power into the TVA system.

Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey afterward corrected this explanation and said the TVA plan would involve issuance of bonds to be secured by TVA's earnings through sales of power.

On this point, the President's message said:

"The Tennessee Valley Authority is giving immediate attention to the possibilities of financing further expansion of its power system by means other than federal appropriations. The authority has been requested to complete its studies in time to permit consideration by the Congress at this session of any legislation that may be necessary. It is expected that the power needs for the system will be re-examined after the Congress has had an opportunity to consider legislation to provide for future financing."

Raising one final point with reference to TVA, the President said: "Legislation will also be presented to the Congress to provide that an adequate rate of interest be paid to the Treasury on appropriated funds invested in power facilities of the Tennessee Valley Authority."

One of the TVA directors, Harry A. Curtis, told the Post-Dispatch by telephone from Knoxville, Tenn., that the three directors had concurred in general on this proposed legislation. Curtis added that he and director Raymond R. Paty felt that such payments should not be called interest, arguing that TVA is not a borrower and that appropriations should be considered the Government's equity capital.

Fears Power Shortage.

He said he and Paty had agreed "substantially" with the TVA chairman, Brig. Gen. Herbert D. Vogel on the agency's budget request. That request was not disclosed, but Curtis indicated it had been reduced sharply before being incorporated in the budget.

"It was murdered," he said.

Curtis predicted a serious power shortage in the Tennessee Valley unless additional funds are granted to TVA. He defended the TVA estimate of future power needs in the area, challenged inferentially by the President.

In a detailed analysis of the budget, the President said the TVA would have 7,033,000 kilowatts available in 1958 to meet loads other than the AEC. He said it seemed probable that this would be adequate, "although it is recognized that this does not meet the present higher TVA load estimate of 7,490,000 kilowatts."

"However," he went on, "this increase in capacity could be further augmented by whatever power TVA continues to purchase from outside sources. Moreover, if further developments definitely indicate that the TVA load for 1958 will exceed the assured capacity, provision can be made later for increasing the power supply since some additional generating units at existing plants could be installed in a period of less than three years."

TVA appropriations for the fiscal year that ended last June 30 totaled $188,546,000. Estimated total appropriations for the current fiscal year are $120,000,000. In the new budget, the President asks for $27,550,000.

Budget at Glance

Spending — $62,400,000,000, down $1,100,000,000 from the current year. Two thirds of it is for national security programs.

Revenues — $60,000,000,000, an increase of $1,000,000,000 over the current year; the President says this reflects a "strong and prosperous" economy.

Deficit — Regular budget $2,400,000,000 in the red, compared to $4,500,000,000 this year. But the so-called cash budget, which also includes income and outgo of social security and other trust funds not included in the budget, would show a surplus of $358,000,000, the first in four years.

Taxes — No tax cuts this year. Cuts in corporation income and federal sales taxes due April 1 should be postponed.

'HANDSOME STRUCTURE' TO GO UP ON SITE OF OLD COLISEUM

A "handsome structure, not a parking lot," will occupy the recently cleared site of the old Coliseum, the Kansas Citian who has acquired title to the ground announced today.

Ray B. Lucas, vice president of the Kansas City Life Insurance Co., said he was one of a group of buyers of the site bought from Sam Meiman Jr. of St. Louis for $142,500.

Thanks to Pan American's pioneering of the original "Pay-Later" Plan, you can fly anywhere in the world for a small down payment : : : thousands are doing it

Breath-taking Rio

Many of us in our youth dreamed of travel to faraway places. . . . But most of us have been kept from going by two great barriers—

(1) it took TOO LONG
(2) it took TOO MUCH CASH

Pan American has now wiped out both those barriers. It's just overnight to Europe or Hawaii from almost anywhere in the U. S. A. And no city in the world is more than 40 hours away—by giant Flying Clipper*!

The cash on hand that you used to need has shrunk to midget size. You pay 10% down, the balance in up to 20 monthly payments . . . for tickets to anywhere on all 6 continents. Examples:

PARTIAL TEXT OF EISENHOWER BUDGET MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

President Sets Year's Spending At 62.4 Billion Dollars; 65 Pct. For National Security Programs

Says Amount Alloted for Air Power Is Peacetime Record—Asserts Budget for Current Year 'Would Have Been Balanced If We Had Not Cut Taxes.'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP).

TO THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES:

I am transmitting to you today the budget of the United States Government for the fiscal year 1956, which begins July 1, 1955 . . .

The fiscal and budget story during this past year centers around the fact that we successfully made the adjustment from a wartime to a peacetime type of economy, a truly significant achievement. Aided by a proper fiscal policy, the inevitable dislocations of this adjustment, while difficult for some, have not been serious on the whole. Our present growing prosperity has solid foundations, free from the artificial stimulations of war or inflation. However, the peace in which we live is an insecure peace. We must be constantly on the alert. Along with the other free nations of the world we must continue to strengthen our defenses. At the same time to remain strong for what will apparently be a long period of uncertainty ahead, we must also progressively increase our prosperity and enhance our welfare.

The 1956 budget is based on this outlook. Total expenditures will be reduced. However, I am recommending somewhat increased expenditures in particular areas important to human well-being. Budget expenditures for the fiscal year 1956 are now estimated at 62.4 billion dollars, 1.1 billion dollars less than for the current year. All parts of the Administration will continue to work toward further reductions during the year by eliminating nonessentials and by doing necessary things more efficiently.

We must, maintain expenditures at the high level needed to guard our national security. Our economy is strong and prosperous but we should not dissipate our economic strength through inflationary deficits. I have therefore recommended to the Congress extension for one year of present excise and corporate income tax rates which are scheduled for reduction on April 1, 1955, under present law. If this is done, and employment and production increase as currently anticipated, we can expect budget receipts to rise one billion dollars over 1955, to a total of 60 billion dollars in the fiscal year 1956.

On the basis of these estimates of expenditures and receipts, the deficit will be reduced from the presently estimated 4.5 billion dollars in the fiscal year 1955 to an estimated 2.4 billion dollars in 1956. Thus we continue to progress toward a balanced budget.

BUDGET POLICIES

Three broad considerations of national policy have guided me in framing the budget for the fiscal year 1956.

First, we must defend our priceless heritage of political liberty and personal freedom against attack from without and undermining from within. Our efforts to date have helped bring about encouraging results—cessation of fighting, new and stronger alliances, and some lessening of tensions. The growing strength of the United States and its friends is a key factor in the improved outlook for peace. We must continue to build this strength. We must at the same time preserve our liberty at home by fostering the traditional initiative of the American people. We will increase the scope of private activity by continuing to take government out of those things which the people can do better for themselves, and by undertaking on a partnership basis, wherever possible, those things for which government action is necessary thus, people will be able to keep more of their earnings to use as they wish.

Second, the government must do its part to advance human welfare and encourage economic growth with constructive actions, but only where our people cannot take the necessary actions for themselves. As far as possible, these steps should be taken in partnership with state and local government and private enterprises. We must do our part to provide the environment for our free enterprise system to keep employment high, to create new jobs, and to raise the standard of living. We must broaden the opportunity for individuals to contribute to the growth of our economy and enjoy the fruits of its productivity.

Third, we must maintain financial strength. Preserving the value of the dollar is a matter of vital concern to each of us. Surely no one would advocate a special tax on the widows and orphans, pensioners, and working people with fixed incomes. Yet inflation acts like a tax which hits these groups hardest. This administration has made a stable dollar and economy in government operations positive policies from the top down. Expenditure reductions, together with a judicious tax program, effective monetary policy, and careful management of the public debt, will help to assure a stable cost-of-living—continuing our achievement of the past two years.

A liberal attitude toward the welfare of people and a conservative approach to the use of their money have shaped this budget. Our determination to keep working toward a balanced budget provides the discipline essential for wise and efficient management of the public business.

NEW AUTHORITY TO INCUR OBLIGATIONS.

My recommendation for appropriations and other new authority to incur obligations for the fiscal year 1956 is 1.3 billion dollars more than the amount for the fiscal year 1955, primarily because of new requirements for our military services. However, it represents a reduction of 32.8 billion dollars from 1952, 21.7 billion dollars from 1953, and 4.2 billion dollars from 1954.

Fiscal Year	New Authority to Incur Obligations (In Millions)
1953	80.3
1954: As estimated Jan. 9, 1953	72.8
Actual	62.8
1955 Estimated	57.3
1956 Recommended	58.6

. . . Part of the reduction in 1955 of new authority for our major national security programs below the amount enacted for 1954 was possible because the military services improved their supply procedures, which resulted in larger use of existing stocks and reduction of the large backlog of unexpected balances. The accumulated unexpended balances of funds appropriated to all government agencies in prior years are now on their way down to more reasonable levels and the continued downtrend in total unexpended balances will be less rapid in the future than in the fiscal year 1955.

Recommended new authority for 1956 is less than both the anticipated revenues and the estimated expenditures for that year. By holding the level of new authority lower than anticipated revenues, we can continue making progress toward balancing the budget. Likewise, as long as the amount of new authority is less than expenditures, we are continuing on the way toward lower levels of government spending.

BUDGET EXPENDITURES

In the fiscal year 1956, net budget expenditures are estimated to be 11.9 billion dollars below actual spending in the fiscal year 1953. The record shows that this Administration cut government spending in 1954 by 6.5 billion dollars below 1953, and 10.1 billion dollars below the level estimated for 1954 on Jan. 9, 1953. For 1955, an additional reduction of 4.3 billion dollars is now estimated and still another reduction in spending of 1.1 billion dollars is the present estimate for 1956. The fiscal year 1953 is only half completed and the beginning of 1956 is still five and one-half months away. We shall continue working to improve efficiency and to reduce still further the totals now estimated for these years.

Fiscal Year	Expenditures (In Billions)
1953	74.3
1954: As estimated Jan. 9, 1953	77.9
Actual	67.8
1955 estimated	63.5
1956 estimated	62.4

The stern requirements of our national defense dictate the largest part of our budget, and it is chiefly these requirements which prevent us from decreasing budget expenditures at this time. Further progress in reducing expenditures must result in large part from increasing efficiency and from finding better ways of doing the things that must be done. Future savings will be more difficult that those already accomplished. However, we expected to continue reducing the cost of government.

Major National Security—Expenditures for major national security programs in the fiscal year 1956 are estimated at 40.5 billion dollars, 65 per cent of total budget expenditures. This amount includes the cost of new legislation. I am proposing to establish an effective military reserve system and strengthen the career service. This budget provides for more expenditures by the Department of Defense for air power than ever before in peacetime history. New weapons for defensive and retaliatory action are being developed and produced in increasing quantities. High priority is being given to strengthening our continental defense system. Since military supplies are not being consumed in combat, the bulk of the military material being produced by our factories is adding to our capacity to defend ourselves. Our defense expenditures are now bringing about a steadily growing strength. Never in our peacetime history have we been as well prepared to defend ourselves as we are now.

We will deliver about the same amount of military equipment to friendly nations as in 1954 and 1955. New atomic energy plants will be placed in operation and more than in any previous year will be spent for peaceful applications of atomic energy. The dollar value of our stockpile of strategic materials is expected to reach 78 per cent of the minimum objective, compared with 58 per cent in 1954.

International Affairs and Finance — Our international programs are closely related to national security. The conduct of our foreign affairs is crucial in preserving peace. We have materially contributed to the strengthening of friendly nations through the economic aspects of the mutual security program. Continuation of such assistance is urgently needed for some countries. Net expenditures for international affairs and finance are estimated to be 1.3 billion dollars, 88 million dollars lower than in the fiscal year 1955.

Keeping our own defenses strong and co-operating with our allies to increase their defenses will deter outside attacks on our freedom. We must at the same time look to the abiding sources of our internal strength—our faith in the power of free men, our individual initiative, and our competitive enterprise.

Commerce and Manpower—We are moving ahead in taking the Government out of business wherever this can properly be done. In addition to selling the Inland Waterways Corporation and liquidating the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, we have already sold or shut down a number of Department of Defense plants for processing scrap and manufacturing paint, clothing and chlorine. Private industry is performing an increasing share, which has reached almost half, of major equipment overhauls for the Air Force. Most of the synthetic rubber plants have been sold to private purchasers, subject only to congressional approval. These actions not only serve to strengthen our system of private enterprise, but also in many cases reduce government expenditures and increase tax receipts for cities, counties and states, as well as the federal Government. . . .

For the coming year, I am recommending that we start a 10-year program to modernize the interstate highway system in co-operation with state and local governments. I am also proposing that we step up aeronautical research, expand air navigation facilities, and help industry build more ships. . . .

Natural Resources—An important policy of this government is to encourage an increased sharing by state and local governments of our long-range development projects. . . . Thus, we are continuing to develop our natural resources at less cost to the federal Government.

Agriculture — Greater freedom from government direction and control of farming operations will be made possible in future years as a result of the new farm legislation enacted last summer. The flexible supports provided for therein will stimulate the consumption of farm products at home and abroad will reduce government expenditures for buying and storing surplus commodities . . . but will not greatly affect expenditures for the fiscal year 1956. Estimated net expenditures for agricultural programs in 1956 will be 2.3 billion dollars, $871,000,000 less than in 1955. This reduction is principally due to the anticipated smaller outlays for farm price supports resulting from acreage restrictions and increased sales.

Welfare, Health and Education —Our policy of partnership with state and local governments and with private enterprise is also enabling us to make significant contributions to human welfare. Our broadened programs of assistance for vocational rehabilitation and for construction of non-profit hospitals and health centers will encourage greater state, local, and private activity in these fields. The extension of old-age and survivors insurance to 10,000,000 more persons and the increased contribution and benefit rates enacted last year are in keeping with our tradition of self-reliance and will diminish dependence on charty. . . .

Veterans' Service and Benefits—Expenditures for veterans' benefits continue to increase as a result of the growing number of veterans, now estimated at 21,000,000 in civil life, becoming eligible for benefits. Legislation enacted last year raised compensation and pension benefits to our ex-servicemen and women . . . estimated net expenditures for veterans' programs will be 4.6 billion dollars, about $200,000,000 more than in 1955.

Interest and General Government—Expenditures for interest are estimated to amount to 6.4 billion dollars, $180,000,000 less than in 1955. In the field of general government, I recommend that we increase our expenditures for tax collection and management of government property as further steps toward efficiency. I also recommend strengthening our law-enforcement agencies, particularly the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Finally, the government should resume its payments as employer to the Civil Service retirement fund. As a result of these recommendations and anticipated increases in payments of certified claims, expenditures for general government purposes are expected to rise $344,000,000 to 1.6 billion dollars in the fiscal year 1956. . . .

TAX POLICY

Last year we made great progress in reducing tax burdens and improving the tax structure. Total reductions of 7.4 billion dollars became effective . . .

The budget would have been balanced for the current fiscal year if there had been no tax cuts. However, it was desirable to share the benefits from the large expenditure reductions. This enabled the people to have the extra money to spend for themselves which they retained because of the reduction in their taxes.

In view of the prospective deficit, we cannot afford to have any further loss of revenue this year through reductions in taxes. The corporate tax rate would be automatically reduced under existing legislation from 52 to 47 per cent on April 1 with a revenue loss of about 2 billion dollars for a full year unless extended. Under existing law, the excise taxes on liquor, tobacco, gasoline, and automobiles would also be automatically reduced on April 1, with a revenue loss of 1 billion dollars unless appropriate legislation is enacted by the Congress extending them.

In the fiscal year 1956, there will be an automatic revenue reduction (as compared with 1955) of almost 2 billion dollars under existing law, wholly apart from any changes in tax rates. The principal reason is the completion of the plan adopted five years ago under which payments of corporate taxes have been moved forward into earlier fiscal years. Fortunately, this reduction in 1956 will be more than offset by increases in revenue due to the economic growth of the country.

Because we must keep our existing revenues intact, I have already recommended to the Congress in my State of the Union message that existing rates on both excises and corporate incomes be extended for one year. Any other course of action would result in either (1) inadequate expenditures for national security, or (2) inflationary borrowing.

During the past year the Treasury Department has continued to examine possible changes in the tax laws concerning which no recommendations were made in the revision of the tax laws last year. As final conclusions are reached by the department they will be sent to the Congress.

I have also directed the Secretary of the Treasury promptly to make recommendations for any other changes in the laws which may be found necessary to prevent anyone from avoiding his fair share of the tax burden.

The present tax take of nearly one-fourth of our national income is a serious obstacle to the long-term dynamic growth of the economy which is so necessary for the future. There must be the means for porviding more and better jobs not only for those who are working today but also for the millions of young people who will come of working age in future years. The stimulus of further tax reductions is necessary just as soon as they can properly be made.

We must always make adequate provision for our security and other essential services, and further tax reductions can only be made as savings in governmental expenditures or increased revenues resulting from growth in our economy are in sight.

However, further tax reduction remains a firm goal of this administration, and our policy is directed to achieving both the savings in expenditures and the economic growth that will make such reductions possible.

I hope that tax reductions will be so justified next year. If so, I shall recommend a reduction in taxes to spread the relief fairly among all taxpayers in a way which will be the most effective to relieve individaul tax burdens and to increase incentive for effort and investment.

DEBT MANAGEMENT.

Debt management policy during the past year was keyed to Federal Reserve monetary policy to help assure the ready availability of money and credit needed to sustain a high level of business activity. The Treasury refrained under the special circumstances of 1954 from issuing long-term securities which would compete for long-term money available for the construction of new homes, for business expansion, or for new schools, highways, and hospitals at the state and local government level. At the same time, progress was made in improving the structure of the public debt by some extension of maturities through issuing more intermediate-term bonds. . . .

On Dec. 31, 1954, the public debt subject to the statutory limit was 278.3 billion dollars. We expect to be able to operate this fiscal year within the temporary debt limit of 281 billion dollars voted by the Congress last August . . . the statutory limit will go back to 275 billion dollars on June 30, 1955. We anticipate that the heavy tax receipts during the remainder of the fiscal year will enable us to reduce the debt to within that figure by June 30, 1955.

At the start of the new fiscal year in July 1955 the debt will already be pressing against the legal limit. With the present seasonal pattern of tax collections, expenditures will exceed receipts in the first 6 months of the fiscal year 1956 by about 8 billion dollars. Thus, it will not be possible to pay the government's bills in that period without exceeding the 275 billion dollar limit.

. . . therefore, I have no alternative but to ask the Congress to again increase the debt limit.

During the past two years, we have proved that a free, democratic system can make the adjustment from war to peace without serious economic disturbances. A major factor in this achievement has been the confidence of the people in the ability of the government to bring its financial affairs under control and to conduct them in a responsible manner.

Our objective of being prudent in financial matters has paid and is still paying dividends in general well-being. We have reduced expenditures and eased the crashing load of taxation. We have improved the structure of the public debt and provided a favorable environment for sound monetary policy. We have encouraged private initiative by starting to take the Government out of competition with private enterprise. We have made progress in housing and in protection against personal catastrophe. We are developing our national resources in partnership with the state and local governments and with private initiative. These steps are designed to assure high and rising employment, a growing prosperity, and a stable dollar.

This Administration will continue to exercise the utmost care in the manner in which it uses the taxpayers' money. It will continue to purchase what we must have for our security, well-being and prosperity with the fewest possible number of dollars. And it will continue to administer the huge government organization more efficiently. It will put first things first and restrain spending to items of high priority. Our success thus far in reducing taxes, expenditures and the deficit is the best evidence of the earnestness of our efforts.

With an indestructible faith in the destiny of this country, a faith equal to that of the founders who held that all men are divinely endowed with inalienable rights; with full confidence that in the intelligent co-operation of free men is to be found the most effective way of solving group and national problems; with unshaken dedication to the pursuit of peace and justice at home and in the world, we shall continue to sustain our liberties and we shall meet and far surpass the objectives we now set for ourselves in promoting human welfare, happiness and prosperity.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER.
January 17, 1955.

In a supplementary message, which he labeled "Part B," the President went into additional detail. The following are excerpts from the "Major National Security" section of that part of the message:

. . . It is essential that we, together with other nations of the free world, maintain a level of military strength which will effectively discourage any would-be aggressor from attacking. We cannot accept less. The effectiveness of our power to deter rests principally upon our capability to retaliate swiftly and decisively and upon our ability to defend ourselves against attack. The advent of nuclear weapons has profoundly affected our concepts of military strategy and tactics as well as our national security policies. Such weapons multiply many fold the striking power of any military force. This budget, therefore, continues the emphasis on the development and maintenance of effective nuclear-air retaliatory power of the Air Force and naval aviation as the principal deterrent to military aggression. Such power is being supplemented by other military forces of great strength, flexibility, and mobility and by the forces of our allies.

In order to safeguard our striking power and resources, we are giving continued high priority to the accelerated development of continental defense programs.

Priority is also being given to the development and introduction into operating units of new weapons and techniques adapted to the radically changed conditions imposed by the potential of nuclear warfare. . . .

. . . to maintain a strong military posture and assure that our national security policy will adequately support our foreign policy, our military planning must be kept flexible and dynamic. The structure of our military forces must be subjected to continuing review and adjusted to reflect the rapid technological advances of this nuclear and electronic age. . . . It is important that we do not attempt to fix our minds or plans upon any particular set of numbers, for today's technological changes may make yesterday's numbers and concepts obsolete.

In my judgment, the military forces and programs upon which this budget is based are accurately adjusted to the national needs . . . United States military forces will be maintained at appropriate levels in the Far East, with emphasis on highly mobile naval and air units of unparalleled striking power.

The Army has devoted considerable effort to assessing the changes in Army organization and doctrine required to meet the conditions of the atomic battlefield. . . . It appears that the army of the future will be organized into smaller, but more mobile and self-contained, units with greater fire power. The Navy will operate approximately 1000 active ships—including 400 warships. The number of carrier air groups is to be increased from the present 16 to 17, and an additional attack carrier equipped with modern aircraft will be added to the fleet. The Navy will continue to maintain 15 anti-submarine warfare squadrons. The Marine Corps will maintain three combat-ready divisions and three air wings. The current level of approximately 10,000 naval and Marine operating aircraft will be maintained. The Air Force is continuing its build-up toward a goal of 137 wings, and expects to have 130 wings in being by June 30, 1956—119 of which will be combat wings. The major units of all services will be supplemented by appropriate combat support units. All the services will continue their efforts to increase the proportion of military personnel assigned to combat units.

About two thirds of the projected Department of Defense expenditures in the fiscal year 1956 will be devoted to air power and related programs—both offensive and defensive. Expenditures for these programs will be the largest in our peacetime history. The active aircraft inventory in combat and supporting units of the Air Force, Navy and Marine air forces will increase from over 34,000 on June 30, 1954, to 36,000 on June 30, 1956, and will continue to increase in succeeding years toward the present objective of close to 40,000 aircraft. In addition, the Army will maintain 3600 active aircraft, with more than a 20 per cent increase during the next two years in the number of helicopters. The growth in our effective air power is far greater than these numbers indicate, for our aircraft continue to increase in size, speed, range and striking power.

By the end of the fiscal year 1956, the total number of aircraft in combat units of the Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps will be approximately one-fourth greater than at the beginning of the current fiscal year. The number of jet aircraft in such units will increase by more than one third during the same period. The increasing modernization of our air power is shown by the fact that by June 30, 1956, the Air Force combat units will be almost 100 per cent jet equipped. The proportion of jets in the combat units of the Marines and Navy will increase by approximately 15 per cent over the beginning of the current fiscal year. . . .

Major strides have been made during the past year in expanding the system for defense of continental United States against possible enemy attack. Nike guided-missile battalions are rapidly being installed for the defense of key potential targets. A separate Continental Air Defense Command, reporting directly to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has been established. It has operational control over continental defense forces, including (1) Air Force fighter interceptors and aircraft control and warning networks, (2) Army anti-aircraft and guided missile battalions, (3) Navy radar picket ships and air units in the contiguous radar system, and (4) additional forces from other air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, and Air National Guard fighter and radar units when made available for air defense. Our radar screen is being expanded and existing gaps in coverage are being filled. Our air defense forces, as well as the strategic air command and naval air power, are being kept on an alert basis. A surprise enemy attack would find us with increasing readiness to resist attack and retaliate with devastating effect. These measures inevitably lead to increased operating costs for continental defense, which are now higher than ever before in our history and are still rising. . . .

Development and Control of Atomic Energy—It is our purpose, working in concert with other nations, to banish the threat of atomic warfare which now confronts the world. Progress is being made toward establishing an international agency for co-operation in developing the peaceful uses of atomic energy, as I proposed to the United Nations on Dec. 8, 1953. The budget of the Atomic Energy Commission for the fiscal year 1956 provides for greater expenditures than ever before on projects to develop peaceful applications of atomic energy. We shall continue unabated our efforts to assure that this great force will be used, not for war, but for the well-being of all mankind. Until such assurance can be achieved, however, we have no alternative but to strengthen further our most effective deterrent to armed aggression—the power of our nuclear weapons stockpile.

. . . Total expenditures in the fiscal year 1956 are estimated at two billion dollars, $50,000,000 less than in 1955.

Operating expenditures will rise in the fiscal year 1956 to the highest rate yet attained. They will increase from one two-tenths billion wollars in 1955 to one five-tenths billion dollars in 1956 principally because of an expected higher level of procurement of raw uranium ores and concentrates and because of greater production at the commission's plants as new facilities are completed and placed in operation. The estimates assume continuing reductioons in unit production costs.

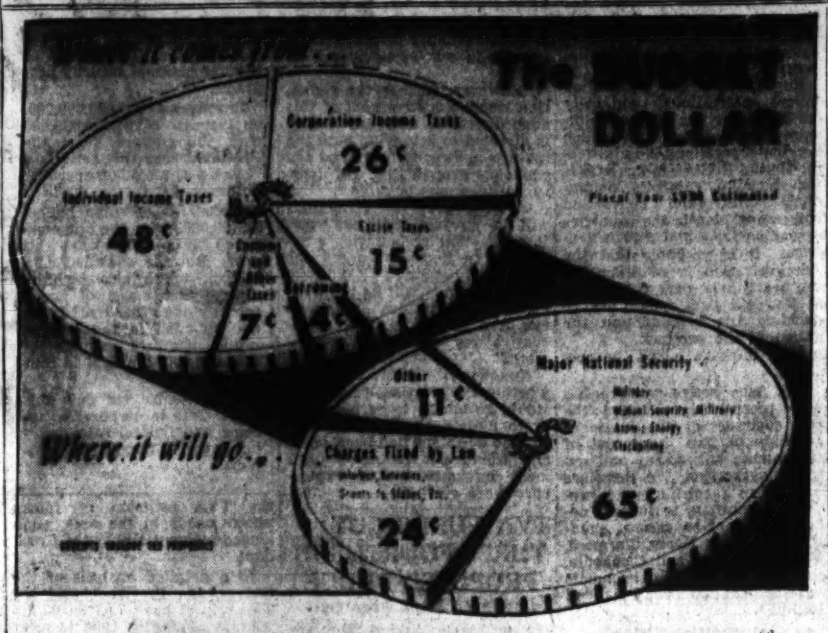

Capital expenditures in the fiscal year 1956 will drop considerably as the large new production plants authorized in prior years approach completion. Recommended new construction will include: (1) plant improvements and other facilities to increase the efficiency and capacity of the production complex, (2) certain weapons research facilities, (3) a medical research center, (4) an international training school in reactor technology, and (5) developmental atomic reactor projects. . . .

Construction of several experimental reactors will be started in 1955 and 1956. Of these, one of the most significant is a power breeder, designed to produce more fissionable material than it consumes. . . .

Military Assistance — The mutual military assistance proposed for the fiscal year 1956 will further help our allies to complete equipping and training the equivalent of more than 180 divisions, 551 combat vessels, 278 air squadrons, and related supporting units. Our assistance goes only for forces determined to be essential by our Joint Chiefs of Staff. It provides only the critical margin of training and equipment which the countries cannot provide for themselves. During the past five years we have delivered over 6000 airplanes, almost 900 naval vessels of all types, 36,000 tanks and combat vehicles, nearly 200,000 transport vehicles, billions of rounds of ammunition, and many other items. Furthermore, specialized training courses have been conducted for officers and technicians from 32 countries. . . .

Expenditures for military assistance in the fiscal year 1956 are estimated at 3.1 billion dollars as compared with 3.6 billion dollars in the fiscal year 1954, and an estimated 2.7 billion dollars in 1955. . . . Actual deliveries are expected to continue in the fiscal years 1955 and 1956 at around the 3-billion dollar level which was attained in the fiscal year 1954.

Much of our mutual military assistance continues to strengthen our allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and I hope that we may soon begin furnishing certain items of military equipment which will be needed by the new German forces. To the extent that this materiel cannot be financed by the Federal Republic of Germany from its own resources, it will be financed from appropriations made for the mutual security program. The continuing growth of economic strength in Europe and completion of the financing of much of the capital equipment which was required for the initial rapid military build-up will make it possible to reduce military assistance for this area in the immediate future below the level of the last few years. . . .

PASSAMAQUODDY POWER PROJECT ITEM IN BUDGET

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (UP) —A New Deal favorite of years ago popped up in President Eisenhower's budget today. He asked Congress for $1,000,000 to find out whether the old passamaquoddy power project should be resurrected.

The President said his request was the first step in a $3,000,000 survey he wants the Army engineers to make of the controversial 35-year-old proposal to harness the vast tides of Maine's Bay of Fundy for power production.

Passamaquoddy was started with $7,000,000 under the Roosevelt administration in 1935, but it was assailed as a socialistic boondoggle, Congress abandoned it a year later.

POPULATION RISING FASTER THAN THE NATIONAL DEBT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP) —The national debt keeps growing but your own share of it gets smaller. It is not rising as rapidly as the population.

President Eisenhower's budget message showed today the federal debt going up, but the burden is being borne by more Americans, so the share of each man, woman and child is declining, approximately as follows:

Last July 1 the debt per person was $1671.25. Next July 1 it will be $1661.02. On July 1, 1956, it will be $1642.86.

Your share of the public debt, in other words, will be $28.39 less in mid-1956 than it was last summer.

MORE PAGES NEEDED TO TELL ABOUT A SMALLER BUDGET

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP) —The new budget book outlines plans for spending less money in the next fiscal year—but it takes more pages to say so.

The volume has 1224 pages, compared with the 1182 pages in President Eisenhower's bigger budget—moneywise—for the current fiscal year. Two years ago, former President Truman's budget ran 1155 pages.

WHEATLEY Y.W.C.A. CLASSES

Classes in finger painting, sewing and "charm" will begin tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the Wheatley Branch Y.W.C.A., 2709 Locust street.

On Wednesday classes in auto mechanics, bridge, knitting and crocheting, millinery and glove making and conversational Spanish will be offered. Drama and interior decoration courses will begin Thursday evening.

Requests Total $155,318,000 For Missouri Basin Projects

$953,000,000 Over-All Resource Program Is $150,000,000 Below 2-Year Truman Budget.

By JAMES DEAKIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 — President Eisenhower asked Congress today for $155,318,000 for flood control, reclamation and power projects in the 10-state Missouri river basin in the fiscal year 1956.

The figure for the Missouri basin was part of the President's budget message request for an estimated $953,000,000 for conservation and development of the nation's natural resources.

The national total represents a two-year cut of almost $150,000,000 from the last Democratic budget. Former President Truman, in his final budget message for fiscal 1954 called for $1,100,000,000 for conservation and development of land and water resources.

Actual net expenditures for that fiscal year were $1,200,000,000, Mr. Eisenhower said, making an estimated net reduction of about $250,000,000 since fiscal 1954.

'Partnership Policy.'

As a result of the Republican Administration's "partnership policy" in resources development, "it has been possible to reduce federal expenditures for these programs" while at the same time strengthening the programs thmselves, the President said.

Under the partnership plan, announced last year, the Federal Government will undertake conservation and development programs only when they are "beyond the means or needs of local public or private enterprise," Mr. Eisenhower added.

"The conservation and development of our natural resources will require estimated net federal expenditures of $953,000,000 in the fiscal year 1956 as compared with 1.1 billion dollars in 1952 and 1.2 billion dollars in 1954," the budget message said.

"About two-thirds of the net expenditures in 1956 will be for flood control, irrigation, power and multiple-purpose river basin development.

"The other one-third will be largely for the management and development of the national forests, parks and public lands, and for our fish and wildlife and mineral resources programs."

Five New Projects.

The budget requests, Mr. Eisenhower said, would make it possible for the Interior Department's Bureau of Reclamation, one of three agencies principally concerned with conservation and development, to start construction on five new irrigation and water supply projects in the next fiscal year.

None of the five would be in the Missouri basin area, which includes Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North and South Dakota and Wyoming.

Under the budget proposals, the Army Corps of Engineers would begin work on 10 new local flood protection projects, two flood control projects "of broader scope", eight projects for beach erosion control and 14 navigation projects, the President said.

Four of the new local flood control projects would be in the Missouri basin area, three of them in Missouri and one in Wyoming. Proposed new Missouri projects and amounts requested were listed at Cape Girardeau $750,000; Carthage $367,000, and East Poplar Bluff and Poplar Bluff $314,000.

Two Multi-Purpose Projects.

Although new construction starts in the Missouri basin were kept at a minimum in the budget message, the President recommended that Congress enact legislation authorizing two huge multi-purpose developments partly within the basin—the Upper Colorado river basin development and the Frying Pan-Arkansas project in Colorado.

He asked that the Interior Department be given $5,000,000 for preliminary surveys on these two projects and another $10,000,000 for studies leading to partnership arrangements with municipalities, states or private interests.

The item for studies of the Upper Colorado river development apparently meant that the Eisenhower Administration would continue to support the controversial project. Conservationists and some other groups oppose the billion-dollar project on the grounds that as presently planned, it would destroy part of Dinosaur National Monument.

However, Mr. Eisenhower said sale of power generated at dams in the Upper Colorado and Frying Pan projects would repay the power investment in 50 years and would help repay cost of other parts of the projects, such as flood control.

Conservation Requests.

The budget message listed the following requests for agencies concerned with conservation and development:

Bureau of Reclamation: $175,916,000. This was a sharp cut from the amount requested by the bureau itself for fiscal 1955, when it asked for $226,495,000. However, it was more than the Budget Bureau allotted for reclamation in 1955—$157,432,000—and more than Congress actually appropriated — $163,207,000.

Corps of Engineers civil functions: $508,735,000. Actual appropriations for fiscal 1955 were $442,364,100.

Agriculture Department land and water resources programs, including agricultural conservation, the Soil Conservation Service and flood prevention: $320,000,000, compared with an estimated $240,000,000 in fiscal 1955.

In each case, the amounts requested did not include carry-over appropriations, fixed charges and other obligations which raised the totals for each agency.

Missouri Basin Requests.

The Bureau of Reclamation's request for the Missouri basin in the next fiscal year was $58,427,000. The Corps of Engineers listed Missouri basin requests totaling $96,891,000, for an overall total from both agencies of $155,318,000.

The bulk of the budget requests from both agencies were for funds to continue work on projects already begun. In a few cases, appropriations were asked for resuming work on projects allowed to lapse.

The Administration apparently cut out one new Bureau of Reclamation project at the last moment. In his State of the Union address Mr. Eisenhower said six new projects would be started. Bureau officials, however, said they could find only five in the budget message.

These were listed as: the Foster Creek division of the Chief Joseph dam project in Washington state; the Santa Maria project in California; the Michaud Flats project in Idaho; the Palo Verde diversion project in Arizona and California, and the Deschutes project in Oregon.

Reclamation Bureau Requests.

Altogether, the Bureau of Reclamation listed budget requests for 40 projects, 35 of them already under way. Of the total 19 projects are in Missouri basin states. The largest single Missouri basin item was $16,480,000 for continued work on transmission lines from projects in Wyoming and North and South Dakota.

The bureau also requested $12,500,000 for further construction work on the Columbia river basin project in Washington state.

Army engineers submitted budget requests for 22 projects in the Missouri basin, with the largest being $25,000,000 for continued work on the Oahe reservoir in South Dakota and $20,000,000 for work on the Garrison reservoir in North Dakota, also under construction.

An appropriation of $11,000,000 was requested by the engineers for Table Rock dam in southwest Missouri and Arkansas. The multi-purpose project on the White river, already authorized, will cost an estimated $78,610,000 to complete.

BULK OF DEFENSE SPENDING MARKED FOR AIR POWER

curity program on a long-term basis that would maintain essential military strength over an indefinite period of time without impairing the basic soundness of the United States economy. This budget continues the concept of no assumed fixed date of maximum danger."

He again emphasized his belief that "the effectiveness of our power to deter rests principally upon our capability to retaliate swiftly and decisively, and upon our ability to defend ourselves against attack."

Stresses Nuclear Weapons.

Nuclear weapons, old soldier Eisenhower declared, "multiply manyfold the striking power of any military force." His budget therefore emphasizes the effective nuclear-air retaliatory power of the Navy and the Air Force. This power is being supplemented, he continued, by other military forces of great strength, flexibility and mobility, and by the forces of our allies.

The accelerated development of continental defense programs is being given the highest priority, the President said.

The Army, he stated, has devoted considerable effort in assessing the changes in organization and doctrine to meet the conditions of the atomic battlefield. It appears, he continued, that the Army of the future will be organized into smaller but more mobile and self-contained units, with greater fire power.

The budget strength of the Army July 1, 1955, is to be 1,101,600, including 2000 cadets. At the end of the fiscal year it will be reduced to 1,027,600. At the present time, defense comptroller W. J. McNeil explained, it is impossible to state how many divisions and regimental combat teams will be provided with the reduced strength. Recommendations have been made, but have not been approved.

The current organization of the Army, McNeil said, includes 19 divisions, 18 regimental combat teams and 117 anti-aircraft artillery and rocket battalions. Actually the Army recently added five divisions to its total, by turning training divisions into "companion" (available to rotate periodically with overseas divisions but in the meantime performing only training functions with greatly reduced strength) divisions.

Speculation in the Pentagon was to the effect that McNeil's use of the lower figure was intended to make the further reduction coming up look less substantial than it would from a total of 24.

Navy Strength.

The Navy personnel strengths at the beginning and end of the fiscal year will be 672,400, including flying cadets and midshipmen, and 664,600.

The Navy will operate about 1000 ships, 100 fewer than are being operated in the current fiscal year. Of the total, 405 or 406 will be warships. This is the same number of warships as are being operated now. The reduction in other types is in support ships and heavy cargo vessels.

Although the Forrestal, the first Navy supercarrier, will not come into service in the next fiscal year, an extra carrier, increasing the number of attack carriers from 15 to 16, will be placed in commission. The number of carrier air groups is to be increased from 16 to 17. The Navy will continue to maintain 15 anti-submarine air squadrons.

The Marine Corps will start the year with 205,000 men and end it with 193,000. It still will be composed of three divisions and three air wings as at present. One Marine division is being withdrawn from Japan to the west coast of the United States in strategic reserve and one-third of the Marine division now in Korea is to be withdrawn to the Hawaiian Islands in reserve. This carries out the President's idea of building up mobile forces in strategic reserve.

The aircraft inventory of the Navy will be 13,000 in the next fiscal year. Of these 10,000 will be active. This compares with a present inventory of 13,000 and 9941 active.

Air Force Provisions.

The Air Force, which at the beginning of the fiscal year will have 970,000 men, including cadets, will build up to an end strength of 975,000. It will have 121 wings at the beginning and 130 at end. This is an increase of one over the original program for the beginning of the year and of three for the end. The goal of 137 wings will be reached by June 30, 1957.

At the present time the Air Force has 108 combat wings and 13 troop carrier wings. At the end of the next fiscal year it will have 119 combat wings and 11 troop carriers.

The Air Force inventory at the beginning of the fiscal year will be about 22,400 aircraft and will increase to about 22,900 at end. The total aircraft inventory—not including the 3600 planes in the Army—will thus reach about 36,000 at the end of the fiscal year, as against the present objective, according to the President, of 40,000 aircraft.

The President emphasized that by the end of fiscal year 1956, the total number of aircraft in combat units of the Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps will be approximately one-fourth greater than two years earlier, and the number of jet aircraft will have increased one-third. By the end of June 1956, he declared, Air Force combat units will be almost 100 per cent jet-equipped.

The actual money request to be made of Congress for the Defense Department (as distinguished from all security expenditures) is $31,360,000,000. Additional requests will be submitted later for about $3,000,000,000 for military public works, increases in pay and fringe benefits and to support a larger reserve program.

The public works program will amount to about $1,910,000,000. This includes bases, piers, warehouses, housing, etc. The Air Force is scheduled to receive about half the total, the Navy a little more than one-quarter and the Army a little less than one-quarter.

Fringe Benefits.

The pay proposals and fringe benefits will cost about $950,000,000 if Congress approves the legislation recommended by the Defense Department. The pay increases, will just about offset the savings made by reductions in manpower.

There will also be a supplemental request made for about $123,000,000 to support the new reserve program if the Congress approves the Defense Department's proposals.

The last change in strength directed by the President, a small increase, is not reflected in the present budget. It was made after the budget had gone to the printer and will be sent to Congress as an amendment to the budget while the appropriations hearings are in progress.

The carryover of unexpended funds at the end of the new budget year will be about $41,200,000,000 compared to the estimated carryover at the end of the current fiscal year of about $46,500,000,000. Most of this carryover is committed in support of contracts, but between nine and 10 billion of the carryover of the current fiscal year and about six and one-half billion of the new fiscal year will be unobligated.

The Defense Department believes that this last figure is about as low as the carryover can be held. This provides reserves for flexibility and takes care of the buying program for July and August. At this period, usually, the Bureau of the Budget has not released the funds appropriated to the different departments.

The Army has made no requests for new funds for major procurement. It has an unobligated carryover of about $3,500,000,000 as a result of savings. The Army will use about $1,500,000,000 for new procurement, will transfer $800,000,000 to the defense budget as a whole and will retain the rest. The Army is also making available $700,000,000 from a decrease in its stock funds due to more efficient inventory control.

Maintenance Costs Rise.

The cost of maintenance and operations in the services is going up. Last year it was down due to the ability of the services to live off heavy stocks accumulated for the Korean war. Next fiscal year these expenditures are expected to increase from the current $7,869,000,000 to $8,487,000,000. One large element in the increase is the much greater fuel consumption of jet engines.

Expenditures for research and development will continue at about the current level. The Defense Department has asked for $1,369,000,000, an increase of $62,000,000 from the estimate for the current year.

"Although this program utilizes, either through direct employment or on a contractural basis," the President declared, "about one-half the research scientists and engineers in the United States, it also permits a high level of non-military research and development essential to an expanding economy."

There is a change in the product-mix being procured by the Defense Department. In aircraft there is more emphasis on interceptors, big bombers and heavy transports with a decrease on light bombers and fighter-bombers.

Shipbuilding is being increased. Purchase of support-type vehicles is falling off to one third that of a year ago.

Expenditures for guided missiles will be increased from a previous $519,000,000 to $675,000,000.

Purchases of electron equipment for aircraft, ships and missiles will increase, but purchases for ground communications electronics are expected to go down.

Democrats Gibe at Eisenhower Budget, Republicans Defend it

'Realistic,' Joseph Martin Says — Rise in Debt Limit Sought Third Straight Year, Senator Johnson Remarks.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (UP) — House Democratic leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts today chided President Eisenhower for again failing to balance the national budget.

"I'm wondering," said McCormack, "when the Republicans are going to begin keeping some of their campaign promises."

A key house Republican, Representative Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, said however the $62,408,000,000 spending budget for fiscal 1956, which the President sent to Congress today, serves as a "stern reminder that maintaining an adequate national defense is an expensive business."

Halleck pointed out that the biggest part of the budget is earmarked for the military. "There is nothing on the horizon at the moment to indicate it won't continue to be the biggest pack on the taxpayer's back for some years to come," he added.

Needs Study, Johnson Says.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said Congress would have to study the budget carefully to determine whether it provides "adequate" defense funds or continues the "'off again, on again, gone again' approach of the past two years."

Johnson said Congress will want to know also "whether it is adequate to translate the general tone of the State of the Union message into down-to-earth programs."

"It is significant that for the third straight year an Administration pledged to a balanced budget is requesting an increase in the debt limit," Johnson added. "Apparently, this is a goal somewhat more difficult to achieve than the Republican campaign managers of 1952 realized."

Senator Harry F. Byrd (Dem.), Virginia, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee said, "I am very much disappointed that the Administration, in its third year in office, is unable to balance the budget."

Senator Bridges Regretful.

Chairman Styles Bridges of New Hampshire of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said the budget "anticipates a prosperous stability."

"I regret that another deficit is anticipated," Bridges said. "However, $2,400,000,000 may not be so large when it is considered that programs requested are likely to be trimmed by the Congress. . . .

"If general economic conditions are such that estimated revenues are conservative and if Congress can produce economies similar to our record of the past two years, there is a possibility that we will produce a balanced budget for 1956."

House Republican leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, said the budget is a "realistic approach to our expanding economy as well as our need for an ever-stronger national defense."

"While the budget does not call for the balance we had hoped for," he said, "it can be said truthfully that our finances are under control. The deficit certainly is not inflationary.

"It must not be forgotten that necessity demands huge spending for national security, and the budget provides also a program for maintenance and expansion of the humanitarian and welfare plans of the administration, such as Social Security, federal aid for school construction, a colossal highway program and health services."

Calls Budget 'Deceptive.'

By the Associated Press.

Representative Clarence Cannon (Dem.), Missouri, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee which will pass first judgment on the President's program, called the budget "deceptive and a great disappointment."

"It is filled with increases and it projects a continued unbalanced budget indefinitely," Cannon said. "No mention is made of any decrease in the national debt."

Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, reserving comment on other sections, announced he would offer an amendment to deny foreign aid of any kind to nations which engage in commerce with Red China while the Chinese hold Americans as prisoners.

"I will press it vigorously, and if it loses I'll vote against any foreign aid appropriations," McCarthy said. He added that he expects such an amendment will command more support in the Senate this year than when he offered a similar one a year ago which was rejected.

ASSEMBLY TAKES UP PANAMA PLOT CHARGES TODAY

Trial of Ex-President and Others to Be Arranged, State of Siege Ended.

PANAMA CITY, Jan. 17 (AP)—Panama's National Assembly was called to meet this afternoon to begin preparations for the trial of former President Jose Ramon Guizado, attorney Ruben Miro and others accused of complicity in the assassination of President Jose Antonio Remon.

The assembly also was expected to lift the state of siege proclaimed after Remon's assassination, Jan. 27 to aid in the apprehension of his killers.

(The New York Times in a dispatch from Panama said President Arias Espinosa, who succeeded Guizado, said in an interview yesterday he was "not yet convinced at all "that Miro had been telling the truth about Guizado's part in the plot. According to the Times, Arias Espinosa said Guizado "seems to have had only vague knowledge of a plot and his guilt, if any, seems to be that he did nothing to prevent it rather than having participated actively in it.")

Broadcast by Remon's Widow.

Remon's widow, Cecilia Pinel de Remon, in a recorded broadcast last night pledged her "humble, moral and material support to Arias Espinosa, former second vice president who was sworn in as President Saturday following Guizado's arrest and impeachment by the National Assembly.

Mrs. Remon's words were broadcast after she attended an open-air mass held for her husband in the National Stadium.

She urged the people of Panama to "carry on with a firm step" and fulfill her husband's mission. His memory, she declared, will "live on as a symbol of honestly, discipline, nobility and honor."

Held along with Guizado in the machine-gunning of Remon are Miro, prominent lawyer who confessed he fired the fatal machine-gun bursts with Guizado's full knowledge; Guizado's son, Jose Ramon Jr.; two of Guizado's associates in a construction firm, Rodolfo St. Malo and Jose Neives Perez, and two former cadets at the Guatemala military school, Luis Carlos Hernandez and Jose Edgardo Tejada.

The younger Guizado and his associates were mentioned in Miro's confession, while Tejada and Hernandez are charged with selling Miro the German machine gun used in the killing.

Hunt for Machine Gun.

A special commission named by Guizado is continuing its investigation of the assassination. One object is the finding of the machine gun used, which Miro said he dropped a mile or two offshore in the Pacific ocean. An authoritative source said police are searching the waters with a magnet for the gun.

Reports in the capital said a key part in uncovering the murder plotters was played by Gladys Vives, 18-year-old daughter of a Panama secret policeman and sweetheart of Tejada.

These reports said Tejada told the girl about the plot on Remon's life. According to one version she told her father of Tejada's revelation and later, on the advice of a relative, took the story to the police. Other versions said she was questioned by police after someone tipped them off that she knew of the plot.

Miss Vives could not be reached for comment. Friends said her family had sent her to an undisclosed place in the interior to spare her publicity.

POPULATION OF ENGLAND, WALES UP 184,000 IN YEAR

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP)—The population of England and Wales increased by 184,000 in the last fiscal year—mostly in the over-65 age bracket.

Figures released last night by the Registrar General showed the number of persons 65 or over rose by 108,000, the number of children under 14 increased by 96,000, but the remainder of the population decreased by 20,000.

Total population of England and Wales was listed at 44,480,000.

SMOG TURNS DAY TO NIGHT, SCARES ALL OF LONDON

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Radio.

LONDON, Jan. 17—People, animals and birds were terrified when total darkness fell upon London yesterday afternoon.

Some feared the end of the world was at hand.

Dogs and cats, sensing that something had gone awry, set up a howl and fled for shelter. Babies also realized that night, long before schedule, had usurped the day, and began to cry.

The phenomenon lasted five minutes.

The weatherman said, "We have never seen such an intensity in the day before. It was quite fantastic."

It's the style hit of the year!

You can take our word for it when we tell you this:

The first time we put eyes on the 1955 Buicks, we really raised a cheer.

To top the looks of last year's Buick—the car that moved Buick into the top three of the nation's best sellers—that was something.

That gave us two hits in a row, we figured—and it seems we figured right.

For with these stunning new 1955 Buicks, we're getting even more noses pressed against our showroom windows than last year—and more folks coming in to look and study and drive and buy.

New power is part of the picture—robust new V8 power in record might—236 hp in the CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER—188 hp in the low-priced SPECIAL.

New performance, too—from the dynamic action of Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflow* that gives you far better gas mileage in normal driving and cruising—and full-power getaway or safety-surge acceleration, but instantly, and with infinite smoothness.

So, you can see that just looking isn't enough.

You have to take that wheel in your hands, try that power, feel that Dynaflow take-hold surge, sample that Million Dollar Ride—and check the hard-to-pass-up prices we're quoting.

We'll gladly help you do all that. Why not come in this week?

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Thrill of the year is Buick

You wouldn't hesitate to wear glasses if you needed them...

Why should you hesitate to wear a hearing aid if you need one?
Research reveals that the most frequent reason for not wearing a hearing aid is vanity! But hundreds of thousands of people know that a small ear-button doesn't change their appearance. They wear a hearing aid proudly and happily because they are as eager to put their friends at ease as they are to be at ease themselves. If your physician recommends an aid, and if you know the facts about hearing aids, you will wear a Zenith. You'll find other aids selling at two or three times as much, but you can't buy a better hearing aid than a Zenith at any price!

DULLES URGES OK OF LOWER-TARIFF TRADE PROGRAM

Says It Will Prevent 'Chain Reaction Which Would Gravely Damage Free World.'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today urged Congress to adopt President Eisenhower's lower-tariff foreign trade program to prevent "a chain reaction which would gravely damage and disrupt the free world."

Dulles was the lead-off witness in a line-up of seven cabinet members scheduled to testify today and tomorrow before the House Ways and Means Committee in support of the Administration's trade policy.

The Secretary said the program, calling for a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act with added power for the President to cut tariffs, "will boost the security and welfare of the United States" as well as boost the entire free world alliance.

Dulles said many American partners abroad are uncertain "as to the future trend of our trade policies—they fear we may shift to a policy of raising rather than lowering trade barriers."

He said unless these fears are stamped out by United States action, Soviet predictions of economic wars among the free nations would come true. He said this would provide Communist rulers "with another opportunity greatly to expand power."

The Eisenhower program would give the President power to negotiate tariff cuts amounting to 15 per cent over the next three years.

The idea is to encourage foreign producers to sell more goods in the United States, and thus earn more dollars with which they can buy American products.

Dulles took notice of criticism, chiefly from senior Republicans on the committee, that increased imports might hurt some competing American industries.

He said the program was drafted "so as to cushion our economy against undue shock by reason of competitive imports," that tariff reductions would ve "very gradual," and the law would keep the present "escape clause" under which domestic industries hurt by imports may seek tariff increases.

Although Dulles defended the program chiefly as a bulwark to the free world alliance, he said, he hoped "I have not given the impression that the pending bill would primarily serve the economic interest of others. That is by no means the case."

Then he emphasized:

"But I do not hesitate to say that even if it were the case, I would still advocate the bill as needed to preserve the unity and vigor of the free world in the face of the terrible menace that confronts it."

Chairman Cooper (Dem.), Tennessee, expressed hope the measure would be ready for House consideration in less than a month, despite at least two weeks of hearings.

Dulles was to be followed to the stand today by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson and Foreign Aid Chief Harold E. Stassen. Four other cabinet officers are to be heard tomorrow.

POLICE REPORT ON GAMBLING AT THE OLD POST OFFICE

A report of the police gambling squad indicated today that petty gambling with football parlay cards had been going on for two years among some employes at the Old Post Office, Eighth and Olive streets, before the practice was broken up recently by postal authorities.

The report detailed activities of a woman who operates a small dress shop and a Negro porter who allegedly acted as runner in taking envelopes containing cards and money to and from the Post Office. They were arrested Nov. 19, but the circuit court grand jury refused to indict the woman and no warrant was issued against the porter.

Maj. James F. Thompson, in charge of the gambling squad, said his office had entered the case at the request of Post Office inspectors. One postal employe was suspended and 21 were disciplined for gambling on Government property, Postmaster Bernard F. Dickmann announced Friday.

DR. G. CURTIS JONES NEW UNION AVE. CHURCH PASTOR

The Rev. Dr. G. Curtis Jones, of Nashville, Tenn., has accepted a post as pastor of the Union Avenue Christian Church, 733 Union boulevard, to succeed The Rev. Dr. Hampton Adams, who resigned last May.

The church's official board voted to call Dr. Jones late last week and the action was approved by a voice vote of the 2100-member congregation yesterday, Hugh H. Barr, president of the board, said. Dr. Jones will assume his duties soon after Easter.

Dr. Adams, pastor of the church for 17 years, left his post here to become pastor of the Park Avenue Christian Church in New York City. Dr. Jones, now pastor of the Vine Street Christian Church of Nashville, is a graduate of Yale Divinity School and Lynchburg College, Lynchburg, Va. The Rev. Dr. Roger T. Nooe will continue to serve as interim pastor until Dr. Jones arrives.

KNOWLAND SAYS HAMMARSKJOLD MISSION FAILED

Charges 'Propaganda Campaign' in U.N. to Silence Critics of Trip to Red China.

CHICAGO, Jan. 17 (AP)—Senator Knowland (Rep.), California, declared today that U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's mission to Red China "was a failure by any fair standard or yardstick."

He referred to the Secretary General's attempt to obtain release of imprisoned American airmen, he added that within the U.N. "a massive propaganda buildup" is taking place to silence those who would analyze the mission as a failure.

In an address to the convention of the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association, the Senate Minority Leader said:

"The mission of Secretary General Hammarskjold was not a success and in my judgment no service is done the American people or those of the free world by pretending that it was.

'Returned Without Release.'

"Mr. Hammarskjold has returned without the release of the prisoners of war, held in violation of the armistice agreement, or any prospective date in the future when they will be freed.

"In China he did not go to see our men or the conditions under which they were imprisoned. The mission was a failure by any fair standard or yardstick."

Knowland said the "failure" of the mission is being "glossed over by the statement that 'when tensions are eased the members of our armed forces may be released.' We already know the standards which the Communist government has set for the easing of tensions."

These standards, he said, are: Admission of Communist China to the U.N.; re-opening of trade with Red China; the dropping of American policy against letting Formosa pass into Communist hands; "the determination of the free world to draw a line in the Pacific so that additional nations and their people will not pass behind the Communist Iron Curtain."

Hammarskjold "personally favors the admission of Communist China into the U.N.," the Californian asserted, "and his government has recognized the Red regime."

Others Unaccounted For.

Knowland said the Communists may be holding other Americans prisoner, and recalled that after the Korean war there were "more than 800 unaccounted for Americans in uniform who had fallen into Communist hands." He said 28 American civilians are still in Communist jails.

He called "appeasement only surrender on the installment plan."

"We have never," he said, "found it necessary to sacrifice our national honor when a vital principal was at stake. Nor must we permit any international organization to so dilute or undermine our spirits to the extent that Gulliver becomes chained by the Lilliputians and we are unable even to protect our own."

Peiping Radio Hints Release of Americans Is Tied to U.N. Seat.

TOKYO, Tuesday, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Peiping radio today intimated that the release of 11 United States airmen jailed as spies was tied closely to the question of admitting Red China to the United Nations.

Peiping did not say so directly, but it broadcast at some length comments in Indian newspapers on the recent talks between Premier Chou En-lai and Dag Hammarskjold, U.N. Secretary General, in the Red capital.

The broadcast quoted from the Assam Tribune and said:

"It points out that the convicted Americans 'are serving out sentences in China, having been judicially convicted of espionage.

"'As such, the Chinese Premier was right in holding that the United Nations could have no jurisdiction in this case, especially as, despite its legitimate claims, the Chinese people's republic has been shut out from the United Nations through the obduracy of the United States of America.'"

Peiping said the Hindustan Standard commented "that China has reason to take an uncompromising stand over the case of the American spies and that the United Nations resolution on this issue appeared to many to be a regrettable cause of working up tension."

ACTING WARDEN HENSLEY TAKES OVER WORKHOUSE

will advertise for a warden, she said.

"I would prefer to have some one from St. Louis," she said. "But if a qualified penologist cannot be found here we can waive residency requirements and obtain the services of a non-resident."

She and Warden Hensley addressed the 431 Workhouse inmates yesterday afternoon, announcing the change of wardens and promising the inmates a "fair deal."

"I thought there might be some unrest over the change," she said, "and I wanted to reassure them that we intend to do everything to better their conditions. I told them if they co-operated with Mr. Hensley that everything would work smoothly."

Weismantel, who had been warden since 1945, resigned after being called to task by Mayor Tucker, who expressed displeasure with general administration practices at the institution.

The warden said he could not carry out proceedures recommended in a critical report of his institution made by Isaac Gurman, director of the St. Louis Bureau for Men.

In his report, Gurman said he had found as many as eight men crowded into cells designed for three occupants in one 100-year-old cellhouse. In another building, constructed in 1914, three men were lodged in cells intended for one, the report stated.

Women prisoners were crowded in a cellblock built for maximum security inmates, Gurman reported.

It was found that Weismantel was keeping the Workhouse buildings clean and that he was not responsible for overcrowding. He was charged with poor bookkeeping, however, in an audit prepared by Gurman.

Other methods of operation, including handling of trusties and punishment practices, were criticized by Gurman.

What the Regulation of Gas Supply Means to 25,000,000 American Families

THE FIVE THOUSAND producers of natural gas—large and small—believe that the free competitive system which has increased your gas supplies and kept rates low is the best for consumers, for the industry, and the economy.

They believe the proposal to abandon competition and clamp bureaucratic controls on gas production will hurt consumers, damage the industry, and benefit no one.

Here are some answers to questions you as a consumer may have on this vital issue.

What Is This Regulation?

Sixteen years after a 1938 law was passed, a new interpretation of some of its words now forces the Federal Power Commission to do what it has eleven times refused to do—try to fix the price that an interstate pipeline pays the 5000 competing producers who find the gas and get it from the ground.

Will This Regulation Reduce Our Gas Bills?

Hardly. Only about 10% of the average gas bill goes to the producer who finds the gas and sells it. The other 90% pays for constructing, maintaining and operating the long-distance pipelines and local distribution systems—already regulated.

How Will Regulation Affect Supply?

It will reduce the supply. Most natural gas is produced by "wildcatters" and other independents. They are used to keen competition and big risks. But put them under Federal controls—with permits, endless forms, licenses, hearings and suits—and the work of exploration is sure to suffer. Three new pipeline projects to bring gas to more consumers have been suspended since regulation took effect.

Hasn't Gas Always Been Regulated?

Gas distribution, yes. It makes sense to have only one pipeline bring gas to a community—and one gas company distribute it in the community. Both do a good, efficient job for you, and as monopolies they are naturally regulated.

But there's no monopoly in finding gas. Far from it. Gas production is risky and keenly competitive. There are five thousand large and small producers looking for gas—and finding it in only one out of every nine exploratory wells they drill. They compete vigorously to sell their gas. A single pipeline may buy from 200 or more producers.

Is Gas Different from Coal or Oil —or Grain?

It isn't. And if there's price-fixing for natural gas at the well so can there be next for coal at the mine or oil at the well—or lumber in the forest, or grain on the farm.

How Did The Consumer Fare Before This Regulation?

Here's the record. In the past 16 years natural gas production has increased 200% and the price the consumer paid for gas has risen only 1/11th as much as the general cost of living.

Do Only A Few Big Companies Produce Gas?

No. The largest 37 companies produce less than half the nation's gas. No single company produces more than 5%. The small producers do more exploratory drilling than do all the big companies combined. And none of the producers has any monopoly, any exclusive franchise, or any protection.

What Is The Natural Gas and Oil Resources Committee?

It is made up of companies and individuals concerned with natural gas. It includes a great many large and small gas and oil producers. All believe there is no more reason for OPA-like price-fixing on gas than on steel, coal, autos, meat, or shoes, which could be next. All believe that free competition is better for all of us than a price-controlled economy, which has historically led to stagnation, scarcity and rationing.

What Can I Do?

You can reason out the issues, reach your own conclusions, and make those conclusions known to your friends and neighbors.

Under free competition without federal regulation—

- Natural gas became plentiful—output rose two hundred per cent in the past sixteen years.
- Natural gas stayed reasonable—and gas prices to the consumer rose only one-eleventh as much as living costs in the past sixteen years.
- Natural gas has helped create thousands of jobs in industry and now supplies one-fourth of the nation's energy resources.

AUTO GOES OVER A 50-FOOT BANK, KILLING DRIVER

Highway Patrol Says He Was Speeding, Failed to Make a Turn in Chesterfield.

Robert Lee Bryson, a truck driver who lived at 3715A Kossuth avenue, was killed late Saturday when his automobile went over a 50-foot embankment off Old Olive Street road in Chesterfield. He was 22 years old.

The Highway Patrol reported he was speeding and failed to make a turn. He was thrown out of the machine and it fell on him in an irrigation canal formed by the embankment.

Patrolman Percy A. Skinner, assigned to the Page boulevard district, suffered a serious head injury and injuries to both arms early yesterday when his car collided with another on Natural Bridge avenue at Cora avenue as he was going home from work. He is 59.

The other auto was driven by Pvt. James Prendergast Jr., 6732 Donald avenue, Northwoods, a soldier on leave from Camp Chaffee, Ark. Police quoted him as saying he apparently dozed and the car went into the wrong lane.

Prendergast suffered minor cuts, and and so did two companions, Pvt. John Murphy, also from Camp Chaffee, and Miss Kathleen Murphy, 1010 Oran drive, Bellefontaine Neighbors.

Waves Smash 160 Houses.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Jan. 17 (AP)—Heavy seas along the north coast at Arecibo destroyed 160 small wooden houses in a slum area yesterday and drowned one man. Fifty houses were smashed at the same place 10 days ago by high seas.

NEW ENGLANDERS FIND PRAVDA TALE OF POVERTY FUNNY

BOSTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Communist party newspaper Pravda's report "that there is widespread poverty bordering on starvation in several New England communities was described yesterday by civic, industrial and union leaders as "silly" and "idiotic"—"a dream by a guy who was never here."

The article was written by correspondent N. Karev, who said he visited Lawrence, Lowell and Haverhill in Massachusetts and Manchester in New Hampshire.

In these cities, he said, "Their streets are empty, chimneys of large textile and shoe factories give forth no smoke . . . in shops there is no meat or butter or even margarine. You find here only vegetables, potatoes, beans and green peas."

In Lowell, City Manager Frank E. Barrett said the Pravda article "is so ridiculous that it's funny. Pravda must have a Russian Hans Christian Andersen on its staff, writing a new kind of fairy tale. . . . Nobody in Lowell lacks money to buy food, even those on welfare."

Arthur W. Brown, Lawrence area director of the CIO Textile Workers Union of America, described the report as "the silliest thing I've ever heard."

MURDER SUSPECT ARRESTED, ON FBI MOST WANTED LIST

SANFORD, Fla., Jan. 17 (AP)—Otto Austin Loel, on the FBI's "10 most wanted" list since May 1954, was arrested here today.

Loel was picked up on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder, the FBI said, in the stabbing of Elizabeth Jeanne Henderson of Compton, Calif., Jan. 10, 1954.

The FBI said he was found living in a palmetto hut in a junk yard. Loel had been arrested on a drunk charge and released on Jan. 9. A routine check of his fingerprints through the FBI revealed his identity.

SHEPPARD GRANTED STAY OF EXECUTION

Appeal Judges Permit Him to Remain in County Jail Temporarily.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 17 (AP)—Appellate court judges granted Dr. Samuel Sheppard further stay of his sentence of life in prison today, but held under advisement his plea for freedom on bail.

The stay means that Dr. Sheppard will stay in the Cuyahoga county jail pending his appeal rather than be taken to the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus. A previous stay had been lifted last week when the case went to the appeals court.

William J. Corrigan, defense attorney who argued for bail, said he had engaged a criminologist to investigate the murder for which the osteopath was convicted. He identified the criminologist as Paul Kirk, biochemist at the University of California and head of the department of criminology there.

Dr. Kirk, interviewed in Berkeley, Calif., said he was not at all sure it was necessary for Dr. Sheppard to be free on bail, so far as his part in the investigation was concerned.

He said he had agreed "to take a look" but that until now he had given the case only casual attention.

Dr. Sheppard was convicted Dec. 21 of second-degree murder in the killing of his wife last July 4.

The appeals court judges—Julius Kovacy, Seth Hurd and Lee Skeel—also granted Corrigan until March 12 to file an appeal brief. The prosecution has another 30 days to answer the brief.

Corrigan renewed his contention that the police never properly searched the house where Sheppard's wife, Marilyn, was killed. He claimed neither Sheppard nor his attorneys had been permitted free access to the house since the day of the murder.

In seeking bail, Corrigan contended bail is possible in Ohio except in first degree murder and treason cases. Sheppard was not in court.

BALTIMORE TRANSIT PROBLEM BECOMING POLITICAL ISSUE

BALTIMORE, Jan. 7 (AP)—Baltimore's transit system, bidding fair for the spot as No. 1 campaign issue in the approaching municipal election, will be investigated locally, and perhaps nationally.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, a candidate for renomination, named a committee of eight civic leaders to make a study of the mass transportation problem in the city and its suburbs.

In a long memorandum to Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem.), Tennessee, head of a special Senate Anti-Monopoly Committee, Price accused National City Lines of monopolistic conspiracy. National City Lines is the parent firm of Baltimore Transit Co. and the Public Service Co. in St. Louis.

MUSEUM LECTURE TONIGHT

Patrick J. Kelleher, curator of European art at the William Rockhill Nelson Gallery, Kansas City, will speak today at 8 p. m. at City Art Museum on "An Approach to Modern Sculpture."

Kelleher, winner of a Prix de Rome for sculpture, will discuss sculpture with special reference to the work of Auguste Rodin. An 81-piece touring Rodin collection and a St. Louis-organized companion display including modern sculpture opened Friday at the museum. Both shows will close Feb. 14.

REFUGEE TELLS HOW REDS TOOK HIS $4,000,000

Dr. Cristofv Turns Down German Offer in Effort to Remain in U.S. as Citizen.

Dr. Cristjo Cristofv, a Bulgarian refugee living at 3905 Utah street, is a man whose belief in individual liberty—together with his misplaced confidence that Bulgaria would not go Communist—cost him a fortune he estimated at $4,000,000.

Although now in modest circumstances, Dr. Cristofv told the Post-Dispatch today he is so determined to obtain United States citizenship for himself and his family that he has declined offers to go to West Germany and re-build his riches, as a fur processor.

Coupled with his desire for American citizenship, he said, is a strong urge "to be of help in some way—in my role as a scientist—to this country." He is an engineer, inventor and physician, as well.

Faced Deportation.

Through a fantastic turn of events the 55-year-old Dr. Cristofv, his wife and two children, George, 25, and Daphne, 23, faced possible deportation from this country when an "informant" described Dr. Cristofv to the Government as a German spy in World War II, a story later proved false.

Actually, Dr. Cristofv said, his blunt treatment of Nazis led in 1941 to his, in effect, being banished from Bulgaria by pro-German elements in the government.

Dr. Cristofv's dark, bushy eyebrows arched frequently as he described in a rich and resonant voice an amazing career as a scholar, civil servant and industrialist, which preceded his exile.

Despite his experiences, only a few lines ripple through his long face, and his greenish brown eyes retain a merry twinkle. He stands 6 feet tall and, although of slender build, has broad shoulders.

Wins Scholarships.

At the close of World War I, already holding a doctor of medicine degree, Dr. Cristofv won Bulgarian government scholarships to a Berlin university. Between 1921 and 1928, he studied mechanical, mining and electrical engineering and did research in electronics and nuclear physics, obtaining a doctor of engineering degree.

Returning to Bulgaria, for the next five years he held various government posts.

In 1933, Dr. Cristofv said, to obtain money for further scientific research, he borrowed $50,000 and started a factory to make electrical apparatus. Six months later came the turning point in his industrial success.

"George and Daphne got whooping cough," he related, in English which carries a German accent from his student days. As a physician, he developed a medicine that alleviated their condition.

Children being what they are and whooping cough being what it is, Dr. Cristofv realized he would not lack a market for his medicine, so he began manufacturing it on a large scale.

Starts Leather Firm.

"But my biggest idea," he said, "was to start a leather fur company. Bulgaria was a rich source of supply for Balkan lamb fur. She exported 10,000,000 raw skins a year. I decided why not have all processes in Bulgaria."

Dr. Cristofv said he developed a vastly improved tanning process and started what was to become his greatest success, a factory to make coats, jackets, blankets and specialty items from the soft, warm Balkan lamb.

His ideas were only beginning.

"I discovered very, very soon that what the fellows ate for lunch-time was so little," Dr. Cristofv said. "Since the profit was so good, I opened a cafeteria, extended the lunch hour from 30 to 45 minutes and provided free meals."

This did not increase his popularity with fellow factory owners, although his 2000 employes liked it. Dr. Cristofv said he pioneered in such other practices as giving employes stock in the company, sharing profits and granting interest-free loans to "my good workers who wanted to start their own businesses; over 25 businesses were started that way."

Then, he recalled, a Nazi underling arrived in Bulgaria in 1940 and sought to dictate terms of a trade treaty. When no other Bulgarian spoke up, Dr. Cristofv said he made remarks that quickly broke off negotiations.

In 1941, he said, when German troops entered Bulgaria to guard transportation lines for the invasion of Greece, Dr. Cristofv's anti-Nazi record was quickly recalled. In a broad hint to leave the country, he said, he received orders to begin military service immediately in a remote area. Dr. Cristofv said he obviously could not have gotten to the place within the prescribed time limit.

He fled to Hungary. Alternating between Hungary and Czechoslovakia, he heard rumors that the Communists would seize Bulgaria. Still loyal to his native land, he said, he would not transfer his money to Switzerland, a popular European custom when conditions at home become unsettled.

When the Communists did take control of Bulgaria, they confiscated all his property. After that, the Cristofvs began an odyssey that led from Czechoslovakia to Austria, Switzerland, Italy, Canada and, in 1950, to St. Louis, where he worked for Shampaine Co., 1920 South Jefferson avenue, manufacturers of medical equipment.

Originally here on visitors' visas, the family has been permitted to remain until Congress acts on a private bill to make them permanent residents, reintroduced this month by Representative Thomas B. Curtis (Rep.), Webster Groves.

And about that $4,000,000. Dr. Cristofv said he intends to wrest the money from Bulgaria, with interest, "if it takes my family 500 years. They know that in Bulgaria, and they know that I am not kidding."

THREE WARRANTS ISSUED AGAINST MAN IN KILLING

Former Convict Admits 30 Purse-Snatchings — Woman Fatally Beaten Nov. 7.

A first-degree murder warrant and two warrants charging larceny from a person were issued yesterday against Melvin Shepard, who has admitted knocking down and fatally injuring Mrs. Katherine G. Overstreet, police said today.

Capt. Thomas Dirrane of Newstead District said Shepard, 28-year-old former convict who gave an address in the 700 block of Bayard avenue, had confessed more than 30 purse-snatchings and at least 12 house burglaries since his arrest Saturday.

Mrs. Overstreet, 69, of 331 North Boyle avenue, was struck on the head with a half-brick when her purse, containing $20, was taken at Newstead and Maryland avenues Nov. 7. She died Nov. 24 at City Hospital.

A telephone switchboard operator, Mrs. Overstreet was employed at the Town House apartment hotel when Carl Austin Hall, killer of Bobby Greenlease, was a guest there in October 1953. She testified before a grand jury at Kansas City in connection with the kidnaping.

Shepard, a Negro, was seized Saturday by a hotel clerk who saw him grappling with his latest victim, a Negro woman, across the street from the Adams Hotel, 4295 Olive street. The clerk was Eugene Abernathy, 29, also a Negro.

Abernathy dashed in pursuit, dodging bricks thrown by the fugitive as he chased Shepard through an alley to Washington boulevard. He overtook Shepard, knocked him down and kept him prostrate until police came.

Capt. Dirrane said Shepard would be taken through streets of the Page, Newstead, Deer and Carr districts today in order to identify houses where he had committed burglaries. In 1950, Shepard was sentenced here to a 3-year prison term for assault and robbery, police said.

RHEE RECOVERING FROM SURGERY FOR GLAND TROUBLE

SEOUL, Jan. 17 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee was reported recovering rapidly today from an operation for "a glandular condition" performed in a United States Army hospital last Tuesday.

The 79-year-old South Korean leader is in satisfactory condition and carrying out some of his duties, according to unofficial reports.

The Government has issued no statement on the President's condition since denying yesterday that he had undergone a serious operation or was ill.

A source close to the president, however, said the operation was performed in the 121st evacuation hospital in Yong Dong Po on the outskirts of Seoul.

Rhee was "never in critical condition," said this source, and is "home and in good shape." The source did not identify the glandular condition beyond saying it is common to older men.

Guardsmen Leave Phenix City.

PHENIX CITY, Ala., Jan. 17 (AP)—Law enforcement in Phenix city was in the hands of local civilian officials today for the first time since July 22. The last Alabama National Guardsmen left a few hours before outgoing Gov. Gordon Persons' order of limited martial rule expired at midnight Sunday.

LIVING STANDARD IN U.S. DOUBLED IN LAST 50 YEARS

CHICAGO, Jan. 17 (AP)—America's standard of living has doubled in the last 50 years, despite the reduced purchasing power of the dollar, a University of Chicago sociologist reported yesterday.

William F. Ogburn said a worker could produce as much in 1950 in 23 minutes as could be produced in an hour in 1900, primarily because of better technological equipment.

Writing in the American Journal of Sociology, Ogburn said the average expenditure in 1895 for a family averaging 3.37 people was $589 compared with $3902 for a family of the same size in 1950.

NATIONALISTS SAY THEY CRIPPLED RED CHINA SHIP

TAIPEH, Formosa, Jan. 17 (UP) — Nationalist guns firing from tiny Yikiangshan in the Tachen Island group crippled a Communist Chinese warship, the Nationalists announced today.

An official Ministry of National Defense communique did not mention the size of the warship but said damage was heavy.

This was the only action reported in the Tachen chain today. A subzero cold wave hitting the islands, some 250 miles north of Formosa, brought fighting there to a virtual halt.

Nationalist warplanes spotted Communist Chinese MIGs over the Tachens Sunday but no air fights were reported.

The Montgomery Ward Story

As we enter the New Year, the management of Montgomery Ward wishes to extend its sincere appreciation to its employes and millions of loyal customers who appreciate quality merchandise and good values. They have made possible this record of accomplishment—The Montgomery Ward Story.

Montgomery Ward was on the verge of bankruptcy when present management took over 23 years ago. Today it is one of the strongest companies in the country. The following facts tell the story:

Good profits: The company has made a good profit each year starting in the depression year of 1933.

Regular Dividends: Dividends have been paid regularly every year since 1936, with the total amounting to $51 per share. During the past year Wards paid dividends of $4 per share.

Increased Working Capital: Through careful management, Wards has increased its working capital from $79,000,000 in 1932 to a current figure of more than $590,000,000, of which $300,000,000 is in cash.

Debt Free: The company has no outstanding debt of any kind.

Funds for Expansion: The company's policy of conserving funds during the inflationary post-war period puts it in an excellent position to launch a program of sound expansion and improvement without borrowing.

Unmatched Security: The above facts add up to this—Ward stockholders have a security of investment matched by few companies; a book value per share of over $93, including working capital of $88 per share.

With so firm a foundation on which to build, the management of Montgomery Ward looks with confidence to a still greater future for the company, a future based on filling the wants and requirements of increasing millions of Americans.

RUSSIANS ARREST LIAISON OFFICER; VIENNA PROTESTS

VIENNA, Jan. 17 (AP)—Soviet authorities in Vienna have arrested Dr. Alfred Sokolowski, an interpreter and liason officer between the city and the occupying Russians since 1945.

Sokolowski was arrested Saturday when he went to the Soviet kommandstura on city business. Lord Mayor Franz Jonas and city Police Chief Josef Holoubek appealed to the Russians personally for his release. The Soviets refused, saying he was a suspected war criminal.

An informal meeting of American, British and French officials of the Vienna inter-Allied command also discussed a possible protest to the Russians.

MISSOURI'S SHARE OF BUDGET COSTS SET AT 1.5 BILLION

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 17 (AP) — The State Chamber of Commerce estimated today Missouri will have to foot the bill for $1,500,000,000 of President Eisenhower's $62,400,000,000 federal budget proposal.

The Missouri Public Expenditure Survey, an organization of taxpayers noted that the President's budget is about $2,400,000,000 more than anticipated revenues and asked: "If the federal budget cannot be balanced now while our nation is experiencing a period of relative prosperity, then under what conditions can it be balanced?"

The organization suggested that Missouri members of Congress be urged to make every effort to balance the federal budget this year.

U.S. GIVES MISSOURI SECOND $25,000 HAY AID CHECK

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 17 (AP)—Missouri got its second $250,000 federal allotment today to help pay shipping costs on hay bought by Missouri in drouth disaster areas.

K. L. Scott, director of agricultural credit services for the United States Department of Agriculture, sent the check to Gov. Phil M. Donnelly. It boosted the total of federal hay shipping aid to $500,000 since last fall.

The money is disbursed by the state department of agriculture to help pay hay freight costs to farmers in drouth counties. It is not being matched by state funds.

Little America in Antarctic Loses Part of Ice Shelf in Sea

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Arrows locate the Little America ice jaw and its opposing jaw on the Ross ice shelf in Antarctica, which came into massive collision. Little America jaw survived but with damage which affects Little America Camp No. 4.

But Most of Adm. Byrd's Camps Are Intact After Battle Between Giant Jaws of Glacier.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—Famous Little America in frozen Antarctica has won a titanic icy tug-of-war—just as R. Adm. Richard E. Byrd thought it would.

It has survived a huge collision of two mammoth moving jaws of ice, each backed by the weight of billions of tons.

When these jaws came together, one or both had to yield and float at sea as a dying iceberg.

One of the jaws is a field of ice known as Little America. Little America is not land at all. It is just a dot on a giant moving hunk or shelf of ice.

Part of it was broken off, apparently right through the middle of Little America Camp No. 4, set up in 1947 with its cargo of airplanes, tents, food and oil.

Bay of Whales Destroyed.

Its death destroyed the old Bay of Whales. It also spelled the inevitable death some day of Little America itself.

This is the story in the reports from Little America by Walter Sullivan, New York Times correspondent aboard the United States Navy icebreaker Atka. The Atka has just arrived at Little America to find many old landmarks changed or gone.

Eight years ago, Sullivan and this writer were there together on the 1946-47 Antarctic expedition, The ultimate death of Little America was apparent then.

This explanation is simple because Little America is just part of the seaward edge of the Ross ice shelf. The shelf is a gigantic icecube formed by glaciers spilling down from the 10,000-foot Polar plateau, 400 miles to the south.

This moving shelf grinds over Roosevelt island, buried deep beneath the ice. The grinding motion twists part of the shelf so it turns to flow westward.

Move Four Feet a Day.

Both jaws moved about four feet a day. The Little America jaw moved westward to press against the western jaw.

At some time since 1948 the two jaws crushed against each other.

Adm. Byrd in an interview last month said he thought the Little America jaw was strong enough to win. He apparently was right.

But part of the eastern jaw suffered also. The report tells of a tent dangling over the sheer face of an ice cliff, right through part of Little America IV.

The older camps—Little Americas I, II, and III, farther to the south—apparently are still intact.

The collision probably did not account for loss of all of the huge section of ice. Part of it undoubtedly came from undermining of the floating seaward edge of the western shelf by waters of the Ross sea.

In time—perhaps soon— the undermining action will cut Little America loose also.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 17—A motion seeking job protection for 78 trainmen who would lose their present positions if the Illinois Terminal Railroad abandons passenger service was filed today before the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Representatives of the brotherhoods of railroad trainmen and railroad firemen and engineers asked the commission to order the Illinois Terminal Railroad to make every effort to place the personnel in other jobs if permission is given to discontinue passenger service.

Objectors to discontinuance of the service today asked that the combine of 10 railroads buying the I.T.R. be made a party to proceedings before the commission.

TITO WILL EQUIP BURMA BRIGADE IN TRADE FOR RICE

RANGOON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Yugoslavia has offered to equip a brigade of the Burmese Army as a gift, and Burma will reciprocate with a gift of rice to the Yugoslav people.

Yugoslav Foreign Minister Koca Popovic announced the projected exchange of gifts at a press conference as he and President Josip (Tito) Broz wound up an 11-day state visit to Burma. They will sail aboard the Yugoslav training ship Galeb to Madras for a tour of south India.

Popovic said he could not say whether his Government would equip an infantry or armored brigade for Burma, which earlier purchased mountain guns from Yugoslavia. In answer to a question, he said it was "impossible" that the gift equipment would be drawn from supplies sent his country by America or Britain.

He added that it also was "improbable" that the United States or Britain had been consulted on the gift to Burma.

FOREIGN ENTERTAINMENT FUND BOOST SOUGHT BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (UP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today for a big increase in funds United States diplomats can spend for entertaining abroad. The fund was $475,000 this year. Mr. Eisenhower asked to have it increased to $700,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The money is used to pay "cost of entertainment offered on American holidays . . . expenses of social activities . . . purchase of flowers, wreaths and similar tokens for presentation in accordance with local custom on appropriate occasions."

BROWNELL SEEKS STIFF PENALTIES FOR CONSPIRACY

Urges $20,000 Fine, 20-Year Term for Those Advocating Overthrow of U.S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP) — Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. today asked Congress to provide stiffer penalties for advocating violent overthrow of the Government and seditious conspiracy.

Under his proposal these and related offenses could be punished by maximum fines of $20,000 or 20 years' imprisonment, or both.

He said present penalties for such conspiracy are "entirely inadequate."

The present maximum for conspiracy to sedition—inciting discontent against the Government—is $5000 six years or both.

The Smith Act, which prohibits teaching or advocating violent overthrow of the Government, now provides a fine of $10,000 or 10 years or both for actual advocacy. It also carried a peak $10,000 fine, five years or both under the conspiracy section.

Brownell noted in letters to Vice President Nixon and House Speaker Rayburn that the law also makes it mandatory to release prisoners after they have served about two-thirds of their sentence if time off is allowed for good behavior.

"The need for the increase in penalties for the offenses mentioned is readily apparent if consideration is given to the fact that approximately one-third of the sentence may never be served if a prisoner conducts himself properly in the penitentiary," Brownell said.

"A little more than three years' imprisonment is entirely inadequate as a deterrent for those who would conspire to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of our Government.

"This reasoning likewise applies with respect to the offense of seditious conspiracy. It was shown in the recent trial in New York against members of the Nationalist Party (of Puerto Rico) for seditious conspiracy that the conspiracy culminated in the shooting in the House of Representatives and the wounding of five congressmen.

"In addition the co-conspirators participated in acts of violence both in the United States and in Puerto Rico. The six years' imprisonment or $5000 fine, or both, which may be imposed at present appears totally inadequate for offenses of this nature."

Since 1949, a total of 81 Communist party leaders have been convicted under the Smith Act. Some 48 others are now under indictment.

ARMY DENIES JAP CHARGE OF EXPLOITING OKINAWANS

TOKYO, Jan. 17 (AP)—The United States Army denied emphatically yesterday a charge by the Japan Civil Liberties Union that it had mistreated and exploited natives on Okinawa, big Far East base.

In a 2500-word reply, the Army declared the charges were similar to those made in the Japanese Communist party newspaper, Red Flag.

President Shikichi Unno, president of the civil liberties union, conceded Saturday that the charges were based on interviews with Okinawans visiting Japan and that the union had made no first-hand investigation.

The union charged that land owners were forced to accept low rentals for land leased by the United States military, that Okinawans were paid low wages, and that civil rights were violated.

AMERICAN FREED BY THE RUSSIANS REJOINS PARENTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—John H. Noble, recently released by the Russians after nine and half years in prison, was reunited with his parents today amid tears and smiles.

Noble, former Detroit resident, went from Idlewild airport, where his plane landed earlier today, to the Columbia Broadcasting System newsroom, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Noble, awaited him. Noble's flight home had been delayed several times by bad weather.

Noble told reporters he has no immediate plans. "I have to see what my parents are doing. For nine and half years I have lost complete connections with anything outside of prison," he said.

Noble, now 31 years old, accompanied his father to Germany in 1938. They were interned at Dresden by the Germans at the outbreak of war in 1939. After the Russians captured the city in 1945, he and his father were arrested. The father was released in 1952.

WEU DELEGATES CONVENE TO STUDY ARMS POOL PLAN

PARIS, Jan. 17 (AP)—Delegates of the seven nations of the projected Western European Union opened discussions today of French Premier Mendes-France's proposal to standardize and pool their arms production.

With the exception of West German Economic Affairs Minister Ludwig Erhard, the delegates were either professional diplomats or high-ranking civil servants. For France and Britain, the chiefs of delegation to the permanent council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization led the groups for their governments.

Also on hand were delegates from Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—the other four WEU nations.

The delegates elected Peter Fraser, member of the British delegation, as secretary general for the conference, and Jacques de Follin, member of the French delegation, as Fraser's deputy. After preliminary statements by all delegations, the first session recessed until tomorrow.

TAVERN IS ROBBED OF $586 AND WHISKY VALUED AT $28

Ernie & Russ Tavern, 4055 Chouteau avenue, was entered last night by burglars who took $580 from a wall safe and $16 from a cash register in addition to whisky valued at $28, police reported.

Entrance was gained by breaking through a wall that separates the tavern from a hallway leading to a vacant upstairs apartment. The combination knob was knocked from the safe.

Education Leaders Disappointed That Budget Makes No Provision For U.S. Aid in Building Schools

Little Now Expected of Special Education Message Feb. 15 Which Is Reported to Call for Federal Agency to Encourage States to Act.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1955, The Pulitzer Publishing Co.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.

WHAT WAS NOT included in the Eisenhower budget for the new Government year has caused almost more stir than what it did contain. Educational leaders who obtained advanced copies of the President's budget message were shocked to find that there was no allocation for federal aid for school construction.

They felt especially let down since in his State of the Union message President Eisenhower had said that "positive, affirmative action must be taken now" to overcome an "unprecedented classroom shortage." The educators had thought that this meant at least some Federal aid would be forthcoming to help overcome the shortage of classrooms, estimated to run as high as 370,000.

When he addressed Congress on Jan. 6, Mr. Eisenhower promised a special message on education to be sent up on Feb. 15. But since there is no allocation for school aid in the new budget, educators are placing slight hope in the forthcoming message.

Review of Proposals.

Several Congressmen are reported to have been given a preview of what the President intends to propose. He will recommend, it is reported, a Federal school building authority which will aid and encourage the formation of state school building authorities.

The federal authority will have a small fund for grants in aid to states least able to finance their own schools. According to one report, this will be only $25,000,000. In the light of present school construction needs, estimated conservatively at four billion dollars a year for the next five years and somewhat less thereafter, this, in the view of education officials, would be an insult. It is believed that the amount recommended may be larger, perhaps even $100,000,000.

Scholarship Funds.

It is also reported that the President's message may recommend an additional sum for scholarships and fellowships in colleges and graduate schools. This will start at $50,000,000 a year and go up to $200,000,000 at the end of four years. Linked with this is the report that the President will recommend construction aid for colleges.

But in view of the desperate need at the grade school and high school level, it seems unlikely that the White House would propose funds for advanced education. One authority estimates that 20 per cent of all pupils are now attending school in firetraps while 10 per cent of all elementary pupils are in buildings more than 50 years old. This is due to many factors, including the lag in new school construction during World War II, the greatly increased birth rate and the failure to replace old buildings.

Federal 'Agent.'

The President, in his budget message, sticks closely to the line of state responsibility. Educational leaders had hoped that perhaps this line had been breached when in his State of the Union address he had spoken of the need for the Federal Government to serve as "an effective catalyst" in dealing with the serious school shortage. The word "catalyst" appeared in the text of the President's talk as released by the White House. But in reading it Mr. Eisenhower substituted the word "agent." This may be a reference to the rumored federal school building authority which would help the states to initiate action.

Senator Lister Hill (Dem.), Alabama, new chairman of the Senate Labor and Education Committee, has introduced a bill providing $500,000,000 a year for school construction. It has 30 sponsors, of which 28 are Democrats and two are Republicans. There has been some talk of bringing this bill out of committee without formal hearings, since it is identical with a bill sponsored in the last Congress by former Senator John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, except for the fact that the Cooper bill called for expenditures of $250,000,000 a year.

Favorable action is expected from the Senate, but the bill will have tougher going in the House. Those opposing it are said to feel that the segregation issue—an amendment stipulating that no state practicing segregation in education shall receive funds under the measure—will kill it in the House. Republicans and conservative Democrats would undoubtedly sustain a presidential veto.

Opponent of Federal Aid.

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, head of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, has repeatedly opposed federal help for school construction. She has counseled patience until the White House conference on education this fall and a subsequent series of state conferences.

The President, in his budget message also refers to these conferences, holding out the hope that they will provide "long-range solutions to the problems and will place in better perspective the obligations and opportunities of the respective levels of Government." But those who are concerned over the desperate overcrowding in the schools, which they link with the rapid rise in juvenile delinquency, insist that waiting for a long-range solution will deprive a whole generation of a decent opportunity for education. It is estimated that by 1960 the shortage of classrooms will total 720,000.

Nautilus Leaves Dock Under Atomic Power; First Time Any Vehicle Has Been So Moved

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Moving under power generated by its nuclear "fire box," the Nautilus, world's first atomic submarine, heads toward Long Island Sound after start of trial run at yards of the Electric Boat Division, General Dynamics Corp., at Groton, Conn., today.

GROTON, Conn., Jan. 17 (AP).

THE Navy's Atomic submarine Nautilus, moving under "nuclear propulsion," pulled away from its dock at 11:01 a.m. today to start its builders' trial.

"This is the first time that any sort of a vehicle has moved by atomic power," said a Navy officer shortly before the trial began.

Leaving the dock at the Electric Boat division of General Dynamics Corp., where it was launched a year ago, the Nautilus moved slowly to the middle of the Thames river before heading downstream for the trial area in Long Island sound.

Although the event was perhaps as significant as the sailing of Robert Fulton's Clermont from New York Aug. 17, 1807, no civilian spectators were on hand to see the Nautilus off.

There were a few observers, however, on docks in New London, a half mile away across the river.

Tug Keeps Distance.

The Nautilus had to make a complete turn in the stream before heading down river to the sound. This it did without assistance.

(The United Press said the progress of the Nautilus was almost noiseless. Conventional submarines can be heard for some distance.)

The atomic "fire box" of the Nautilus which pours steam into the turbine was cautiously tried out several days ago while the boat was tied to the pier.

The Navy said more than 100 officers and men were aboard the Nautilus today. More than 60 civilian experts and technicians were also aboard.

The Navy had hoped this day would come three months ago, but an error in steam pipe installation delayed it.

For hours, and probably days, the Nautilus will go through surface trials.

Later the critical time for diving will come. Here, too, the approach will be cautious. The Nautilus's skipper, Comdr. Eugene P. Wilkinson, will first carefully "flood down" the boat, letting water slowly into ballast tanks until the Nautilus settles slowly, at even keel, below the water.

Super-Strong Hull.

The Nautilus's hull is super-strong. It is built to dive far deeper than any previous submersible and can remain submerged under full power far longer than its air-breathing crew can stay down.

Besides its nuclear power plant, the Nautilus is equipped with conventional diesel and electric facilities capable of carrying on in event the atomic reactor failed.

Expected underwater speed of the Nautilus will be more than 20 knots, possibly more than 30. Because of the sleek configuration of its hull, the boat will travel faster under water than on its surface.

The Nautilus is far and away the most expensive submarine ever built. Unofficial estimates of the total cost range as high as $50,000,000.

The Nautilus is the first of a proposed fleet of seven atom-powered submarines, three of which were recommended by President Eisenhower in his budget message today. Another is being built and two more are provided for.

ARMY CHIEF IN INDONESIA REPORTED TO HAVE RESIGNED

JAKARTA, Jan. 17 (AP)—Indonesian army chief of staff Maj. Gen. Bambang Sugeng was reliably reported today to have submitted his resignation.

A highly-placed source said Gen. Sugeng declared he was "unable to cope with political intrigues inside the army."

WORLD SCIENTISTS MEETING TO PLAN ATOMIC CONGRESS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 17 (AP)—Scientists of seven nations, with United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold presiding, opened a meeting here today to plan a world congress on peaceful uses of atomic energy.

At its first meeting the group unanimously agreed to hold the Congress next August in Geneva. Aug. 8 was discussed as a likely date, but it was not fixed finally.

23,000 DISABLED KOREAN VETERANS TAKE SCHOOLING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (UP)—Some 23,000 disabled veterans of the Korean conflict have enrolled in the Government's rehabilitation program, the Veterans Administration announced last night.

Of that number, 44 per cent have chosen high-level objectives in the professions and in the managerial field, the VA said.

Farm training attracted 6 per cent of the Korean veterans while 35 per cent trained for trade and industrial occupations.

Reporter Who Flew Into Peiping In Hammarskjold's Wake Tells Of Red Tape and Cold Welcome

Correspondent Whisked From Bustling Airport to Luxury Hotel, Given 20 Minutes to Appear for Questioning — Requests for Interviews Jolt Bureaucrat.

This is the first cable by Francis Lara, Far Eastern Correspondent of Agence France-Presse, from Peiping to which he flew from Canton in the wake of the Hammarskjold mission.

PEIPING.

THE yellow-tiled roofs of the Summer Palace sparkled in the winter sunshine. Round the hilltop from which the Son of Heaven watched, the frozen lakes tilted abruptly sideways. The Soviet-built Dakota in which I had just made the chilliest, most uncomfortable journey of my life banked in towards Peiping airfield.

It was a flight I shall never forget.

It began at Canton far earlier than any human being should ever be out of bed. Three days had been wasted while I waited a chance to get in at the end of the Hammarskjold mission. Now, here I was strapped into the metal seat of an unheated cargo plane among an assortment of East German and Polish electronic equipment.

The nine-hour journey was the most trying ordeal of my life. The Dakota headed northward across snowbound plain and mountain. A touchdown at Hankow provided no respite for the meager little airport building was inadequately heated by two tiny stoves. A loudspeaker squawking out a Beethoven violin concerto partly compensated for an uneatable meal.

Snow and ice had been scraped from the airfield, but not enough. One American-built Convair got slightly stuck in the snowdrift while taxiing for a takeoff. A half-frozen shovel brigade was mustered to dig it out.

The plane looked like one of the China National Airways fleet which went over to the Communists after the Nationalist retreat to Formosa. The cutlery we were served at table certainly belonged to that ill-fated line.

Flight Over Flooded Areas.

Out beyond Hankow our icebox of a plane passed widespread flood areas. A great waste of frozen water covered miles of devastated rice-fields. Only isolated villages and an occasional raised road broke the disastrous monotony.

Floods have reduced cultivation in China by 10 per cent this year. The Communists say so themselves. But they claim—and there is little reason to doubt them—that the general rise in food production will alleviate any shortage.

It looked colder down there, but it was far colder in the air. My fellow-travelers, a handful of peace delegates returning from Japan, shivered like prisoners in a political court. Blasts of icy air whistled in through the unsealed door, biting like acid into unprotected hands and feet. The tap and washbowl in the toilet were connected by an icicle.

It was unbelievable relief when the barracks-like buildings of Peiping swept by below. The countless research institutes, the headquarters of half a dozen centralized new government agencies came up under the wingtip. Then the immortal yellow roofs of the Summer Palace, the artificial lakes, the little curly-roofed pavilions nestling among banks of fir trees.

Busy Peiping Airport.

We were not the last flight in. The parking areas were packed with planes, some waiting to take off. Others were taxiing behind us.

China's internal airlines may

By DREW PEARSON
(Copyright, 1955.)

WASHINGTON.

MEMBERS of the Justice Department's anti-trust division hit the ceiling when they heard that Attorney General Brownell had intervened directly in the criminal anti-trust case against the Kansas City Star and ordered the case against Roy Roberts dismissed.

This was done last Friday, on the last court day before the case was to go to trial in Kansas City.

Up until the day before this, members of the anti-trust division had not known that any move was going to be made to take publisher Roberts out of the case. They had known, of course, that Roberts, who was one of the first to propose Mr. Eisenhower for President, had been a frequent caller at the White House. He has dined or called there every time he is in Washington and he spent several days here with his attorney, Elton L. Marshall, only last month.

They also knew that Brownell had made "suggestions" that the case against the President's good friend be quietly dropped. It has now dragged on for two years. But previously his suggestions were overruled by the assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division, Judge Stanley Barnes of California, a Republican appointed with the backing of Chief Justice Warren.

On Friday, however, Brownell became insistent, and Earl Jinkinson, special United States attorney who had spent weeks preparing the Kansas City case, appeared before Judge Richard M. Duncan and stated that on the advice of the Attorney General the Government was asking that the criminal case against Roberts be dismissed.

The remainder of the criminal case against the Kansas City Star itself, and Emil Sees, its director of advertising, is going forward.

Afterward, a newspaperman asked the Star's attorney, Elton Marshall:

"Did you see Attorney General Brownell when you were in Washington last month?"

"What right do you have to question me?" replied Marshall, rushing to a telephone to break the good news to his client.

ATOMIC PATENTS — The Dixon-Yates deal isn't the only atomic energy contract the Senate will investigate. Senators are increasingly disturbed over the big monopoly-minded companies with which the Atomic Energy Commission is doing business. They fear these companies will use their inside track with the AEC to sew up patents and keep new atomic developments off the market.

For example, General Electric, which operates the big AEC Hanford plant, has a flagrant record of anti-trust violations.

Anti-trust charges were also brought against Rohm & Haas Co., now doing research work for the AEC. The company was indicted in 1942 for forming a conspiracy to monopolize the sale and distribution of plastics. The indictment was dismissed after Rohm & Haas agreed to a consent decree requiring them to break their cartel agreements and to free 74 Rohm & Haas patents and 90 other foreign-owned patents.

The Du Ponts, who operate the AEC's Savannah river H-bomb plant, have also pleaded nolo contendere to a range of anti-trust charges, all the way from fixing prices of commercial explosives to restraining trade in formic and muriatic acids.

Another AEC contractor, Monsanto Chemical Co., likewise pleaded nolo contendere in 1942 to charges of conspiring with 12 other corporations to control production and set uniform prices for sulphuric acid, a key ingredient in many industrial processes.

Sales vs. Income Tax

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Please urge Missourians to look well before they abandon their state income tax. The great majority of people are not affected by this tax, as it allows liberal exemptions.

I did not think that a Democrat as thoughtful of the poor as State Senator Kinney has always been, would ever advocate an increase in sales tax.

The repeal of state income tax represents giving the people nothing, in exchange for relieving the wealthy of the necessity of supporting the state.

I lived in your state, and I never once was required to pay a state income tax, although a return must be filed. I now live in Illinois, where the wealthy now have the consideration of not being required to pay a state income tax.

I am hopeful that our representatives will pass a state income tax bill in 1956, to relieve us of the heavy burden of taxation on property which at present is exorbitant beyond belief. GEORGE GLOECKLER.

Freeburg, Ill.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A 3 per cent sales tax in Missouri would be, I believe, fair and equitable.

I have been in Missouri since 1951 and have filed a Missouri state income tax return every year, while native born and reared Missourians completely disregard the Missouri state income tax.

Why should I pay their share and mine, too? With a 3 per cent sales tax and by abolishing the Missouri state income tax, everybody would then have to pay his own fair share.

Chemicals in Our Food

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

This is to let Reader T. C. Link know that someone else feels the way he does about what food manufacturers are getting away with.

Our milk is treated with chemicals to inhibit souring and it's no wonder his ice cream turned to a glutenous mass. On the other hand, maybe the ice cream wasn't even made out of milk.

Over 300 different chemicals are used in our foods. I wonder how many people realize how chemicalized our foods are in this commercialized era?

The pure food and drug people must be ignorant of the appalling amount of impure food sold in our markets today.

One View of Prison

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The more I hear about the prison situation in this state the more I realize that we as citizens are neglecting our duty to these poor unfortunate victims of society.

We should acknowledge that days of straw-tick mattresses are over and furnish each cell with a beauty-rest and clean sheets daily. I believe a TV set would also keep the prisoners occupied in their leisure moments. After all, aren't radios a little old-fashioned?

When we send these poor unknowing men out of our vicious society because of the unjustness of our laws do we owe it to them to see that they have a comfortable place to repent?

Next thing you know I'll hear that their prison earnings are tax-free.

For the Poor Pedestrian

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I have read a couple of letters about careless pedestrians, and would like to say a word of defense for the poor pedestrian.

Not too long ago a girl I work with almost got hit. Why? A driver ignored the fact that a left-hand arrow had changed. I caught my friend's arm, and he missed her by inches.

There is carelessness on both sides, that is, driver and pedestrian.

I work near Skinker and Delmar, and would like some of these drivers to become pedestrians, and try crossing there in the rush hour.

'Yes' for Transit

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

In the many fare raises obtained by Public Service Co., I have never heard the voice of Alderman Redmond questioning whether these raises were just or unjust. As a lawyer and a public servant has he investigated whether the capital structure of Public Service Co. is inflated by questionable bookkeeping methods?

He cries out against public ownership, as do many Republicans, but there is no public ownership involved in the Transit District proposal to be voted on Jan. 25.

Why haven't the people of St. Louis the right to control the rate-making as long as they pay all the bills of the utility?

I deplore Mr. Redmond's attitude regarding this Metropolitan Transit District and trust the voters of the Eighteenth Ward will call his attention to the right of the people of St. Louis to have a say-so in fixing rates of utilities. We should all vote YES.

The Formosa Treaty

The terms "territorial" and "territories" shall mean, in respect of the Republic of China, Taiwan and the Pescadores. . . .

So reads Article VI of the mutual defense treaty between the United States and Chiang Kai-shek's government on Formosa, which President Eisenhower has sent to the Senate for ratification. A private memorandum reportedly circulated by the Democratic National Committee has raised an important question about the treaty which ought to be satisfactorily answered before it is ratified.

The question is this: If by treaty the United States formally recognizes Formosa and the Pescadores to be territories of the Republic of China, can that recognition later be used to bolster the claim that Formosa and the Pescadores are territories of the People's Republic of China—the Communist Government at Peiping which claims to be the successor to the Republic of China?

This question has nothing to do with the desirability of keeping Formosa in friendly hands, nor with the desirability of defending Formosa against unprovoked aggression. Assuming that both of these aims are fixed objects of American foreign policy, still it is worth asking whether the defense treaty could become a legal boomerang.

If the United States formally recognizes Formosa as belonging to Chiang's China, will this encourage Peiping and the nations which recognize Peiping to regard Formosa as belonging to Red China?

The question is all the more pertinent in view of reports that Premier Chou En-lai, in his talks with Dag Hammarskjold, asked for assurances that the United States would not support an attack on the mainland from Formosa, but did not demand withdrawal of American naval forces protecting that island. This could mean that Red China will not press a claim for Formosa provided the island can be militarily neutralized. If so, American policy should place no barriers in the way of neutralization.

When it was first reported in Washington that the treaty had been questioned by the Democratic National Committee in a memorandum sent to Democratic members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the State Department's reaction was that it would regret seeing the treaty involved in any "partisan controversy."

So would we. But it is not true that any question raised by a Democratic source is automatically a partisan controversy. In this case, the question is serious enough that it deserves a serious answer.

According to Arthur Krock in The New York Times, the memorandum was written by Benjamin V. Cohen, former counselor of the State Department, after consultation with former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, former Ambassadors Chester Bowles and George Kennan, and former Air Secretary Thomas K. Finletter.

It is true that all of these persons served in Democratic Administrations, but it is also true that their views on foreign policy are entitled to a hearing on their merits.

Secretary Dulles signed the defense treaty with Chiang last month to reaffirm, without extending, the commitments which the United States had assumed with respect to Formosa at the outset of the Korean war. He was under pressure to make this gesture both from Chiang and from such Republican critics as Senator Knowland, at a time when shooting in and around the coastal islands had renewed fears of a Communist attack on Formosa.

In making it perfectly clear that the United States would resist aggression against Formosa, our Government should take care not to close the door against an ultimate Far Eastern settlement which included some sort of independent status for that island.

Our Friend, Thad Snow

Thad Snow was a friend of the Post-Dispatch, which is how our knowledge of him begins. He was an unusual subscriber and a wonderful contributor both. If through the years our readers came to know well of him, still there is much more than can be told in the final telling.

Thad Snow was, in person and in writing, a man of almost cultured simplicity. He preferred to be called a farmer, and so he was. He entered "Swampeast Missouri," to which he gave the name, as a young man from Indiana. He cleared his land, survived depressions and personal tragedies and, as he might have put it, made his stake.

But he was a man of education and the widest intellectual interests, who wrote of economics for national publications with wisdom, as he wrote letters to the editor about the old road-scraper and the mule named Katie with charm. Not long ago he came to St. Louis to buy some clothes, which he considered a mite too expensive and colorful for an elderly farmer, and set off in them to lecture at Harvard.

How can such a man be set down? He was a self-made man always interested in the underdog, a busy man who worked for good public roads and other policies, a practical man considerate of social experiment, a man who turned to book or duck blind with equal enthusiasm. He was a friend of the famous and, yes, of some of the infamous, for in the old frontier spirit he took a man at face value until he "learned different."

Nobody told Thad Snow how to think or what to say. Not all the modern pressures of conformity ever blew a shingle off his serene cypress home. And when it came time to sum up, after 70 years, he did so in his recent book, "From Missouri," and spoke his piece as he thought a man should.

Thad Snow was a pioneer. There are not many left, but that is what he was.

Why?

Why did Gov. Donnelly believe it necessary to ask former St. Louis Police Inspector Curtis Brostron to "draw up a detailed plan for rebuilding and reorganizing the state penal system"?

The Governor already has the report of his own investigating committee. This was headed by Maj. Gen. Ralph E. Truman and had the counsel of Edward R. Cass of the American Prison Association, a man with 41 years of experience in this field.

Mr. Brostron, on the other hand, has had no prison experience whatsoever. He is the first to say this. He was a fine police administrator. But his experience has been in catching criminals, not in guarding and reforming them after conviction. The difference between the two activities is as wide as a country mile is long.

Reforms demanded by the penitentiary riots also are being studied by a joint committee of the Legislature. This committee has just inspected the Illinois prisons to gain background for corrective legislation. Like the Governor's committee, it has had the counsel of Warden Joseph E. Ragen of the Joliet and Stateville prisons, a man highly regarded by prison administrators. What can former Inspector Brostron add to recommendations based on the experience of men like Cass and Ragen? And if he is merely expected to draw up bills incorporating recommendations already made to the Governor, does he, as a former policeman, have talents in this respect superior to those of experienced legislators or the law officers at the call of the Governor? So why did the Governor make this appointment?

Cheap Politics at a High Level

Why does President Eisenhower allow his great prestige to be used for petty political patronage deals? The question recurs every time the President, whose political strength is as nonpartisan as it could be, allows the men around him to pull off a shoddy maneuver such as the use for an Interstate Commerce Commission appointment to pay a political debt to Senator Price Daniel of Texas.

That Senator Daniel should have had some reward for deserting his party to support the Republican national ticket in 1952 was to be expected. But when the President permits his assistant, Sherman Adams, to play cheap courthouse politics with one of the great independent agencies of the Government, that is paying off at a level where he of all Presidents does not need to pay off.

As Raymond P. Brandt reports from Washington, the White House first sought an ICC place for a deserving Texan by trying to oust Commissioner J. Monroe Johnson under the compulsory retirement rules. Mr. Johnson resisted, and defeated the move. Now the retirement of Charles D. Mahaffie, who became 70 in December, has been forced instead, and Everett Hutchinson of Texas has been appointed to the vacancy.

Mr. Mahaffie is such an able and experienced member of the commission and retains so much physical and mental vigor that waiver of the retirement rule in his case has been urged by Herbert Hoover, ranking members of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, representatives of railroads, state utility commissioners, and practitioners before the commission. The magazine Modern Railroads quoted a "top Government finance expert" as describing the retirement of Mr. Mahaffie as "unthinkable."

Well, it wasn't unthinkable to Sherman Adams, and it wasn't unthinkable to President Eisenhower. And so the ICC is going to lose the services of a distinguished commissioner who is regarded as the leading expert on railroad finance in the country.

If any President was ever in a position to resist such a patronage raid at such a price to the Government service, it is Mr. Eisenhower. Instead of resisting, he has once more permitted himself to be cast in the role of peanut politician—a role which he does not fit, and for which the people did not elect him.

New Boss at the Workhouse

The resignation under fire of Warden Clarence Weismantel of City Workhouse can be the first step toward improving management practices at the institution. Much will depend on Warden E. E. Hensley of City Jail. He will be in charge of both institutions until Mr. Weismantel's successor is chosen in a merit system examination. That may take as long as two months.

It will be a mistake if Mr. Hensley acts only as a caretaker. Some of the administrative practices at the Workhouse have been so bad that they must be halted. The foul basement punishment cell, for example, ought never to be used again. Something should be done forthwith to protect inmate from inmate. Proper policing of the cellblocks at night would be a help.

In the long run, of course, the real answer to the problem of the ancient Workhouse is to move it from its present site beside a rock quarry into the country where it would be possible to occupy the time of the inmates at farming. That will depend upon the result of the municipal bond issue planned for the spring. Meantime, since the city will have to make do with the present institution, the least it can do is see that it is run properly.

In Less Than a Week

How to get down to business in Congress promptly has been demonstrated by the House Ways and Means Committee under the chairmanship of Democratic Representative Jere Cooper of Tennessee.

Chairman Cooper has already started public hearings on President Eisenhower's foreign trade program. Not only that, he has called as the first witness no less an official than Secretary of State Dulles. This would suggest that instead of a long-drawn-out procedure with a lot of time-consuming minor witnesses first, the committee will be ready to take action on proposed reciprocal trade legislation early in the session on the basis of top-level testimony.

President Eisenhower sent his foreign trade message to Congress only a week ago, and it is even less than a week since the Senate and House completed organization of their committees. Yet hearings are already started on perhaps the one most important part of Mr. Eisenhower's program—the part designed to loosen the bonds that restrict world trade.

Contrast this with the way things went on the Ways and Means Committee in the last two sessions when the committee had a Republican majority and high-ranking Republican Representative Daniel A. Reed of New York for its chairman!

On this vital issue at least, the White House ought to say a prayer of thanksgiving that it "lost" the election last November.

A Kick in the Face

Harold Heffernan's Hollywood report on the spate of injuries to film players enacting scenes of brutality should make movie-goers pause and ask themselves a question. What kind of people do these Hollywood producers take them for?

Motion pictures made at the cost of sending players to the hospital because one was gunwhipped with real weapons and another was kicked in the face do not, we confidently believe, reflect the public's taste in film fare.

And producers who believe they do are in, we further believe, for a costly as well as a rude awakening. Shocking brutality may be, on occasion, an essential ingredient of drama; used to excess, as for some little while now, it wears down its effectiveness.

Even at the box-office level, sadism on the screen is therefore unpromising. At the level of good taste, it invites an eventual public revulsion. Mr. Heffernan writes that there is "no end of the sadistic cycle in sight"; but for the good of an industry already sufficiently beset with troubles, there ought to be soon.

The White House staff ought to sign up Ohio State's Robin Freeman who knows better than anybody else in the country how to make his goals.

PRACTICING—JUST IN CASE

Two Republican Views of Peress Case

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Chicago Tribune criticizes Army for delay in issuing report on 'embarrassing episode in Administration campaign against McCarthy'; New York Herald Tribune defends Army for avoiding publicity but says public now expects questions to be answered.

The Chicago Daily Tribune

Hearing that 41 Senators of both parties were moving to investigate the promotion and honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, who used the Fifth Amendment repeatedly while in uniform to dodge inquiries about Communist connections, Secretary of the Army Stevens has hurried forward with a windy explanation. The brief says that 61 officers of all ranks had something to do with the affair.

It seems very clear that these officials decided to unload a very hot potato, and that an honorable discharge, even for an officer laboring under a strong presumption of Communist party membership, was accepted as the fastest means of achieving their purpose.

On Jan. 21, 1954, some 10 days before the Peress discharge was authorized, Adams had participated in a conference with three White House advisers and the deputy Attorney General, the evident purpose of which was to cook up an Administration plan to "get" McCarthy. Mr. Eisenhower was later so concerned lest the discussions at this conference become public that he issued a presidential order to prevent their disclosure.

'Not Fit to Wear That Uniform'

Thus the Peress case was an embarrassing interlude in an Administration campaign already under way against Senator McCarthy.

McCarthy, in attempting to fathom what, to him, must have seemed an inexplicable action in granting an honorable discharge to Peress, quickly became entangled with the Pentagon when he questioned Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker.

McCarthy demanded to know whether Zwicker thought any officer authorizing the Peress discharge should be retained in service. "I do not think," Zwicker responded, "that he should be removed by the military." To this McCarthy replied, "Then, general, you should be removed from any command. Any man who has been given the honor of being promoted to general and who says, 'I will protect another general who protected Communists' is not fit to wear that uniform, general."

Road to McCarthy's Condemnation

This was the episode for which Adams and the Pentagon seemed to be waiting in order to put into effect the campaign against McCarthy hatched at the conference of Jan. 21. The Senator's words were widely misrepresented as a denunciation in these terms, "You are unfit to wear that uniform, general."

Thus, it will be seen, the Peress case served as the kickoff in a long scrimmage which was ultimately to lead to the Senate vote "condemning" McCarthy for his conduct.

Although the Peress affair was at the heart of the Pentagon-McCarthy controversy, it was arbitrarily ordered excluded from discussion before the Mundt committee. The mystery of the Secretary's present public statement is why, if it is proper now, it was not proper when it bore great relevance to the Stevens-Adams-McCarthy imbroglio.

It is in line with the logic dictating that the cart be hitched before the horse that the Senate, having condemned McCarthy as a direct consequence of the Peress case, should now go inquiring into that case, which should have governed all subsequent procedure against the Senator.

The New York Herald Tribune

The Army has released its detailed chronology of the case of Irving Peress, with the names of officials involved.

The Army's reasons for not giving publicity to the individuals concerned in processing the papers at various stages of Peress's military service were basically sound. It argued that "there was no evidence of culpability or subversion" on the part of the officers involved in the case.

In the heat of the original controversy over Peress, however, it is quite clear that any individual who had the most routine connection with the mass of forms required to induct, promote or discharge the dentist might have found himself the innocent center of a storm. The Army assumed collective responsibility, which is good administration.

Unfortunately, this attitude worked a hardship against a few persons, such as Gen. Zwicker, who was publicly identified with the episode and unable, under regulations, to make his own participation in it clear. The present report shows that he was very alert to the situation, promptly recommended Peress's separation from the service as a security risk, and protested against his promotion.

Questions to Be Cleared Up

The promotion is indicated to be the result of a combination of statutory requirements and administrative rigidity rather than any special favor shown to Peress.

In all probability, there will be further congressional investigation into the Peress case. Senator McCarthy has asserted there are discrepancies between the present Army report and testimony given in previous hearings, as well as in the earlier confidential Army memorandum.

The public is entitled to hope that these questions will be cleared up as quickly and fairly as possible and the whole matter disposed of in the same fashion.

The Army has admitted from the outset tardiness and administrative errors in dealing with Peress—there is still no indication whatever of "culpability or subversion" in its handling of the episode. It is time to deflate the Peress case to its proper proportions.

On Cuckoos and Cuckoo Clocks

From the Providence Evening Bulletin

We've just been reading a report on the state of the cuckoo clock industry in Germany. It's good. In 1953 the production centers of the Black Forest, where the cuckoo clock originated around 1740, turned out 500,000 of these aggressively cheerful chirpers, and it's a reasonable expectation that this figure will be topped in 1954. A world getting more cuckoo by the minute is bound to need more and more cuckoo clocks.

In the Black Forest everybody makes cuckoo clocks like mad. When one of the 500 native clockmakers has a few moments to himself he spends them arguing with some other clockmaker about who perfected the cuckoo's call, Franz Anton Ketterer, Mattheus Hummel or Michael Hilger. After the argument ends in a brawl, he goes back to making cuckoo clocks.

Was the Black Forest anciently full of cuckoos, and what is its live cuckoo population today? What has been the effect on the living Black Forest cuckoo of being outnumbered and outcuckooed by mechanical cuckoos? Has he been corrupted by them and adopted their annoying habit of announcing the passage of time, something that is none of a cuckoo's business?

If we were a self respecting and quiet loving cuckoo, the last place we'd care to live in would be the Black Forest.

Between Book Ends

Medieval Splendor

THE CORNERSTONE by Zoe Oldenbourg, translated by Edward Hyams. (Pantheon Books, 462 pgs., $4.75).

Medieval France parades all its splendor and squalor, exaltation and abasement, and nobleness and wickedness, in Miss Oldenbourg's arrestingly good book. With an eye for striking detail and a feeling for psychological realism, she portrays a fictional but realistic Frankish family of thirteenth century knights, who hunger for power, for love and for God.

The seeker of God is Ansiau of Linnieres. He lives only to bear arms for his religion and for his feudal overlord. As the book opens, the aging Ansiau renounces home and family. He begins on foot, blind and without money, a pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

Herbert, his son, succeeds to the domain. He seeks power as an end in itself. This knight not only fights, but also schemes. As his domain grows, his soul accumulates sins. His religion is close to him in moments of second thought, but rarely in moments of action.

Zoe Oldenbourg

Herbert's son, Haguenier, too sickly to fight, possesses the manners of chivalry. He falls hopelessly in love with a married woman, and vows never to seek more from her than a kiss. Both pay a terrific price in suffering, described with obvious assistance from Freud. The vow is kept.

Reaching the Holy Land in the company of a vagabond, a blinded heretic and a boy, old Ansiau is captured and enslaved by Arabs. With them he dies, a few miles from Jerusalem. Haguenier accidentally kills his father. To gain forgiveness for his sins of murder and desire, he enters a monastery.

The book reflects the complex paradoxes of the time that arise out of conflicts between behavior and spiritual ideals. Pious Ansiau has many sins for which to atone. The deceitful Herbert does do penance for his sins. Haguenier sins more in omission than commission, for his delicate health makes him generally ineffectual in a robust age.

Within all their hearts linger thoughts of Eglantine, bastard daughter of Ansiau and incestuous lover of Herbert. Cast off by Herbert, she turns to the worship of spirits, sees them and talks with them. Angry peasants kill her, because they think her magic has caused a drouth. Ironically, as soon as she falls dead, a torrential rainstorm breaks the drouth.

The Christian faith is the cornerstone of the novel for it describes a period when the living faith is deeply involved in daily life. To Ansiau, it represents the highest feudal obligation. To Herbert, the Church is a powerful enemy or ally. Haguenier alone found Christianity a sufficient life in itself.

The book is written with remarkably good taste and sound scholarship. The licentiousness is treated as a social phenomenon, not as a bait for readers. The rich detail is worked naturally into the action. It is a solid, informative and fascinating novel. RICHARD ROSE.

Hard Fisted Spaceman

NORTHWEST OF EARTH, by C. L. Moore. (Gnome Press, 212 pgs., $3.)

The seven stories in this collection are a blend of fantasy, science fiction, wild adventure and high-blown melodrama. Northwest Smith, a character as implausible as his name, is the hero of several of the tales as a hard drinking, hard fisted spaceman, deadly to both ladies and crooks. If this sounds similar to innumerable heroes of pulp adventures, it is no accident. With the exception of the different locale — a spaceship instead of the lone prairie or the lower East Side of New York—there's not much difference.

WALTER LIPPMANN

Mr. Eisenhower's Off-the-Cuff Injustice

WASHINGTON.

IF THE PRESIDENT would reread the transcript of what he said last Wednesday at his press conference about the Ladejinsky case, he would not be happy about it. For what happened was this: after saying that he had not studied the case, he nevertheless allowed himself to be drawn into delivering off-the-cuff several damaging opinions about the case.

It is a distressing thing to say that the President involved himself in what is a grave miscarriage of justice. In the transcript, which always quotes Mr. Eisenhower in the third person, the President said that "he had never himself formed a judgment on this case, because he just hadn't time to take up the details of every one of these cases."

Ladejinsky

At another point he is quoted as saying that "he had not been through this evidence in detail. He has seen the summarized reports of it."

At another point he said that "the summary . . . had been read to him by the Secretary of Agriculture . . . he hadn't inquired into all of the circumstances . . . now as he remembered, he hadn't studied the other side of the question."

Uncleared by President.

The logical and the fair conclusion to have drawn from all these disclaimers was that he should then have declined to comment on the case beyond saying that the action of Mr. Stassen in employing Ladejinsky was the policy of his Administration.

Instead of that, the President used about a column of newspaper print to express his opinions, his feelings, his doubts about whether or not Ladejinsky, whose case he had not studied, is a security risk. The judgments of the President of the United States have great moral weight.

The net result is that Ladejinsky, who has been cleared by the State Department, who has been cleared again by Mr. Stassen's agency, and appointed to a critical and sensitive post in Indochina, is now uncleared by the President's comments at the press conference.

Cloud of Suspicion.

Secretary Benson's summary of the case "would scare him" . . . though "he hadn't studied the other side of the question." Mr. Stassen is responsible and he may have thought that the new job in Viet Nam "was not so sensitive that he (Ladejinsky) could damage the United States" as much, presumably, as he could damage the United States in his old post in Japan.

Thus though Mr. Ladejinsky had been formally cleared for the job in Viet Nam, the President's remarks about him deny him a moral clearance, and leave him under a cloud of suspicion.

This is cruel injustice. The Benson summary says that Ladejinsky is not entitled to the confidence of the Government which he has served for many years. This is as grave a charge as can be brought against a citizen, involving his honor and the integrity of his soul. When a government makes a charge against a citizen, be it that he has picked someone's pocket or that he is unworthy of trust, it is the duty of the government, it is the right of the citizen, to have the charge tried by due process and disposed of by a decision.

Unprepared to Speak.

Without that, when men can be accused without their cases being tried, there is for them no law and order, they are denied the elements of justice, the inviolable rights of the human person have been violated.

Ladejinsky is a man gravely accused by his Government and deprived of the right to have the accusation finally adjudicated.

No one will suppose that the President intended to do such an injustice. What happened, quite evidently it seems to me, was that he had not taken the trouble to prepare an answer to the inevitable question about the Ladejinsky case.

Unprepared and obviously uninformed about it, he failed to resist the impulse to soliloquize about the controversy. As he improvised, he fell back upon his proven political formula—that of the middle of the road—and sought to give the effect of balancing what could be said against and what could be said for Ladejinsky.

Answers to Be Reserved.

In a question of this kind, justice requires that after the pros and cons have been balanced, a verdict be reached. Either you trust a man or you do not. You cannot send him forth to represent the United States in a foreign land and then mark him as a man about whom the President said that maybe he is and maybe he is not a security risk.

This sad affair illustrates vividly the danger of ad libbing about highly sensitive matters. In this instance an individual has been injured and along with him the morale of the civil service of the United States. The same kind of improvising ad lib in foreign affairs could cause irreparable trouble.

Is it asking too much that the White House take a lot more care to see to it that the President is briefed before these press conferences; that on the obvious questions he has with him a considered reply, and that on the unexpected questions he learns to reserve his answers until he has had time to have an accurate answer prepared?

MAYOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO FR. DANIEL A. LORD

Death 'Irreparable Loss,' He Says; Services at College Church Wednesday.

St. Louis has suffered "an irreparable loss" in the death of the Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S.J., noted author, composer, playwright and lecturer, Mayor Raymond R. Tucker said today.

"Father Lord's life speaks more eloquently than any words I may use to eulogize him," Mayor Tucker said of the 66-year-old priest who continued in vigorous activity many months after learning a year ago that he had incurable lung cancer. He died Saturday at St. John's Hospital.

The Rev. Paul C. Reinert, S.J., president of St. Louis University, said of Father Lord: "Though his loss is in a sense tragic, it is heartening to realize that his buoyant influence will be felt for decades to come.

"For many years Father Dan Lord exercised an almost unequaled influence on thousands of individual Americans. Because of his unusual genius in all the media of communication and inspiration—drama, speech, music, literature—he achieved an audience that included teenagers as well as mature lay persons and members of religious communities.

"His happy, ever-youthful zest for the good that he hoped for and found in his fellow-humans brought joy and courage to the worried, tempted or diffident individuals who came within the sphere of his numberless activities."

Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter, Auxiliary Bishop Charles H. Helmsing and the Very Rev. Leonard M. Murray, S.J., president of St. Louis University High School, will conduct funeral services at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Francis Xavier (College), Church, Grand and Lindell boulevards.

The funeral will be from Arthur J. Donnelly undertaking establishment, 3840 Lindell, to the church at 9 a.m. Father Murray will celebrate the solemn requiem mass, Bishop Helmsing will preach and the archbishop will give final absolution. Burial will be in St. Stanislaus Seminary cemetery, Florissant.

Honorary pallbearers will include six physicians who attended Father Lord in his long illness. They are Drs. William P. Glennon, A. P. and G. A. Munsch, Leo Bartels, William L. Drake and Leo Trunko.

Fellow-Jesuit priests will be the active pallbearers—the Rev. Aloysius J. Hegg, the Rev. Herbert O. Walker, the Rev. Leo P. Wobido, the Rev. Benjamin R. Fulkerson, the Rev. John J. Campbell and the Rev. Patrick J. Holloran, former president of St. Louis University.

Attending the funeral will be about 50 diocesan directors of the Sodality of Our Lady in the United States, of which Father Lord was national director from 1925 to 1950. The directors, from all parts of the country, are attending their annual meeting in St. Louis. National headquarters of the soladity are at 3115 South Grand boleyard.

Much of the prolific product of Father Lord's typewriter was in the form of pamphlets and articles, whose theme generally was the fundamental truths seen with the eyes of a Catholic today, and the immediate problems arising from current issues, solved from the viewpoint of common sense and of Christ.

Like Milton, with his sonnet on his blindness, the articulate priest wrote about his illness and approaching death in an article titled "My Good Angel of Death" printed last July in the Catholic Digest.

"Since we all must die," he wrote, "God seems kindly when He sends a messenger in advance with a gentle but emphatic warning. . . . The realization that one has cancer sharpens one's whole outlook on life; the earth is more beautiful, the sky a little clearer, and every moment of the day precious, a thing to be hoarded.

"If there should be pain, Christ bore pain first and shares it in divine generosity.

"God knows His business, and I think He can handle this without too much worry from me."

RATHBONE TO SEE PRESIDENT ABOUT PARIS ART EXHIBIT

City Art Museum Director Perry T. Rathbone and a number of other American museum directors will confer Wednesday with President Eisenhower in Washington on arrangements for an art exhibition in Paris, it was learned today.

Rathbone said the St. Louis museum would lend for the show "The Greyhounds of the Comte de Choiseul," by Gustave Courbet.

This picture was presented to the museum by Mrs. Mark C. Steinberg, St. Louis collector. By unanimous vote of the museum directors' committee, "The Greyhounds" was chosen for the international loan exhibition. Other paintings are to be selected later from American public and private collections.

The display collection, to consist entirely of nineteenth century French paintings in America, will open in April at the Orangerie, the division of the Louvre Museum where the Fench Government holds its great loan shows. It will close July 4.

SYMPHONY BEGINS TOUR OF 21 CITIES

Orchestra Will Give First Concert Tonight at Jackson, Miss.

First concert by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra on its annual extended tour of 21 cities in nine southeastern and central states will be given this evening in College Park Auditorium, Jackson, Miss.

The 3000-mile tour will take the musicians to Florida for the first time in the history of the orchestra which has covered about every section of the nation except the West Coast. The orchestra will return Feb. 8 and resume its regular concerts Saturday evening, Feb. 12, and Sunday afternoon, Feb. 13 when violinist Isaac Stern and cellist Gregor Piatigorsky will appear on the same program.

Vladimir Golschmann, permanent conductor, will lead the orchestra on tour despite the handicap of a recently broken left ankle. He will conduct from a sitting position while the ankle, inclosed in a plaster cast, rests on a special foot stand designed by Clarence Gesner, stage manager.

After tonight, the schedule will be Mobile, Ala., tomorrow; Montgomery, Ala., Wednesday; Columbus, Ga., Thursday; Jacksonville, Fla., Friday; Orlando, Fla., Saturday; West Palm Beach, Fla., Monday, Jan. 24; Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Jan. 25; Miami, Fla., Jan. 26; Tampa, Fla., Jan. 27; Lakeland, Fla., Jan. 29.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 30; Daytona Beach, Fla., Jan. 31; Savannah, Ga., Feb. 1; Spartanburg, S.C., Feb. 2; Raleigh, N.C., Feb. 3; Greensboro, N.C., Feb. 4; Roanoke, Va., Feb. 5; Portsmouth, O., Feb. 6, and Muncie, Ind., Feb. 7.

ART GUILD NAMES JURORS FOR $450 COMPETITION

Three jurors for a $450 Christmas card design contest sponsored by the Artists' Guild and First National Bank in St. Louis were announced today by Mrs. Otie Durbin, executive secretary of the guild. The jurors will be Paul Stoddard, St. Louis advertising artist; Rudolf Czufin, executive art director of Gardner Advertising Co., and Jim Harmon, Ladue high school art teacher and a former president of the guild.

Entries in the competition will be received at the guild, 812 Union boulevard, today and tomorrow from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. and Wednesday from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. They are to be water colors of St. Louis subjects.

Winners will be announced at a reception Saturday at 4 p. m. at the guild. The picture awarded the $250 purchase prize of the bank is to be reproduced as the bank's 1955 holiday greeting card.

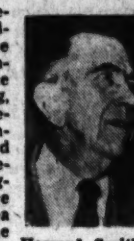

THOMAS L. STOKES

Democratic Give-and-Take in Congress

WASHINGTON.

ONE OF THE MAJOR PROBLEMS of the Democratic party in its new Eighty-fourth Congress is to get on the books enough social welfare legislation at least to match the "progressive moderate" program asked by President Eisenhower.

The Democratic party needs a good record for the 1956 presidential election. It faces some difficulty in this respect because of the management and domination of the party in Congress by the Southern wing, which is predominantly conservative and does not represent the far bigger and more populous area outside the South where elections, including that of 1956, have to be won. This excessive Southern weighting is more of a handicap in the House than in the Senate.

Howard Smith

Part of the story, told in details here before, lies in the fact that 12 of the 19 House committee chairmanships are held by men from the Old South, with two from the border states of Kentucky and Missouri, and only five from that great area beyond the South. The speaker also is a Southerner, Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas.

G.O.P.-South Coalition.

One committee in particular always presents a special problem. This is the Rules Committee. Though supposed to be a sort of traffic director to decide in what order bills are considered by the House, how long and under what rules they are to be debated, this authority has been stretched in the past to embrace the power to pigeonhole bills approved by legislative committees and keep them off the floor.

A coalition of Republicans and conservative Southern Democrats on this committee frequently blocked New Deal-Fair Deal social welfare measures, particularly in the latter years of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Administration and in the succeeding Truman Administration. But it was a delaying factor even earlier in the Roosevelt New Deal.

For example, it took two years to get past the House Rules Committee the original wage-hour bill to put a floor on wages and a ceiling on working hours. That was in 1938. That issue arises again now in President Eisenhower's request to increase the statutory minimum wage from 75 to 90 cents an hour. Southerners already are questioning that, though some Democrats outside the South would boost the figure above 90 cents.

The Rules Committee problem looked like a ticklish one in the new Eighty-fourth Congress because the man who succeeded to the chairmanship, Representative Howard Smith of Virginia, has been a prime mover in blockade of social welfare legislation in the past. He is most skillful at legislative maneuver. A way was open to surround him with some restraints, however, in the five places on the committee to be filled by Democrats with the change in control of Congress now stands.

The Democratic leadership, headed up in Speaker Rayburn, who is familiar from long experience with the Rules Committee blockade, now has filled those five seats. He has put on men whose leanings would indicate sufficient flexibility to approve at least a moderate social welfare program, though this is by no means guaranteed.

Favorable Atmosphere.

There still is a possibility of a successful Southern Democrat-Republican coalition. Four of the eight Democratic members are Southerners as the committee now stands.

The Democratic leadership by its assignments to committees appears to have provided a favorable atmosphere for at least a moderate program.

This seems true, for example, in the Education and Labor Committee which handles minimum wage and aid to education bills, and in the Interstate Commerce Committee which has jurisdiction in health legislation.

Texas Is for Taxes.

As the leader of the Democratic party in the Senate—Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas—took pains to protect the oil and natural gas interests of his state in committee assignments, so did the Texan who is Speaker of the House. A Texan was named to both the Rules Committee and the Ways and Means Committee.

Two Texans were named to the Interstate Commerce Committee, which has high on its calendar a bill sought by oil and affiliated natural gas interests to curb the regulatory authority of the Federal Power Commission over natural gas.

CHARLES GREEN DIES, HORSESHOW JUDGE

MOBERLY, Mo., Jan. 16 (AP) Charles Green, a nationally known horseshow judge and manager died at his home near Moberly yesterday. He was 68 years old.

Mr. Green was manager of the Grand National Horseshow in San Francisco and for nine years, until 1941, was secretary of the Missouri State Fair.

He was also secretary-treasurer of the Western Trotting Horse Breeders' Association.

He had been in ill health recently, following a brain tumor operation last August.

Mr. Green is survived by his wife; two brothers, Joseph Green of Centralia, Mo., and Z. W. Green of Long Beach, Calif.; and a sister, Miss Jennie Green, also of Centralia.

Funeral services will be tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Moberly.

FUNERAL FOR THAD SNOW HELD IN CHARLESTON, MO.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHARLESTON, Mo., Jan. 17—Funeral services were held here today for Thad Snow, farmer, author and philosopher of "Swampeast Missouri," who died Saturday at St. Mary's Hospital, Cairo, Ill. He was 73 years old and had been in ill health for several years.

Mr. Snow was born at Greenfield, Ind. He moved to Mississippi county in southeast Missouri in 1910. The phrase "Swampeast Missouri" was coined by him to describe the area which, once it was drained and cleared, yielded rich crops. His book, "From Missouri: An American Farmer Looks Back," was published Nov. 8.

Surviving are a son, Hal Snow, Wichita, Kan., and a daughter, Mrs. Robert DeLaney, who lives on the family farm a few miles east of Charleston. In his youth, Mr. Snow had been a friend and hunting companion of James Whitcomb Riley.

MRS. HOBBY NAMES GROUP TO STUDY FOOD, DRUG LAWS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby yesterday named a committee of 14 citizens "to evaluate the adequacy of enforcement of the federal pure food and drug laws."

Mrs. Hobby said the committee will recommend the amount and kind of enforcement "which will best serve the interests of the country."

Pole-Vault One Event The Russians Won't Win.

IN all reasonable probability there's one event on the 1956 Olympic program that athletes representing Russia in the Games at Melbourne, Australia might as well scratch off their list of expected victories. . . . That's the pole-vault.

Two happenings last week made it all but certain (barring physical accidents) that the United States team will be able to put a 15-foot vaulter against the world's next best competitor in this most spectacular contest. . . . His name? . . . The Rev. Robert Richards, Olympic champion in 1952 and great athlete as well as popular pastor of a Long Beach (Calif.) congregation.

* * *

Last week athletics-minded persons suffered a chill, briefly. . . . That was when it was feared Richards's athletic standing might be impaired because of gifts of an automobile and other articles on a TV program.

The situation was clarified by A.A.U. officials who pointed out that the "This is Your Life" TV program emphasized Richards's church work even more prominently than his athletic achievements. . . . They okayed acceptance of the gifts.

* * *

Then, too, on Saturday night the A.A.U. okay was followed by Richards's appearance in the vaulting event at K. of C. games at Boston Garden, when he cleared the bar at 15 feet 3¼ inches, breaking his own previous mark by three-fourths of an inch.

No news of a Russian vaulter able to approach this height has appeared in the records, to date. Technique, rather than brawn, is needed to clear the bar at the 15-foot altitude—or higher.

* * *

U.S. Beaten Only Once In Olympic Pole-Vault.

IF Richards retains his present form through the Melbourne games the United States will no doubt maintain its almost complete victory monopoly of this event. . . . And should anything prevent Preacher Richards from vaulting in Australia, we'd still probably win.

* * *

In reserve the United States team will have Don Laz, who, on occasion, also has soared over the bar at 15 feet or better.

Only one athlete from another country has halted our otherwise complete domination of this Olympic competition. . . . And his success was not achieved in a regular revival of the quadrennially - held games, but in an intermediate Olympic competition, held in Athens in 1906.

* * *

At that meeting, approved by the Olympic committee to help Greece celebrate the rebuilding of the Olympic Stadium, the French pole-vault winner was F. Gouder, who won the gold medal by vaulting only 11 ft. 6 in.!

* * *

So far no vaulter has cleared the 15-foot height in an Olympic test. . . . Not even Preacher Bob could do better than 14 ft. 11, in setting the present Olympic record at Helsinki.

* * *

THIS is in spite of the fact that the world record vault was set nearly 13 years ago by the famous Cornelius Warmerdam, altitude 15 ft. 7¾ in. Warmerdam flourished in times when war and threats of war shut out Olympic contests between 1936 and 1948 . . . when resumed at London Warmerdam had retired.

* * *

The most thrilling—although probably the most long-drawn-out Olympic vaulting struggle was held in 1936 in Berlin at the great Olympic pageant staged by that fantastic world figure Adolf Hitler. . . . In all history no Olympic revival was ever so politically dramatized.

* * *

On that Olympic occasion Japan's wire-muscled little athletes were strong contenders against three great American vaulters. . . . The trials began in the afternoon and when the lights were turned on that evening the tiring athletes were still vaulting. . . . California's Earle Meadows, after about five hours, was the sole survivor, clearing the bar as more than 50,000 persons looked on—height 14 ft. 3¼ in.

* * *

Vault for Distance? They Had to, in Britain.

A FAN interested in the Rev. Mr. Richards's case and in his pole-vaulting specialty inquires: "Did they ever use poles to gain distance, rather than height?"

We were not around when vaulting began. . . . But we've read, or heard it argued that vaulting for height was a by-product of vaulting for distance. . . . According to some authorities pole-vaulting originally was not a sport but a means of travel through the fens or marshes existing during early times in parts of the British Isles. . . . Denizens of the fens used poles to move to another.

* * *

The sporting spirit could hardly have failed to develop competition to determine which vaulter could leap the farthest.

A vault for height would seem to have been an obvious follow-up. . . . Besides, maybe cross-country travelers had to get over fences as well as fens.

Italy Trims Belgium.

BARI, Italy, Jan. 17 (AP)—Italy fought to a 1-0 victory over a surprisingly strong Belgian national team in an international soccer game played before 50,000 excited fans.

Most Are Sticking To Form

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—Mid-year examinations will slow down the action on the college basketball front this week and a good thing it is. The coaches probably will take that long to figure out just where they stand in this crazy-quilt season.

One thing is certain—no team will be fighting to preserve an unblemished record. The undefeated list has been whittled down to a nice, round number—zero — with the demise of Auburn.

Alabama turned the trick Saturday, 99-78, and it wasn't particularly unexpected. 'Bama had been rated the team most likely to give Kentucky a fight for the Southeastern Conference title. Auburn had won seven in a row.

Actually, most of the conference races still are up in the air, but some trends are obvious.

Indiana, for example, appears to be out of the running in the Big Ten. The defending champions showed signs of life a week ago, but they haven't been able to do a thing since.

Kentucky, despite its stunning defeat nine days ago, still is the No. 1 team in the country and the loss to Georgia Tech, which snapped a 32-game winning streak, has not bothered the Wildcats.

Most of the conference races have followed form so far. If form holds up until the final returns are in and the N.C.A.A. tournament gets under way, the experts should look good.

One Mild Surprise.

Here is how the major loops stand:

Big Ten—Illinois and Minnesota are tied for the lead with Indiana in the cellar. The Illini, who turned back Robin Freeman and Ohio State, 86-78, Saturday, were rated highly before the season started. Minnesota is a mild surprise. There are three conference games tonight with Illinois-Iowa the most important. Indiana-Michigan State and Northwestern-Purdue are the others.

Pacific Coast—Southern California, the defending champion, looks to be heading for a fall. The Trojans dropped two games to U.C.L.A. over the weekend. That left U.C.L.A. and Stanford tied for the Southern Division lead with 3-1 marks. They all are idle this week.

Big Seven—Missouri, the preseason favorite, leads with a 3-0 mark. The Tigers will try to strengthen their margin against Kansas State Wednesday. They have already beaten K-State once.

Atlantic Coast — Only two games will be played in the next two weeks in the league. North Carolina, currently in the lead, plays North Carolina State, the No. 2 team in the country in the latest Associated Press poll, in one of them tomorrow. North Carolina shows a 6-1 loop record, but it has been gained mostly at the expense of the second division teams. This should be where North Carolina starts dropping back.

Southwest Conference—Texas Christian, true to expectations, is undefeated in conference play, and, in fact, is the only school with a good overall mark, 11-3. Only four league games will be played this week, with T.C.U. figured to gain ground at the expense of Texas A. and M. Saturday.

Kentucky Is Seventh.

Southeastern Conference—Kentucky, of all things is in seventh place with a 1-1 record while Vanderbilt and Alabama are at the top with 3-0. Both the leaders have pretty good clubs and could make trouble. Vanderbilt has two games this week, one tonight with Mississippi and one Saturday with Georgia Tech.

Ivy League—Cornell is the leader, but any of five teams could win it. The Big Red shows a 5-1 record, followed by Penn with a 4-1, Columbia with 3-1 and Princeton with 2-1. Even Dartmouth, with a 2-2 mark, still has a chance.

Southern Conference — Richmond, a high scoring outfit, could be the strongest team in the circuit, although George Washington was the critics' choice at the start of the season. West Virginia is out front with a 4-0 mark, but the league champion is determined by the conference tournament March 3, 4 and 5, rather than by regular season play. Richmond is second with a 6-1 record.

Skyline—It has been all Utah so far with no reason to believe anything will change it. The Utes have two games this week against Wyoming and Colorado A. and M. and when they are over the title should be about wrapped up.

Missouri Valley—Wichita, the favorite, has been a disappointment and a defeat by St. Louis Saturday will drop Ralph Miller's outfit into last place. Clarence Iba's Tulsa team is on top with a 2-0 record after whipping Wichita 67-65 last Saturday.

Rock Mountain—The two big games this week pit Idaho State against Colorado State on Friday and Saturday. If either makes a sweep, the league title could be all but decided. Idaho State is the defending champion.

Kirkwood Setter Wins Shooting Dog Trial

A male setter captured top place in the St. Louis Field Trial Association's shooting dog stake when Zev's Peerless Dan was named the winner in the trial ending yesterday at the August A. Busch Memorial Wildlife Area, Weldon Spring.

Forty-Niners Steal the Show As West Wins Pro Bowl Game

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17 (UP) — End Billy Wilson of San Francisco, who spent as much time in the East's defensive backfield as any of the East's players, was hailed today as the "most valuable player" in the fifth annual All-Star Pro Football Bowl game.

Wilson latched onto a total of 11 passes, good for 157 yards and one touchdown, as the West came from behind in the fourth quarter to beat the East, 26-19, and cut the East's lead in the series to three games to two.

Sharing the spotlight with Wilson were two of his San Francisco Forty-Niner teammates—Quarterback Y. A. Tittle, who passed to two touchdowns, and Fullback Joe Perry, who scored another—and Coach Buck Shaw, the dismissed Forty-Niner coach who guided the West team.

All in all, it was an afternoon to make Forty-Niner fans among the throng of 43,972 wonder why the talent-laden Forty-Niners never have won a division title.

Browns' Stars Off Form.

The fans also were puzzled by the vagaries of Lou Groza's famed toe. The big Cleveland Browns' tackle, considered the most accurate place-kicker in the game, missed two field goals and two out of three conversions for the East. Two of his kickoffs, ironically, perfectly split the uprights from 60 yards out.

And Cleveland's Otto Graham, playing in his fifth and last Pro Bowl game, passed for a touchdown in the first quarter, but thereafter could complete only three of 16 passes.

At the outset, it looked as though the West would hand the game to Philadelphia Coach Jim Trimble's Easterners on a platter. With Tittle having trouble holding the snaps from center Leon McLaughlin, the West lost the ball on fumbles three times in their own territory and the East turned two of the bobbles into quick scores in the first period.

33-Yard TD Pass by Burk.

A 35-yard field goal by Detroit's Doak Walker cut the margin to 13-6, but the East snapped back on a 33-yard touchdown pass from Adrian Burk of Philadelphia to the ageless Bones Taylor of the Redskins.

In the second half, the West's defensive unit stopped Burk's and Graham's passes, while Tittle hit Chicago Bear Rookie Hanlon Hill on a 42-yard scoring play and Walker kicked a 30-yard field goal. That tied it at 19-19.

Three plays after the field goal, Burk was rushed hard and threw badly. La Verne Torgeson picked the pass off on the East 41 and returned to the three-yard line. Perry smashed over for the winning score on the second play.

Agganis Signs.

BOSTON, Jan. 17 (UP)—First Baseman Harry Agganis has signed to play for the Red Sox in 1955, General Manager Joe Cronin announced today.

Bribery and Fixing of Fights Charged, Boxing Club Is Suspended

ANDERSON, Ind., Jan. 17 (UP) —The Amateur Athletic Union has suspended an Indianapolis boxing club pending investigation of fight scandals.

W. Leo Sanders, Anderson, Indiana A.A.U. president, announced the suspension following a meeting at Columbus, O., with N. J. Barack, chairman of the National A.A.U. Boxing Commission.

He said Sunday that since the Indianapolis club is being investigated, it is "to be placed on an inactive status effective today."

Two promoters of the club, Norb Updyke and Eugene (Tiny) Bland, still face charges of child abuse growing out of a raid at their gym a month ago. Youthful boxers accused the promoters of alleged bribing and fight fixing.

Sanders said the club gym may be kept open and A.A.U.-registered boxers may continue to work out.

Camel-Rider Hops a Bobsled And U.S. Airmen Go Over Hump, Flying Blind, for Title Upset

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Jan. 17 (UP) — Two 21-year-old United States Air Force men, Joseph E. Le Bouef and William T. Williams, scored an upset victory yesterday in the European junior bobsled championships.

In a blinding snowstorm that forced Le Bouef to take off his snow-smeared goggles in midrace, the two Americans covered the corkscrew one-mile Olympic run in one minute 37.33 seconds to overtake the Swiss team of A. Gartman and G. Fuenn which topped the standings at Saturday's halfway mark.

The victory of the two Americans over nine other teams from five European countries, including two Iron Curtain squads, was the more amazing as Williams had never seen a bobsled before he arrived here a week ago.

"I used to ride camels, but never a bobsled," Williams said. An A-1C operator with the 316 United States Air Division, he is stationed in Rabat, French Morocco.

United States Coach Capt. Dick Severino, who is entered for the world championships here next weekend, was "amazed" about the upset victory of his team. He promptly nominated Le Bouef and Williams as the American reserve team for the World Cup and said Le Bouef might replace American ex-World Champion Lloyd Johnson if Johnson could not take part in the world championships because of the injuries he suffered in a crash at Garmisch, Germany, earlier this month.

Le Bouef, an A-2C aircraft technician of the 7100 Maintenance Squadron at U.S.A.F. European headquarters at Wiesbaden, Germany, steered the bobsleigh through the four hairpin-bends of the run at top speed despite a visibility of almost zero.

Yesterday's heat time and Saturday's time of 1:34.48 gave the American team an aggregate time of 3:08.81 which was 18 hundredths of a second faster than the total of the runners-up, Switzerland's B. Gartman and J. Alder who clocked 1:35.13 and 1:33.36 for their two heats, totalling 3:08.99.

A. Gartman and Fuenn, who were the fastest team Saturday with a time of 1:30.54; clocked a slow 1:38.61 for their second heat, totaling 3:09.35 for third placing.

Golden Gloves Tourney Opens Tonight at Kiel

A record 496-fighter field will begin swinging tonight at Kiel Auditorium as the twentieth annual Golden Gloves boxing tournament makes its yearly stand here. Some of the boxers, however, won't have to draw on a glove until tomorrow night—or perhaps Wednesday night—if they're fortunate enough to be in divisions with few entries.

But some will be required to work overtime to qualify for tomorrow night's second round and Wednesday evening's semi-final round.

Time of the first bout tonight is 6:30, and those fans who prefer seeing the more experienced Open Division battlers are in for a long wait. The Open swingers won't take over until the 159th bout of the program. The Globe-Democrat is sponsoring the tournament, as in other years.

And in bout No. 163 one contestant will be one of last year's most able performers. He is Jesse Bowdry, of Tony Anderson's Rock A.C. team, who last year fought as a novice lightweight. Bowdry has grown into a full-fledged middleweight at age 17, and will be tested by Palmer Hubbard of Vashon's defending team champions. Bowdry, who owns a decision over defending Open lightweight titlist David Earl, has been appearing in the Gloves classics since he was 13. And he's won a championship — and put on weight each year. The 160-pound champ, Les Temple, of Sam Westbrook's Vashon contingent, is not able to defend. He's a G.I. in Uncle Sam's Army.

All eight Open winners, who won't be determined until Friday night, Jan. 28, will represent this city at Chicago where, a year ago, they captured St. Louis's second team championship. In 1946, Jackie Dickers, Bob Foxworth, Eddie Dames and Mike Buha helped gain the points that brought the first team trophy to St. Louis.

The last bout of tonight's long session will match Bob Johnson of the Neighborhood Association and Frank Cisco of Gamble Recreation Center in a heavyweight Open scrap.

Open pairings:
Ike Bollinger, Bootheel, vs. Eddie Baker, Gamble Recreation Center; 135-pound.
Willie Manns, Carr Recreation Center, vs. Donald Owens, Fort Leonard Wood; 138-pound.
Calvin Smith, Neighborhood Assn., vs. Joe Graves, St. Marr's of Bridgeton, Mo.; 147-pound.
Jessie Bowdry, Rock A.C., vs. Palmer Hubbard, Vashon Recreation Center; 160-pound.
Robert Cox, St. Paul Social Center, vs. Dave Coulter, Quincy, Ill.; 175-pound.
Perry Davis, Tandy Recreation Center, vs. Kenneth Silvers, St. Paul Social Center; Heavyweight.
Robert Johnson, Neighborhood Assn., vs. Frank Cisco, Gamble Recreation Center; Heavyweight.

Swiss Soccer Team Wins.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17 (UP)—The touring Zurich Grasshoppers soccer team made a clean sweep of its American invasion yesterday by overpowering the San Francisco All-Stars, 11-2, before a crowd of about 5000 in Balboa Stadium. At Los Angeles last week the Grasshoppers defeated the Southern California All-Stars, 11-1, and the Maggar club, 7-0. The team now leaves for Honolulu.

Poona II Replaces Determine as Anita Handicap Favorite

CALIENTE, Mex., Jan. 17 (AP)

IRISH-BRED Poona II yesterday displaced Determine as the favorite in the Caliente future book on the Santa Anita Handicap on the strength of his new world record in Saturday's San Fernando Stakes at Santa Anita.

Poona II, which turned the mile and a sixteenth in 1:40 4-5, was cut to 2 to 1 after heavy wagering. Determine was upped from 2 to 3 to 1.

Poona went from an original 30-1 to 15-1 and then was slashed to 4-1 before pricemaker Tony Alessio cut him to 2-1.

Rejected went up from 4-1 to 5-1, and two Calumet farm horses, Mark-Ye-Well and Duke's Lea, which had opened at 20-1, were in fourth spot at 6-1. Helioscope and Joe Jones were quoted at 8-1 along with Imbros, a stablemate of Determine.

McDermott Shines in Eastern Skates Trials

GROSSINGER, N.Y., Jan. 17 (AP)—Don McDermott, a member of the 1952 Olympic team from Englewood Cliffs, N.J., will carry the chief hopes of the east in the Olympic speed skating trials at St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21-Feb. 4.

The 24-year-old speedster dominated the eastern trials over the weekend, winning the 500 and 5000 meter events on Saturday and the 1500 and 10,000 yesterday.

Patterson 3-1 Choice to Gain 20th Victory

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (UP)—Twenty-year-old Floyd Patterson of Brooklyn, already ranked fourth among light heavyweight contenders, engages in his first 10-round bout tonight against Don Grant of Los Angeles at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena.

Although each has lost but one fight in his brief career, Patterson is favored at 3-1 to win their television scrap. (The fight will be telecast over WTVI.)

For tonight's TV (Dumont) fight at St. Nicholas arena, middleweight Moses Ward of Detroit is favored at 2-1 over Milo Savage of Salt Lake City. Neither has an impressive record.

On Television Tonight.

The middleweight boxing bout at St. Nicholas Arena, New York tonight between Moses Ward of Detroit and Milo Savage, of Salt Lake City, will not be televised here by WTVI. However, the station announced, the light-heavyweight go, between Don Grant, Los Angeles, and Floyd Patterson, Brooklyn, will be carried. This bout will be held at New York's Eastern Parkway Arena.

Wertz Accepts Indians' Terms

CLEVELAND, Jan. 17 (AP)—Vic Wertz, a holdout for three days while he insisted on a token raise, today accepted the same salary he got last year from the Cleveland Indians. The salary is about $25,000.

The 29-year-old first baseman phoned from his home in Detroit and told general manager Hank Greenberg, "I guess it's a bit early for me to give any serious thought to retiring from baseball."

He had threatened to quit and concentrate on his beer distributorship in Mt. Clemens, Mich.

The Indians got Wertz last June from the Baltimore Orioles. He finished with a .256 batting average, and topped the Indians with a .500 average in the World Series.

Bills Hope to Share Lead in Valley Scramble

Tulsa and St. Louis U. have emerged as the only Missouri Valley Conference basketball teams unbeaten in league action and the Bills will test their right to share the top position Saturday night against Wichita U. here.

It has been apparent for some time that the Valley Conference race this year will be a dog-eat-dog proposition, and results continue to substantiate that idea.

Wichita, now owning a 9 and 3 overall record, was a pre-season choice for the title in the Valley but the Shockers during the past week got a shock. They were beaten by Tulsa and Oklahoma A. & M., the second defeat coming Saturday night at Wichita where Tulsa was 67-65 winner.

Clarence Iba's Tulsa team, which previously had won from Detroit, thus moved to the head of the league with a 2-0 record. St. Louis, with a triumph in overtime over Houston, is next with 1-0.

The Billikens made the past week an impressive one, first with a school record 102-82 decision over Drake and then a powerhouse 98-75 victory over Bradley U. Both were non-conference games.

In the bunched-up league race now Detroit (2-3) and Oklahoma A. & M. (1-1) stand at .500. Wichita is fifth with a 1-2 mark and Houston, which is capable of doing further damage in late-season games at home, is last at 1-3.

Houston got into high gear Saturday with a 107-66 victory over Texas A. & M., after previously having won from Oklahoma City U., 75-63. Oklahoma A. & M., which earlier had made 43 free throws in its victory over Wichita, defeated North Texas, 79-52.

The St. Louis-Wichita contest is the only conference game on the schedule this week, in which semester examinations are starting for the athletes. The non-conference schedule also is light, with Seattle playing at Wichita and Oklahoma City at Tulsa Thursday night.

Tulsa's victory at Wichita emphasized its position as a dark horse. Bob Patterson, the Hurricane's leading shooter, scored 28 points. Tulsa came from behind in the last four minutes to take the important victory.

St. Philip Advances In Playoff

By Dent McSkimming

Carefully charted plans of the C.Y.C. soccer committee specified that the winners of yesterday's first-round games in the Senior playoffs would meet next Sunday and one club would be eliminated from the four-club series. But the secretary in charge of drawing up those nice charts is nursing a bad headache today because a little fellow named Ralph Spevere was so unco-operative yesterday.

Ralph, playing outside left for the St. Paul team, disregarded the form chart that said St. Paul was likely to lose to St. Ambrose by at least a couple of goals. With his team trailing, 2-0, in the second half, he turned two meager scoring chances into thrilling goals and a tie score. In spite of 55 minutes of overtime play, added to the regulation one-hour game, the score remained tied when officials called a halt.

So now, these teams must try again next Sunday, while St. Philip, winner of the second game, and St. Agatha, loser, stand idle.

For the greater part of the second half it appeared St. Philip, defending champion, and St. Agatha might duplicate that first game deadlock. They were tied at 2-2, and again at 3-3, but Bobby Kehoe's third goal of the game finally gave the champions their winning edge, 4-3.

Challenging Kehoe in his scoring burst was an old pal, Hal Weigel. They had been teammates on the Kutis team. Hal, in two typical dashes through the center, rifled a couple of grand shots past Goalie Jack Geary to keep St. Agatha in the fight. Other goals were by Right Halfback Tony Solari for St. Philip, a perfectly headed shot from Ray Eisele's corner kick, and by Jim Kendrick of St. Agatha who finished off a neat pass from Emil Brcic.

For St. Ambrose, Outside Left Vasco Gasperoni opened the scoring by taking advantage of a fumble by Goalie Justin Fitzgerald. The goalie should have easily disposed of a high corner kick by Lou Farotto, but he muffed his catch and Vasco pounded the ball into the open goal, just a minute after the opening whistle. Midway in the second half, Charley Miramonti scored from close quarters after a series of St. Ambrose shots had been blocked and deflected. With a 2-0 lead, it looked like a sure triumph for the boys from The Hill.

However, as the St. Paul players increased the force and vigor of their tackling, St. Ambrose's general superiority in ball handling and more accurate passing faded. The game grew rough, there were several near fights, but no serious damage and the players left the field in good spirits. Their replay will need the very strongest officiating.

Even granting that the St. Agatha defense was not impressive, it appears that St. Philip has the strongest scoring threat of the four finalists.

Sensational saves were contributed by Fitzgerald. . . . In fact, all four goalies were star performers, Fitzgerald the best. . . . Bob Fitzgerald switching from inside right to left fullback, was the key man in the St. Paul defense which held St. Ambrose scoreless for about 70 minutes. . . . All four teams were guilty of too much wild kicking.

Soccer doesn't win many friends among the spectators when the ball is booted into the air by kickers who have no aim but to get rid of the thing. . . . Closest thing to good football was by St. Ambrose and St. Philip. . . . C.Y.C. Secretary Bob Guelker announced 830 paid to see the games.

Opening match on the triple header saw Holy Rosary defeat St. Paul, 2-1, for the Midget Division championship. . . . The players are in the 15-year-age group. . . . Next Sunday, Juvenile and Parochial division championships will be played on the program with the St. Ambrose-St. Paul play-off.

Simpkins and Pastures Win

Simpkins soccer team picked up two points on the Khoury League leaders, Carondelet, yesterday by defeating Jack Diamonds, 7-0, while Pastures were dumping Carondelet, 3-2. Now Joe Numi's team is four points behind Nick Scalfano's southside team as the league season nears a close. Simpkins have to make up two postponed games.

Gino Pariani scored three times as Simpkins outclassed the Diamonds in their game at Fairground. Joe Fernandez, John Traina, Bill Lange and Frank Wallace scored the other points. Meramecs, who will oppose Simpkins soon in a Missouri semifinal of the National Amateur tournament, shut out Polish N.A., 5-0.

At Carondelet Park, Walnut Park scored its second victory in 12 league games in upsetting the Brehenys, 3-2. And in the second game, Pastures came fast in the second half to overcome C.A.C.'s 2-0 advantage. Bob Spiess scored two goals and Walter Bange rammed home the winning marker. Pat Lavin, Pastures' inside right, had a big part in providing the scoring openings.

County A.C. scored a 3-1 victory over Richmond Heights in a County Soccer League game at Fee Fee Gardens.

When the Ford-Lapin team of Kansas City failed to appear as scheduled for its National Amateur Cup match with Kutis at Cherokee Park, the St. Louis team was declared winner on a forfeit. Cup Commissioner Harry Luecke announced that Kutis is now in the Missouri final round where it will oppose the winner of the Simpkins-Meramec game to be played soon.

Fix Mix Wins Muny South League Title

Fix Mix clinched the South League title in Muny Basketball Association play with a 63-49 victory over the Scotts at Sherman Center, giving the winners a record of 7-and-2 in regular-season play.

The Muny playoffs are scheduled to start in two weeks, and the Collegians qualified for them by being runners-up to Fix Mix, with a 66-35 victory over the 138th Infantry. The Collegians' final record is 6-and-3.

In the Muny's North League, the championship North team defeated Manchester 65 to 56. The second-place Prisco team defeated the U. S. Coast Guard, 74 to 44.

Middlecoff Shows Younger Set How to Hit High C, for Cash, In Bing Crosby Golf Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Jan. 17 (UP)—The youngsters today have another lesson to paste in the hatbands regarding the touring golf professionals: Never write off an old pro.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, 34, who has been on the circuit for years, picked up a $3500 check today for his efforts in the $15,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur golf tournament which ended yesterday.

Middlecoff, on the final day of the tournament, gave such Johnny-Come-Latelys as Gene Littler and Bobby Rosburg a lesson in the business of playing under pressure.

Middlecoff made putts of 30, 30 and 12 feet when the going was roughest at Pebble Beach to fire a one-under-par 71 on one of the toughest courses in the world for a 54-hole total of 209. That spread-eagled the field in the pro division by four strokes, and was worth $2500.

He paired with Ed Crowley of Los Angeles to finish in second place in the pro-amateur division and collected another $1000.

Furgol Earns $200.

Littler and Rosburg, who had been right on the heels of Middlecoff when they started, faded to scores of a 76 for Littler and a 77 for the San Francisco youngster.

Ed Furgol, the National Open champion, had a 75 for a 217 total. His fellow St. Louis pro, Dutch Harrison, who won the tournament last year, finished with a 78 for a 223 total. Furgol, tied with Jack Burke Jr. and Jimmie Demaret in the final standings, earned $200.

The pro-amateur division was won by another team of veterans, Byron Nelson and auto mogul Ed Lowery of San Francisco. They finished with a rush when the going was toughest to post a best-ball of 64 on Pebble Beach and a 54-hole best ball of 195.

The sad part about the whole tournament was the finish of young Rosburg, considered one of the brightest lights on the tournament trail. He started the day one stroke behind Middlecoff in the pro division and, teamed with Hank Mann of San Francisco, held a six-stroke lead over the field in the best-ball division.

Pot of Gold Spilled.

That gave him a theoretical chance to win $4000 by winning in both divisions. Instead he ended up in a three-way tie for third place in the pro-amateur, good for $550, and in a three-way tie for sixth place in the professional division, good for $300. So instead of collecting $4000 or thereabouts, he made $850.

Second-place finishers in the pro division were Paul McGuire, 26-year-old star from Wichita, Kan., and Julius Boros, former National Open champion from Mid Pines, N. C. They had 213 totals and collected $1250 each. Veteran Vic Ghezzi and another oldtimer of the tour, Stan Leonard of Vancouver, B. C., tied for fourth with 215, collecting $600 each.

Littler, Rosburg and Doug Ford were deadlocked at 216 and each got $300.

Four Members Added To Khoury Rules Group

The Khoury Baseball Association Rules and Protest Committee has added the services of four men, it has been announced. The new members are Jim Tobin, Leonard Sanker, Joe Brauer and John Sturm.

Sturm is a former New York Yankee first baseman. Sanker and Brauer have been associated with the Khoury organization. Tobin, currently a supervisor for seven minor leagues in the United States and for the Mexican Winter League, also is umpire-in-chief for the N.C.A.A. He has been an umpire in the Eastern League, the International League and the American Association.

Jablonski Signs Reds' Contract

CINCINNATI, Jan. 17 (UP)—Ray Jablonski signed his 1955 contract with the Cincinnati Redlegs yesterday and general manager Gabe Paul predicted the former St. Louis Cardinal slugger "will give Ted Kluszewski an excellent chance to beat Babe Ruth's mark of 60 homers in one season."

"With Jablonski's big right-handed bat in the lineup, opposing managers won't be able to throw so many left-handed pitchers at the Redlegs," Paul said. "In addition, the pitchers will not be so apt to walk Ted purposely.

Jablonski, who batted .296 and drove in 104 runs last season, was obtained with pitcher Gerry Staley this winter in exchange for relief specialist Frank Smith. Pitcher Johnny Klippstein, who had a 4-11 record with the Chicago Cubs in 1954, also signed, Paul said, bringing the Redlegs' contented list to eight players.

Major Leaguers Are Beaten in Pin Match

A team of Press-Radio bowlers gained a 2213-2119 victory over the major league baseball players in a March of Dimes benefit match at Arway Recreation yesterday. A total of $506 was raised for the fund. Del Rice had 527 to pace both teams.

Cousy Paces Celts in Win Over New York

BOSTON, Jan. 17 (UP)—Bob Cousy, playing one of his most brilliant games of the season, led the Boston Celtics to their sixth straight victory, a 102-98 win over the New York Knickerbockers yesterday before a crowd of 5000 at Boston Garden.

The flashy playmaker was the games top scorer with 28 points and was all over the court with his ball-stealing tactics and scoring passes. Bill Sharman netted 25 points for Boston and Ed Macauley had 18.

The Knickerbockers were paced by Harry Galatin, who rang up 20 points and ex-Harlem Globetrotter Nat Clifton who hit for 19.

The shooting of both teams was off in the first half and Boston left the floor with a slim six-point lead.

The Celtics opened up a 20-point spread early in the third period but New York roared back to cut the margin to three points at the beginning of the fourth stanza.

But Cousy and Sharman "got hot" in the last period to give the first-place Celts the hard-fought victory.

Syracuse, sinking 28 of 32 free throws, kept pace with a 90-85 victory over the Rochester Royals. In other games, Fort Wayne maintained its six-game lead in the Western Division by beating Milwaukee, 89-78, and second-place Minneapolis kept pace by defeating Philadelphia, 106-98.

41 Points in Lost Cause.

Ed Greunke made baskets by the bushel for the Messiah team in a Lutheran Basketball League game yesterday but his 41-point scoring effort had to stand as just a personal triumph. His team lost to Bethlehem, made up mostly of the Mirth brothers, 86-79.

Four of the five Mirth brothers played on the Bethlehem team, and Greunke tied them from the field. The four Mirths had a total of 19 field goals, and so did Greunke.

In other league games, Pilgrim defeated Immanuel, 57-47, and Holy Cross defeated St. Paul, 60-59.

Sorry, Brother.

Nat Dubman defeated his brother, Ed Dubman, in the title match of the Class B competition in the Y.M.H.A. handball tournament yesterday. The score of the match was 12-21, 21-17, 21-10. The Class B doubles championship play will begin tonight on the Y.M.H.A. courts.

Collinsville 13-2 After Capturing 2 During Week

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 17 (AP)—With the regular season better than half over, Pinckneyville and Princeton are the only major schools still holding undefeated records in the downstate Illinois prep basketball race.

Even though these two kingpins have been clicking off victories methodically, it's a toss-up whether either of them can finish out the rest of their schedule without meeting a reverse.

The Pinckneyville slate stands at 15 victories following weekend conquests of Carbondale by a 64-52 margin and Anna-Jonesboro, 50-26. Ahead of the Pincks before winding up the regular campaign are nine more games plus competition i n Salem's invitational tournament Jan. 26-29.

Princeton, now listing 13 triumphs after a victory last week from Dixon, has 10 more regular games in addition to an invitational tournament.

Most of the teams currently ranked among the top 15 turned in impressive performances during weekend action.

Notable exceptions were Centralia, which lost to Marion, 63-61; Peoria Spalding, ousted from the unbeaten class by Alleman of Rock Island, 59-50, and Morton of Cicero, a 57-51 victim of Niles. After its defeat Friday, Centralia came back Saturday and trimmed Mount Vernon, 62-55. Marion, however, lost to Herrin, 62-50.

Collinsville's Kahoks looked strong in gaining two more decisions for a 13-2 mark. The Kahoks trounced Wood River, 68-61, and Granite City, 82-38.

East St. Louis conquered Flora on the heels of its triumph from Alton and boosted its record to 11 wins and one setback.

Freeport's weak entry provided both West Rockford and Moline with opportunities to pour through the points. The Rockford outfit won, 85-56, Friday for its eleventh victory in 12 starts, and Moline thumped Freeport Saturday to the tune of 84-66.

The win over Freeport, coupled with a 109-33 triumph Friday over Monmouth, gave Moline its highest pointmaking total of the season. Moline has won 10 and lost 2, the defeats coming right at the season's opening.

Welu Third in Match-Game Qualifying Test With 2552

Kristof Is Ahead With 2629 Total

CHICAGO, Jan. 17 (AP)—Joe Kristof remained at the top of the men's list and a New Orleans bookkeeper and a Long Beach, Calif., stenographer shared first place in women's standings as the National All-Star bowling tournament moved into the third day of qualifying trials.

Kristof, 34-year-old Chicago bowling instructor, toppled 1258 pins last night to withstand the challenges of Carl Richard of Parsons, Kan., and Billy Welu of St. Louis. Coupled with his Saturday day high of 1371, Kristof's 12-game total is 2629. Richard trails by 32 pins and Welu's total of 2552.

Pat Patterson of St. Louis had 1266 for his second round for an aggregate of 2469, while Ray Bluth totaled 1193 and had a 12-game total of 2371.

Norma Jane Forbes of New Orleans and Merle Matthews of Long Beach share first place in women's standings with 1592 for eight games. Peggy Simmons of Denver, first day leader, slipped off to 757 and holds third with a total of 1569.

Qualifying games continue today, tomorrow and Wednesday among the 160 men and 64 women for 16 places in the finals of each division. Four more days of competition will name the champions next Sunday night.

Defending champions and runners-up in the two divisions—Don Carter of St. Louis and Bill Lillard of Detroit, respectively, in the men's section, and Mrs. Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia, among the women—are exempt from qualifying.

In their special matches, Mrs. Ladewig and Lillard took commanding leads. Mrs. Ladewig, for five years women's champion, defeated Miss Wene again yesterday, 833 to 767, and now leads 1616 to 1518. Lillard beat Carter, 1340 to 1270, and stretched his two-day lead to 2596 to 2487.

Boxing Club Refuses Comment on Warning By Gov. Harriman

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (UP)—Officials of the International Boxing Club delayed their comment today on Governor Averell Harriman's public warning that the fight game must be cleaned up or outlawed in New York state.

A spokesman fo rthe I.B.C. said, "we cannot comment on the governor's remarks until we have read them in their entirety."

Chairman Julius Helfand of the New York State Athletic Commission also declined immediate comment on the governor's vigorous support of his clean-up crusade.

Unquestionably the governor's words on the radio yesterday provided racket-buster Helfand with a powerful new weapon in his campaign for co-operation from "boxing people" in booting undesirables out of the sport. The outlawing of boxing would be a kayo to their wallets.

Governor Harriman spoke yesterday on a panel-show radio program at station WCBS. He said, "the sport can't remain unless it's made clean." He said boxing "has gotten among the racketeers."

Association to Open Its Season April 14

CHICAGO, Jan. 17 (AP)—The American Association yesterday set April 14 and Sept. 5 as opening and closing dates for its 1955 baseball season and appointed Bob Howsam, general manager of the Denver team, to make up a four-trip schedule.

Howsam, schedule-maker for the Western League when Denver was a member of that circuit, said he hopes to complete a four-trip schedule in five days.

Association President Ed Doherty also asked Harry Simmons, professional schedule-maker for the major league and the International League, to submit a four-trip schedule.

The association decided on a four-trip schedule to shorten each individual series. Instead of a team appearing in a city three times—as in the past—it will appear four times.

Kansas City to Make Official A.L. Debut in April 12 Game

CHICAGO, Jan. 17 (UP)—The American League, which now sprawls out 1273 airline miles between Boston and Kansas City, reduced its 1955 night game total to 208 today in the annual schedule, which also will put teams on plane itineraries occasionally.

Last year there were 215 night games scheduled and the league's all-time high was 218 in 1953.

The 208 night game total for the American League contrasts with the all-time high of 250 scheduled by the more compact National League where the distance between the extreme points, New York and St. Louis is only 888 miles. Because of the lesser distances involved, it is possible for the National League to schedule more night games since less time is required for travel.

The new Kansas City club leads the way in night games with a total of 40. That contrasts with the all-time major league high of 56 scheduled by the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League. The high of 40 by Kansas City also is well under the previous American League high mark of 45 by the Washington Senators in 1953.

Washington this season scheduled 39 night games while Baltimore listed 34, Cleveland 30, Chicago 21, New York 16, and Boston and Detroit 14 each.

The 1955 campaign will open on April 11 with the traditional presidential inaugural at Washington. Baltimore will furnish the opposition. On April 12 the rest of the teams will swing into action. Kansas City will herald major league ball with Detroit as the inaugural opponent. Chicago will be at Cleveland, Boston at Baltimore, and Washington at New York. In the secondary openers on April 14 it will be Cleveland at Detroit, Kansas City at Chicago and New York at Boston.

Each team was allotted 12 Sunday dates and the Chicago White Sox gave their fans the biggest break by scheduling doubleheaders for 11 of them or all but the last day of the season, Sept. 25. The White Sox also scheduled two week-day doubleheaders, the only team in the league to do so. Cleveland and Baltimore listed eight Sunday twin bills, New York seven, Boston six, Kansas City and Detroit two.

On Memorial day it will be doubleheaders at Chicago against Cleveland, at Detroit against Kansas City, at Washington against New York, and at Boston against Baltimore. The July 4 slate finds Chicago at Kansas City, Detroit at Cleveland, Washington at Baltimore, and Boston at New York. On Labor Day it will be Washington at Boston, New York at Baltimore, Kansas City at Cleveland, and Chicago at Detroit. In addition, Boston will have two traditional holiday engagements — on Patriot's day, April 19, with a twin bill against Washington, and on Bunker Hill day, June 17, with a day-night double.

The weekday afternoon game, once the backbone of the schedule, will find New York with the most, 29. Boston has 25, Detroit 23, Chicago 19, Kansas City 15, Cleveland 13, Washington 11 and Baltimore 10.

Loren Lewis and Wife Die in Fire at Home

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Jan. 17 (AP)—Loren L. (Tiny) Lewis, one-time outstanding football fullback at Northwestern University, and his wife, Mary, 46, died early yesterday as fire caused extensive damage to the interior of their three-bedroom home here.

Fire Chief A. R. Mitchell said it appeared that the 47-year-old Lewis, an industrial engineer with the Graver Tank Co. of East Chicago, Ind., had fallen asleep while sitting in a chair smoking.

Lewis played on the Northwestern teams of 1925, 1926 and 1927. He previously had starred on an outstanding Carlinville, Ill., high school team.

Mitchell said Lewis's body was turned virtually beyond recognition but that his wife, who suffered only burns on the hands, apparently died of suffocation.

Tom Hennessey Wins All-Events Title in Central States Meet

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Jan. 17 (AP)—A 3150 bowled by Strohs of Detroit held up for a victory in both the actual and handicap division team events in the windup of the Central States Bowling Association tournament.

Strohs, national match game champs, edged E & B of Detroit in both events by four points.

Bob Goike of Detroit won the singles actual with a 707. John Clement, also of Detroit, won the singles handicap with a 689-20—709.

J. Norris and A. Butler, of Chicago, took the doubles actual with a 1307 and were spotted 26 points to take the doubles handicap, 1333.

Tom Hennessy, formerly of St. Louis, now with the Strohs won the actual and handicap all events with 2007.

Detroit bowlers took six out of eight possible first places in the seven-week tournament which attracted some of the top teams from Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio.

PCC Demands NCAA Change To Regional TV

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Pacific Coast Conference wants regional telecasts of football games—or no part in a nationally-supervised plan.

Athletic directors and faculty representatives of the nine P.C.C. schools bluntly announced yesterday that unless the National Collegiate Athletic Association adopts a policy of nationally-controlled regional television, the P.C.C. won't permit its teams to be televised next fall.

The Big Ten Conference as well as the P.C.C. opposed the "Game of the Week" plan at the recent N.C.A.A. meeting. Both demanded regional TV, with the Big Ten and Notre Dame most outspoken. The Big Ten also threatened to bolt the N.C.A.A. television set-up over the issue.

Harvey Cassill, University of Washington athletic director and P.C.C. representative on the N.C.A.A. Television Committee, indicated chances of the N.C.A.A. adopting a regional program are poor. He estimated opposition to the plan is about 5 to 1.

Cassill will present the P.C.C. proposal to the Television Committee later this week in New York.

The P.C.C. would have the N.C.A.A. drop its Game of the Week policy and any other plan that rules out regional TV. Otherwise, the P.C.C. would exercise its rights "to abstain from participation in any such television program."

Under the P.C.C. plan, a school would televise one home game (blacked out in the immediate area) and one away game. Also, it would allow unlimited television of night games on Friday and Saturday and national TV of conference games after the Saturday before Thanksgiving. The P.C.C. ends its conference schedule on that Saturday each year, but one or two members usually play an intersectional later.

The P.C.C. proposal, not circulated at the recent N.C.A.A. convention in New York, is certain to meet solid opposition, Cassill said. He reported only about 40 of the 200 delegates voting on the television issue at the N.C.A.A. meeting wanted regional TV.

More optimistic was H. P. (Dick) Everest, Washington faculty representative and official conference spokesman. "It would be hard to guess how the final vote will turn out," he said. Two-thirds of the votes cast is necessary for adoption.

Abrams First Holdout On Baltimore Roster

BALTIMORE, Jan. 17 (AP)—Outfielder Cal Abrams has become the first holdout since Paul Richards assumed control of the Baltimore Orioles of the American League at the end of the 1954 season.

Abrams batted .293 last year to lead the Orioles. Richards said only that the former Pittsburgh Pirates speedster returned the initial contract offer unsigned.

Meanwhile, Pitcher Harry Byrd has signed his contract, to become the tenth player signed, Richards said. It was believed the former Yankee hurler was given a slight pay boost. He reportedly earned $12,000 per year with New York.

Printers Plan to Hold Three Golf Tournaments

Three, instead of the usual two, tournaments are planned for the coming year by the St. Louis Union Printcraft Golf Association which held its annual business meeting yesterday.

Officers re-elected were Harold Van Rhein, president; Clyde Simpson, vice president; Frank D'Arcy, secretary and commissioner, and Bud Hellman, treasurer. Harry Crustals is tournament chairman and Dick King his assistant.

Mrs. Pung Golf Tourney Victor

SEA ISLAND, Ga., Jan. 17 (UP)—Mrs. Jackie Pung, a Honolulu housewife, pocketed first prize money today for the first time in more than a year for topping the field in the second annual $3500 Sea Island women's golf tournament.

Jackie had won only two other tournaments during her three years on the women's professional circuit—both in 1953.

But the Hawaiian golfer overcame a two-stroke deficit and chilly, rainy weather yesterday to walk off with top money of $700 after shooting a fine one-under-men's par 73 on the last 18 holes and a total of 151 for the 36-hole tourney.

Mrs. Pung went around the 6541-yard Sea Island golf course in 78 in the opening round to trail Patty Berg, St. Andrews, Ill., first round leader, by two strokes. But in her second 18, Jackie toured the first nine in par 36 and came home in 37 to finish four strokes in front of Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S.C., who picked up $500 with her second place 78-77—155 finish.

Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., a youngster in her first year as a pro, shot a 76 yesterday to go with an opening 80 for a 156 total and third place money of $450. Fourth among the pros was pretty Marlene Bauer, Sarasota, Fla., with 77-81—158.

Amateurs Pat Lesser, Seattle, Wash., and Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga., tied Miss Bauer with identical 77-81—158 scores but Miss Faulk took top amateur honors on the third hole of a sudden death playoff.

Western Illinois Swim Team Ends Its 24-Year String of Defeats

NORMAL, Ill., Jan. 17 (AP)—Paced by Jack Melill of Monrovia, Calif., Western Illinois State won its first swimming meet in 24 years Saturday night, besting Illinois Wesleyan 53-30.

Melill won the 100-yard freestyle and was second in the 200-yard freestyle event while garnering 12 individual points. Bob Perry of Springfield, Ill., with seven points was Wesleyan's high man, winning the 200-yard backstroke test and sharing honors in his team's medley relay victory.

The last meet won by Western was in 1931 when the Macomb school beat Illinois Normal.

Saddler Faces Perez In 10-Round Tuneup

BOSTON, Jan. 17 (UP)—Disputed featherweight champ Sandy Saddler, warming up for a title bout next monh with Teddy (Red Top) Davis, said he was "fit and ready" to take on Lulu Perez tonight in a 10-round benefit match at Boston Garden.

At least 10 per cent of the gross receipts were slated for the widow of Navy boxer Ed Sanders, whose death last month here set the stage for a Boston judge's scathing attack against the fight game in Massachusetts.

Pay to 3 Pilots Figured in Phils' Deficit in 1954

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 17 (AP)—Salaries to three managers were included in the total of $2,069,736 which the Philadelphia Phillies, under Owner-President Robert Carpenter, spent to operate last season.

Of the more than $2,000,000 he had to lay out, Carpenter spent $729,675 to run the fourth place Phillies—$501,212 going to pay salaries.

The payroll was composed of about $400,000 for managers, coaches and players and $100,000 for office personnel. Carpenter himself draws no salary.

The payroll shows that Eddie Sawyer, dismissed as manager two years ago, still is listed. Sawyer had two years to run on his contract when he was fired. Carpenter paid Steve O'Neill about $15,000 to sit out the last half of the 1954 season, and Terry Moore, who completed the job, received about $12,000.

Park (rental, groundkeeping and expenses), $133,958.

Spring training, $26,975.

Player purchases, bonuses, deals, drafts, $255,799.

Baseballs, bats, $10,370.

Traveling (including rail and air fares, hotels, meals and luggage handling), $70,213.

The Phillies, Carpenter said, lost $250,000 in 1954. The club drew 758,000. He says 950,000 fans have to turn out for him to break even.

Top Horses Nominated For Chicago Stakes

CHICAGO, Jan. 17 (UP)—The winner of every major juvenile event in 1954 were included in the nominations for the 1955 runnings of the $100,000 added Arlington Classic and $100,000 added American Derby at Washington Park, it was announced today.

Included in the list for the standout three-year-old events were Nashua, Summer Tan, Royal Coinage, Royal Note, Trentonian, Blue Ruler, Georgian and Pyrenees.

Several foreign imports also were nominated including Flying Story, Beau Prince II, Chingaogook, My Beau and Summer Solstice.

A total of 172 horses were nominated for the classic and 171 for the American Derby. The Classic, at a mile, was expected to gross more than $155,000, while the American Derby, on a turf course at a mile and three sixteenths, was expected to reach the same figure.

Cerda Totals 273 to Win in Panama Open

PANAMA, Jan. 17 (AP)—Birdies on each of the last two holes for a 69 and total of 273 gave Argentina's Antonio Cerda the Panama Open golf championship over a field dominated by invaders from the United States.

Roberto De Vicenzo, also of Argentina, apparently had the title won when he went into the final round yesterday leading by three strokes and reached the seventeenth tee still two strokes up on Arnold Palmer of Columbus, Ga., and three up on Cerda.

But De Vincenzo blew himself to a bogey on each of the last two holes while Palmer had to settle for pars. That left De Vincenzo, twice winner of the title, and Palmer tied for second with 274s.

Californian Leader In Sailfish Derby

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 17 (AP)—W. K. Fauncey Jr. of Walnut Creek, Calif., boated a 7-foot 11 inch sailfish to take the lead in the eighteenth annual silver sailfish derby now underway.

His catch was three fourths of an inch longer than that taken on opening day by Virginia Baring, New York City.

The angler boating the longest sailfish during the four-week tournament will be awarded the Rea trophy.

GRAIN FUTURES IN DOWNWARD COURSE

Size of Receipts and Wheat Belt Weather Are Influences in Market.

CHICAGO, Jan. 17 (AP)—Grains steadily lost ground on the Board of Trade today and by the time of the final gong declines were fairly sizeable in wheat and soybeans.

Improved crop prospects as a result of additional moisture touched off the selling in wheat. Trade reports Holland wanted offers on a million bushels of hard wheat after the close failed to halt the slump.

Soybeans dropped on large receipts of cash beans, pretty generally confirming the belief beans were being brought to Chicago from Minneapolis for delivery on January contracts.

Feed grains were down with the rest of the market. Cash grain receipts were large. Heavy purchases of corn on a to arrive basis from the country were reported.

A private report from Liverpool stating Argentina might soon prohibit exports of corn failed to stem the decline in the yellow cereal.

STOCKS BREAK TO LEVEL UNDER THE RECENT TUMBLE

Action of Federal Reserve in Offering Bills, Absorbing Lendable Funds, Is Cited.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—The stock market was pounded down severely today in two selling waves of moderate intensity.

Losses ran to around 5 points in several instances, and declines of 1 to 4 points were frequent.

Almost everything fell before the selling—blue chips as well as the low-priced issues.

The fall was almost as great as that of two weeks ago when the federal reserve board suddenly put new curbs on the use of credit for speculation.

Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed down 3.1 points, representing a stock market value of approximately 3 billion dollars. The industrial stock index 4.1 points, rail index 3.7 points and utilities .88 of a point.

(Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was 8.34 points lower at 388.20 at the close. The 20 rails dropped 4.18 to 137.84 and the 15 utilities slipped .94 of a point to 62.06.)

Market was 29 issues broader than last Friday at 1277 issues. There were 949 losers, 167 gainers, 161 unchanged. There were 31 new 1954 highs and 5 new lows.

(The United Press said: "Stocks broke sharply today following moves of the Federal Reserve System to tighten the credit clamps. Reserve Board selling of Government bonds has shrunk available credit, brought higher interest rates in some instances, and forced Government bonds lower. Lower bond prices means higher yields and hence competition with the stock market.")

Trading Mounts.

Trading mounted to an aggregate 3,360,000 shares. That compares with 2,630,000 shares traded in Friday's lower market.

The market opene dwith prices mixed. A lower drift ensued. Toward the end of the second hour, selling tempo stepped up until the ticker was two minutes late in reporting floor transactions. When that selling flurry passed, prices stabilized and recovered some of their loss. However, selling soon took charge of the list, and prices again were pressed lower in the final hour.

All Divisions Depressed.

All divisions were down with some of the larger losses shown in steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, coppers, chemicals, electrical equipments, oils and railroads.

Heavy losers included Seaboard Railroad, Standard Oil (N.J.), Kennecott Copper, Du Pont, Westinghouse Electric, American Can, Douglas Aircraft, General Motors, and Bethlehem Steel.

General Dynamics moved higher against the trend most of the day as its newest atomic submarine, the Nautilus, sailed to sea under its own power for tests.

There was an early flurry of activity in low-priced shares — 29,000 shares of Benguet Consolidated mining unchanged at 1¼, 7000 Alaska Juneau up ⅛ at 5¼, and 6000 EMI unchanged at 4⅜.

BUSINESS TODAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—Lee Rubber & Tire Corp. reported profits for 12 months ended Oct. 31, 1954, declined to $1,400,295 equal to $4.97 a common share from $1,674,128 or $5.94 a share in the previous fiscal year.

U.S. BONDS DOWN; TREASURY BONDS REPORTED SOLD

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—United States Governments bonds led the bond market lower today.

Dealers in Uncle Sam's securities again reported that Federal Reserve banks sold Treasury bills in the open market, tightening them on supply and generally depressing bond prices. Federal banks also sold 90-day bills on Friday.

The Treasury's 30-year 3¼s were off 12-32 at 107 26-32 bid in late period. Victory Loan 2½s of 1967-72 lost 7-32 at 97 19-32 bid and the 2¼s of 1963 at 99 14-32 bid were down 2-32.

Foreign lists fluctuated narrowly, but the corporate bond list followed the Treasury market downward. Utilities and high-grade industrials and railroads were mostly lower, though changes were usually fractions.

Down at least a point were American Telephone 2¾s of 1980 at 93⅝, Chicago Great Western 4½s at 84, A.P.W. products 5s at 73½ and Champion Paper 3s at 100.

In the field of new finance, the 13 banks for cooperatives (TBC), which operate under the supervision of the Farm Credit Administration, are planning the public sale of $40,000,000 of one-year debentures. Proceeds will redeem an equal amount of 2¼ per cent debentures of the Central Bank for Cooperatives maturing Feb. 1.

DEMAND AT LONDON

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Renewed investment demand resulted in very good day on the stock market today with government securities showing the only falls.

Industrials recorded widespread gains although toward the close some early end-account selling was in evidence and some market leaders finished below the day's best levels.

In the foreign bond market Japanese and Chinese issues found support and Germans were steady.

BROSTRON GOES TO ILLINOIS TO STUDY PRISONS

Says Gov. Donnelly Wants 'to Roll Fast' in Changing Missouri Penitentiary Setup.

Curtis Brostron, special penal adviser to Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, went to the Illinois penitentiaries at Joliet and Stateville today to inspect them and to confer with Warden Joseph E. Ragen.

Gov. Donnelly wants "to roll fast" in making the sweeping changes needed to bring Missouri's prison system up to modern-day standards, Brostron told the Post-Dispatch shortly before leaving on the trip.

Brostron, vice president of Cupples-Hesse Corp. and former police inspector here, was appointed by the governor last week to draw up plans for putting into effect the many major improvements recommended by the Penal Survey Committee.

Capt. Frank Pate of the Joliet Prison will be assigned to assist Brostron in planning the many changes, Ragen informed Gov. Donnelly today. The Governor had requested Ragen Saturday to make available a penal expert to work with Brostron.

Pate was described by Ragen as "one of the best prison men in America today, and if his suggestions are followed Missouri will profit by his leadership."

Capt. Pate, 39 years old, is third in command of the Joliet and Stateville penitentiaries. He is in charge of all discipline and assignment of inmates. He came to the prison in 1939 and has worked up through the ranks to his present position. He is stationed at Stateville.

The Governor said he would get aid for Brostron and Pate wherever it is available, from the Highway Patrol, other prisons, the University of Missouri "or any place information may be obtained."

Remarking there are "some 30-minute penologists," Gov. Donnelly said, "I'm going to get some people who know something about it."

The Governor said that some of the prison changes which will be studied by Brostron can be effected by administrative action but that others will require legislation.

"The governor is deeply aware of the fact that he has a tremendous problem, and he emphasized very strongly that he wanted to put together a plan of action just as quickly as possible," Brostron said.

The new penal adviser, a quiet, earnest talker, discussed the task facing him with confidence. The 25,000-word report of the Governor's Penal Survey Committee lay open on Brostron's desk in his tastefully-appointed office at the Cupples-Hesse Corp., and books on prison administration were near at hand.

He said he had spent part of Sunday reading the voluminous report of the Penal Survey Committee and studying other material he felt would be helpful.

Job Has Two Functions.

It is Brostron's understanding that his assignment from the Governor will involve two principal functions: Planning and co-ordination. He said the Governor had indicated that the rebuilding of the penal system was such a huge job that the knowledge and skills of many people will be needed.

"It's my understanding that I will make the basic plans for putting into effect the recommendations of the Governor's Penal Survey Committee," Brostron said. "That will require working with specialists in various fields, and then it will be my duty to advise the Governor on how to co-ordinate these efforts."

"It's highly important right now that all of us remember that people are the primary factor in this problem. You have the citizens of the state to think about. They have the right to security. You have the personnel of the institutions and their problems to consider and you have the inmates of the institution."

Brostron said that the inmates "have a right to sound processes of rehabilitation and fair treatment in all respects. Most right-thinking people will agree that prisoners are not all good and not all bad.

"There are people who have made mistakes, who have gone through the process of law and have been convicted. It is our responsibility to help them rehabilitate themselves so that they will be better citizens when they are released from prison," Brostron said.

"Treat people decently," Brostron said, "and they will be decent in return. Be oppressive, and they in return will be hostile."

Brostron, a trim 6 feet, 195 pounds and a conservatively-stylish dresser, looks younger than his 49 years. Though a heavy smoker, he leaves an impression of calmness and is said by his associates to move deliberately and decisively, but always with consideration for other people.

He was described by one associate who had known him many years as a "man of genuine kindness." The new penal adviser has a record of success in dealing with personnel, both at Cupples-Hesse and in the Police Department, where as inspector he reached the rank of lieutenant colonel.

"I feel it is the responsibility of all Missourians to try to provide means for rehabilitating those people who might have erred so they may become better citizens."

ALARMED POLICE FIND ALL IS CALM AT JAIL AND BANK

Guards at City Jail and the Federal Reserve Bank were mystified when police squads leaped from scout cars and rushed in shortly before 9 a.m. today demanding to know "What's the alarm about?"

The day's business was proceeding in orderly fashion at both the bank and the jail, and no one had turned in an alarm, either by design or by accident, as sometimes happens. The officers, alerted for trouble at both important institutions, received the news with sighs of relief.

Retracing their steps, the policemen learned that the alarms originated in police headquarters, where workmen are installing a burglar alarm in offices of the Police Relief Association. In making the installation, a drill punched into a conduit in which wires for alarms at the jail and the bank are carried to headquarters, setting off both alarms simultaneously.

PARIS, Jan. 17 (UP)—The United States Army has declared the Morbihan district of Brittany "off limits" because of a smallpox outbreak and has begun revaccination of American soldiers and their families, it was announced today.

TOWN'S SLEDDERS CHIDE WAHLGREN ON SNOW MISCUE

There is no joy in Greenville, for Harry Wahlgren has struck out.

Although there is even less truth than poetry in this line, it tells how 11 sledding-minded Greenville (Ill.) small fry feel about the failure of snow to blanket their town after meteorologist Wahlgren predicted snow for the St. Louis area.

They told him about it in a letter he received Saturday. It charged his "promised" snow had arrived too little and too late. Wahlgren pointed out his predictions hold only for an area within a radius of 25 miles from St. Louis. Greenville, still not white, is about 50 miles northeast of here.

"I'm hoping they get enough snow for sledding," Wahlgren said. "They've got a chance, because the next two months around here usually see more snow than January. And as an old man who still hasn't learned to enjoy shoveling snow, I sure hope it snows in Greenville, and not here."

HERMANN DENIED NEW TRIAL IN KILLING OF DR. SHARP

A motion for a new trial for Thomas P. Hermann, who is under a 25-year prison sentence for the fatal shooting of Dr. Cecil A. Z. Sharp, was overruled today by Circuit Judge Raymond E. LaDriere at Clayton.

In a nine-page memorandum, Judge LaDriere dealt with four major points offered by Defense Counsel Henry G. Morris, including the contention that the jury foreman was not qualified because he had served a term in a federal penitentiary.

Judge LaDriere said there had been "no prejudice, no injustice nor erroneous verdict" resulting from the fact that the foreman, Arthur C. Michel, 75-year-old retired printer of St. John, had a criminal record.

Hermann, a former mental patient, was found guilty of second-degree murder Oct. 21 in the killing of Dr. Sharp, former St. Louis county health commissioner who was shot to death at his home, 9243 Clayton road, Ladue, June 29.

REPORTER TELLS OF COLD WELCOME ON TRIP TO PEIPING

still be primitive by other people's standards but they are growing fast. My particularly uncomfortable flight was quite exceptional. The regular passenger plane had been taken up by some visiting trade delegation.

The reception arrangements proved better than the flight. A bespectacled young man from Intourist—the Chinese copy of the Soviet travel agency—whisked us into town in a miniature Polish version of a Plymouth. He deposited us, grubby and unshaven, in one of Peiping's many new luxury hotels.

The whole place appeared at first sight to be completely empty, except of course for a group of servants holding a political meeting in the visitors' lounge.

It was not until next day that I noticed the hotel was full of Russians. Russians in ankle-length leather great coats, Russians in grimy baggy suits. Tall gaunt Russians, short square Russians, medium-sized myopic Russians in steel-rimmed spectacles beaming benign and brotherly.

Enter: Mr. Red Tape

I did not have to wait long for my first brush with Chinese Communist officialdom. Minutes after my arrival a short, sharp, clipped voice announced by phone the presence of Comrade Li.

"It would be fitting if you could find it convenient to call on me at the Foreign Ministry," said the voice. "That would be in 20 minutes."

I asked my Intourist receptionist to take me to the Foreign Ministry. Within 19½ minutes I was ushered into a luxurious velvet-draped room.

In came Comrade Li with a folder under his arm. He is a short, handsome young man in formal black uniform. He spoke a formal English and acted with a politeness Confucius would have applauded.

Out came a bundle of forms which enable any foreign correspondent to operate in Communist China. Down went every detail of my past career including a thumbnail sketch of my entire life in duplicate. Together with hosts of passport photographs for an extraordinary selection of documents.

Discouraging Outlook.

That done Comrade Li dashed my hopes of any real newswork here: If expected to report hot news I had better listen to Radio Peiping.

"You would be much better off for that sort of thing in Tokyo," he admitted. It was clear China's controlled press has not yet gone beyond the handout stage.

He produced a menacing batch of forms which he said must be filled out before any newspaper man sees anyone inside Red China.

My first request was to see the convicted American airmen. Comrade Li's eyes bulged. My next was to see Gen. Chu Teh, boss of the Chinese Red Army. Comrade Li tried hard to smile. I suggested Chou En-lai and Mme. Sun Yat Sen.

Said Comrade Li, "I will forward your applications through the specified channels. I cannot tell whether or not they will be favorably received."

There the matter rested. I was left to my own devices. No guides came to overwhelm me with supervised sightseeing and I was completely free. I finally had to appeal for help just to see the many wonders of Peiping. But that is another story.

One Of The Nation's Biggest Pools Of Industrial Supplies Keeps Birmingham Industries In High Gear

Hundreds of thousands of items of machinery, equipment and supplies needed by industry, railroads, utilities and mines for operation, maintenance and repairs are stocked by Birmingham's large industrial supply and specialized distributors.

These suppliers and their experienced staffs render a service of vital value to diversified enterprises throughout the Birmingham area and entire Southeast. They bulwark industry against serious breakdown delays. They provide fast deliveries -- available 24 hours a day in emergencies. They save both big and small plants the expense of carrying large stocks. . . assist them in solving engineering problems. . .keep them posted on new products. . .help them stay geared to maximum production efficiency. Their service is playing a big part in the great industrial growth of this central district of the South.

--the Nation's second largest machine tool, industrial and electrical supply distributor, which represents lines of 6,000 manufacturers and carries a $6,000,000 inventory containing upwards of 45,000 items.

--one of the South's largest industrial supply houses, which has specialized for 50 years in machine tools and woodworking equipment.

* * * * * *

When your Company establishes its plant or service facility in the Birmingham area, you will find all of these industrial distributors and service establishments helpful partners in the smooth functioning of your enterprise. For further information on the distributing and manufacturing advantages of Birmingham, you are invited to write this Committee or any of its undersigned members.

RUNAWAY COMES HOME

Walking with bowed head, Joyce Z. Grant leaves airport at Newark, N. J., with her parents, Prof. and Mrs. Harold S. Grant of Highland Park, N. J., following return from Key West, Fla., yesterday. The girl and two companions, Alan Knight and Robert Bellou, a former St. Louisan, were picked up in Key West Friday to end a spur-of-the-moment jaunt in the Bellou family automobile. The boys also returned home under parental escort yesterday. The three, each 17 years old, had expected sharp punishment but received only scoldings in view of past good conduct.

Sheila Graham Bags Big Names Free

By John Crosby

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.

LIKE everyone else, I'm interested in Hollywood—its marriages, its divorces, its births, its triumphs, its troubles. I have been following Hollywood's affairs with a normal, consuming curiosity for a number of decades now and it does seem to me that there is a certain change in emphasis that ought to be transmitted to you other Hollywoodphiles.

JOHN CROSBY

The latest scrivener to pass us the news of the West Coast set is Sheila Graham, a syndicated gossiper of some renown, who now has a 15-minute show on NBC-TV five times a week (9:45 a.m. CST). Miss Graham has been able to deliver—to NBC's great surprise—some imposing names before the cameras. And all for free. Some of these names have turned down fairly fabulous offers to appear on television but, as I say, they'll show up on Miss Graham's show for nothing. "She knows where the bodies are buried," observed a friend of mine cryptically.

A TYPICAL DAY with Miss Graham is as follows: "Hello, everybody. Well, we had one of those really beautiful days in Hollywood yesterday." (That should satisfy any of you who had been tossing and turning all night, worrying about the Hollywood smog.)

And from the weather we proceed into the really interesting hard news of the day. "I have some really happy news! Joel McRea and his wife are expecting their first baby in 18 years. It came as a great surprise to them. Everyone is trying to guess whether there will be a reconciliation between Linda Christian and Tyrone Power. There are several obstacles. Linda has made no secret of her feelings for Edmond Purdom. But Ty adores his children and he's deeply religious. Well, Betty Hutton holds the record for the shortest retirement."

★ ★ ★

THIS IS THE TRADITIONAL Hollywood fare—babies, romance, busted marriages and such all. Miss Graham's special twist is to bring on a screen star and trace her career practically back to the cradle. The actress under scrutiny when I last looked was Marjorie Main. She'd been on for days before I tuned in and was scheduled to appear for more of the same after I quit watching. I'm as interested in Marjorie Main as the next man but enough is enough.

Now as to this change of emphasis. At one point, Miss Graham speaking of the Ma and Pa Kettle pictures asked Miss Main: "Didn't they make more money than anything."

"Let's forget about making money so long as they made people happy," said Miss Main.

MISS GRAHAM SEEMED SHOCKED by this thought that the customers' happiness was more important than cash and promptly dismissed Miss Main for the day. The next camera shot brought things back into perspective. There was Jack Carson, counting great stacks of greenbacks. The question Miss Graham asked him was "How do movie stars invest their money."

"These are oil wells," said Carson, pointing to one stack of bills, "and these go to Uncle Sam." And he went on to explain that he had drilled for three wells and hit three wells. Not even John D. Rockefeller Sr. had a better average than that. It also occurred to me that this was the first time I had seen an actor consulted about his investments or his oil wells. We used to go to a broker for that sort of advice.

Treating Stuttering

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

IF YOU have a child who stutters, you need to realize two important things: Stuttering can develop into a serious handicap, and you can do a great deal to prevent this, provided you proceed in the proper manner. Regarding the latter point, it cannot be emphasized too strongly that wrong procedure on the part of the parents can do irreparable damage.

There are some 1,500,000 stutterers in this country and Canada, and roughly four out of five are male. Every time I touch on this subject in this column, I receive many letters from parents who want to do the right thing but are not certain of what steps to take. Certainly they show intelligent concern when they seek guidance.

THERE ARE MANY good books and pamphlets, which your public library should be able to supply. If you have a child with this difficulty, you may be able to get help from a school psychologist or some other expert in your community. If not, write to Dr. George A. Kopp, Secretary, American Speech and Hearing Association, Wayne University, Detroit, Mich. He has a directory of members to whom you may refer, and can put you in touch with the best help, if any exists near you.

Most strutterers get their start when they are 2 or 3 years old; nearly all of them before 6. Immediate and intelligent action by parents will prevent permanent damage in most instances.

Some practical suggestions are offered by Sister M. Dominic of the Psychological Service Center, Seattle University, in a recent issue of "The Family Digest." Here are a few of them.

1. Don't ridicule, mimic, or tease a child.
2. Don't rush him. Let him take as long as he needs to say what he has on his mind.
3. Don't put him in a position where he is the center of attention or must speak in public.
4. Do avoid emotional scenes in your home.
5. Do speak slowly and distinctly at all times. Keep yourself relaxed.
6. Do help him in every way to develop feelings of assurance and competence.
7. Do cultivate personal confidence in your child and let him always feel sure of your trust and love.

★ ★ ★

SOMETIMES A CHILD thinks faster than he can talk, and therefore becomes confused in speech. If his parents make an issue of it, yell at him, or stiffen up with obvious expression of their disgust, he may be unable to outgrow this difficulty as he should. Give him a chance, and let this be based on your own acquisition of the fullest understanding of the subject that you can get.

Your Income Tax

14 Major Changes Made in Tax Law

They All Favor Individual Taxpayer; Filing Deadline Is April 15

By Frank O'Brien

(First of a Series)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP).

THIS is the time of year when every citizen or resident of the United States who had as much as $600 income last year ($1200 if you were 65 or older) must file a federal income tax return.

You will be filing this year under a revamped income tax law that made 14 major changes for the individual income tax payer, all 14 in the taxpayer's favor.

First off, the new law gives you until April 15 to get your return made out and mailed to your district director of internal revenue. That is a month more filing time than you had under the old law. But it's still the early filer who gets the early refund, and the late and hurried filer who is likely to make costly mistakes.

The 1954 Internal Revenue Code introduced something new that will take a direct bite out of the tax liability of millions of people. This is the "tax credit" which may allow you to deduct a percentage of your income from dividends, or, retirement funds, directly from the tax you otherwise would pay.

The previously existing deductions, exclusions and exemptions of income are carried over into the new law. Some new ones have been added. But in addition, there are the two new tax credits for those who can claim them. You cannot claim these credits if you use form 1040A. They can only be claimed on form 1040.

This new concept has brought about considerable revision of the tax forms, but the same forms—1040A and long or short 1040—are still the basic returns for all taxpayers, and the district director's office still does the figuring for users of 1040A. In making out an income tax return you are still going through the same basic process you always have—reducing your total (gross) income to your taxable income.

But the new credits may add a profitable final step for those who have either dividend or retirement income.

Under the old system, you first set aside, out of the tax laws' reach, all possible income under the headings of exemptions, exclusions and deductions. That gave your taxable income, and told how much tax you owed for the year.

★ ★ ★

UNDER the new system, persons with enough retirement or dividend income, from specified sources, will subtract a percentage of that income from their tax liability. That will give them their tax.

In addition to any tax reduction that comes your way because of the new tax law, you are paying at rates which, for most people, are about 10 per cent lower than rates of a year ago.

The revenue service has mailed each taxpayer the same kind of form he used last year. But you should use the form best suited to your 1954 income. You can get additional forms of all kinds from your local bank or post office, or at any revenue service office. Have enough forms to keep a copy of your return, and hang on to the receipts and other records that back up your return.

During tax paying time, the revenue service spots its agents all over the country as tax counsellors. Their services are free, and their instructions are to help you get the benefits of the law as well as to help you comply with the law.

The major benefits to the individual taxpayer under the new revenue code not already mentioned are:

A new joint return provision for widows or widowers; new exemption provisions for children, other dependents and individuals supported by more than one taxpayer; and exclusion for sick pay income; new deductions provisions for expenses of employes; a deduction for soil and water conservation expenditures.

A new method for computing exclusion of income from annuities and pensions and additional methods for computing depreciation; additional deductions for contributions; a deduction for interest on installment debts; additional deductions for medical expenses, and a deduction for child care.

THESE are discussed in the instruction booklet mailed with your return. An index to them is on page 3 of the instructions. An Internal Revenue Service book, available for 25 cents at banks, post offices and Government offices, called "Your Federal Income Tax" goes into the new provisions at length. The instructions and "Your Federal Income Tax" also review the other main provisions of the tax law, in language intended for the layman's understanding.

This series of articles is intended as a guided tour through the business of making out your income tax return. As nearly as practicable, it will take up subjects in the order they come up as you work through your return form.

Since your first decision is what form to use, that will be the subject of the next article. Then comes the joint return, where there are important new provisions for recent widows and widowers, and provisions under which you may file a head of household.

The fourth article will deal with exemptions; the fifth with exclusions, and the sixth with the new tax credits.

At that point, all subjects necessary for filing the 1040A form will have been covered.

The seventh article will deal with business-connected deductions; the eighth with personal deductions; the ninth with reporting of income other than wages from which tax has been withheld, and the tenth will be a guide to winding up the return by finding or computing your tax, entering any tax credits due to you, and finding your final tax.

TOMORROW: Choosing your form.

Secrets of Charm

Test Your Fashion I.Q.

TO select individually becoming clothes, you must have a high I. Q. in fashion. Test yourself today. File away in your mind the right answers to any of the questions you miss in this true-false quiz.

TEST YOUR FASHION KNOWLEDGE BY ANSWERING THE TRUE-FALSE QUESTIONS POSED TODAY.

1. The tall, slight woman can wear an unrelieved sheath. 2. The full figure is minimized by a fitted, dark dress. 3. An ample bustline may be "camouflaged" by a lengthy rope of beads. 4. All accessories should match. 5. You should wear the color in which you look best, rather than the one in which you feel best.

6. If calves are over-slim, you should wear seamless hose. 7. To lengthen a short neck, tie your scarf in a bow. 8. Clothe a long arm in a tight sleeve. 9. A corselet should be worn under a long-torso dress. 10. A semi-fitted suit is flattering to the full figure. 11. If hips are wide, wear a low belt.

12. Assuming hips are slender, though thighs are heavy, you may wear shorts. 13. A sheer blouse requires that you wear a slip underneath. 14. A small woman may wear a cartwheel hat.

If you met any "stumpers" among the clothes questions, you'll find the correct answers below. Check them anyway, to be positive your fashion I. Q. is as high as you think.

1. False. The sheath is a lengthening line. 2. False. The fitted dress, even though dark, emphasizes roundness. 3. False. The dangling rope calls attention to size. 4. False. Never wear more than three accessories in the same color unless you are working out a monotone costume in a neutral shade. 5. True. Wear the flattering shade! You may use the favorite as accent—perhaps purse or gloves.

6. True. Seamless stockings fill out the too-slim calf. 7. False. You should wear a dark, sheer rectangle draped into a softly pleated surplice. 8. False. Wear a full or easy bracelet-length sleeve. 9. True. The one-piece foundation is excellent for all-over control. 10. True. A semi-fitted suit softens the full figure. 11. False. The belted hipline appears wider.

12. True—if the shorts finish just above or just below the knees. 13. True. A sheer blouse without a slip is an inexcusable error in grooming! 14. True. A small woman may wear a cartwheel provided its width falls a little short of her shoulder joint.

Brain Game

1. Who plays the wife of Danny Thomas?

2. Can you recall the name of the actor who plays Joan Davis's husband?

3. What is the fictional name of Gale Storm's "father," Charles Farrell?

4. Can you name the actress who plays Ray Milland's wife?

5. Who play the roles of George and Marion Kerby in "Topper?"

6. Who plays the role of Spring Byington's daughter in "December Bride"?

7. Can you name the boy who plays Jan Clayton's son in "Lassie"?

8. What actor and actress play "Ethel and Albert"?

ANSWERS

1. Jean Hagen. 2. Jim Backus. 3. Vern Albright. 4. Phyllis Avery. 5. Anne Jeffreys and Robert Sterling. 6. Frances Rafferty. 7. Tommy Rettig. 8. Peg Lynch and Alan Bunce.

Words, Wit And Wisdom

By William Morris

Skirting the Skirling Skirmish.

"ARE the words skirl, skirt and skirmish related in any way?" asks a reader. "They seem to conjure up for me a scene of valiant Scottish warriors, the skirts of their kilts rustling in the breeze, marching bravely into battle to the sound of the bagpipes' skirl. Am I correct? Are all three words somehow related to one another?"

Well, that's an interesting theory you have evolved, madam, but I'm sorry to have to tell you that these words do not come from the same root, in spite of the fact that each begins with a "skir."

Skirl, the shrill, piercing sound made by a bagpipe, comes from the old Norse word "skrylla," to scream. With the possible exception of native-born Scotsmen who hold the bagpipes in high regard, most people will agree that that derivation is highly appropriate.

Skirt, likewise, came into English from old Norse as the Anglo-Saxon word "scyrte," which originally meant any short garment and, indeed, was more likely to mean a shirt than a skirt in those early days.

Skirmish, however, is one of the many words of chivalric warfare brought to England by the Norman conquerors. In middle English it was often spelled skrymishe, the word from which the common football term "scrimmage" comes. In turn, the French had taken their word "escarmuche" from the Italian "scaramuccia" — and that's a word which should ring a bell of memory for many readers! For from scarramuccia comes the proper name Scaramouche (skar-uh-MOOSH) which was the title of Raphael Sabatini's best-selling novel of the 1920s and the source of one of the most popular motion pictures ever filmed.

Scaramouche was originally a stock character in Italian farce, a boastful braggart always skirmishing on the fringes of danger, but too cowardly ever to become involved in serious battle. So you see, "skirmish"—meaning a trifling and unimportant conflict—had its origin thousands of miles away from the scene where first was heard the mournful skirl of the bagpipe played by a peasant wearing a leather "skirt"—as a shirt.

Slice a banana thin and overlap the rounds on hot buttered whole-wheat toast. Small fry usually enjoy this snack!

Let's Explore Your Mind

By Dr. Albert E. Wiggam

Answer to Question 1.

IN ONE family eight of 10 children had "juvenile cataract" which always causes childhood blindness. Their mother, one grandmother, and one great-grandfather also had it. Biologist Curt Stern assured the daughter who escaped it that her children had an extremely small chance of inheriting it, because it is a "dominant" trait which children rarely inherit if both parents are free. "Recessive" — hidden — traits may sometimes be inherited when neither parent manifests them.

Answer to Question 2.

Yes, practical nursing—a fine profession. Writer Thomas McGrath explains in "Life Today" that the usual training—given in hospitals—is one year. The cost varies but is purposely kept low. Earnings start from about $100 to $200 monthly. For full information write to National Association for Practical Nurse Education, 654 Madison avenue, New York 21.

Answer to Question 3.

Technically, according to the Committee on Narcotic Use by Teen-agers, users of marihuana, benzedrine, and cocaine are not "addicts," but they are "habituated to the drug." Withdrawal does not produce alarming symptoms as does withdrawal from morphine. Use of morphine is a medical as well as a psychiatric problem. Whatever you call it, heavy users of sedative or stimulant drugs are in a life and death battle.

Corklike Texture

Footwear and bags in a new texture that resembles cork are illustrative of a casual trend for spring. Most fashionable shade is cork, too. The bags are big while footwear is patterned after the classical spectator pump style.

Shower Head

If you find that only a spattering of water comes out of the shower head, take it off and clean out the interior. The trouble may be just from sediment but it's often due to mineral deposits left from the water. They can be removed with a sharp pointed tool.

Martha Carr's OPINION

Dear Martha:

THE girl I love and hope to marry is so jealous that whenever I leave her after a date, she waits until I have time to get home, then telephones to make sure I haven't stopped anywhere on the way. I try to tell her that she should trust me but she says she is just proving how much she loves me and I should be flattered by her jealousy. It may be flattering, but I still don't like the idea. How can I make her overcome this fault? PAT.

Pat, I hate to disillusion or discourage you, but I can't see much hope of your reforming her and changing a possessive clinging vine into a trusting, understanding woman. Can't you look ahead a few years and see what will happen after you are married and you happen to be held up a few minutes at the office? Or what if a girl you knew in high school speaks to you on the street? Better think twice, Pat, before walking into marriage with a woman as jealous as she seems to be. And don't let her fool you with that flattery routine.

Dear Martha:

I HAVE A FRIEND for whom I care a great deal but the only trouble is that she dresses in poor taste and doesn't know how to style her hair becomingly. Now I don't want to sound as though I were the world's best dresser, but I do wish there were some way I could get the idea over to her that she should change. I don't want to hurt her feelings, but several of our mutual friends have talked to me and insisted that I try to improve her appearance.

TROUBLED.

It's natural, I know, for friends even to cast an occasional critical eye at each other and see how she can be improved. But too often we get all worked up over someone's hair style or costume that we pay absolutely no attention to what really matters in a person, the kind of individual she is. What if she isn't chic? If she has character, who should care about her clothes or coiffure? However, if you all feel that added attractiveness could make her happier, there's no reason, I suppose, not to drop a few hints from time to time. But don't single her out as the only one who needs help. You could start talking about your own hair some day, point out that you like to wear it a certain way because it is more flattering, then gradually lead into a discussion of her hair style and how it might be changed. You can do it without hurting her feelings.

Promotion Problem

By Angelo Patri

HERE comes term end and the teacher is faced with the question of promotion or "leaving back." Is it better to send this child, this student along with his group in the hope he will "get something out of it," or hold him where he is another six months or another year in the hope that he will awaken to the meaning of the subject and be strengthened accordingly?

The good teacher, that is the intelligent, understanding teacher who has studied the individuals in the class will now act on his knowledge of the pupil's peculiar abilities, handicaps, attitudes and stage of growth. One seeming failure he will send ahead, another he will hold. Why?

IF THE TEACHER thinks that one pupil has not the ability to master the subject or subjects in which he has failed, he is likely to reason that holding him back will do more harm than good. If he lacks the ability to learn today he will lack it tomorrow, and next year, and the best thing to do is send him along and let him get what strength he can from the group he belongs to and enjoys. Even the dullest pupil must gather some valuable experiences by belonging in a classroom and feeling he does.

Another pupil will be held back to make up work for which he has the ability. Maybe he was absent because of illness; maybe he moved from school to school. His failure was caused by some circumstance beyond his control and he will gain by repeating a grade. If possible the teacher may be able to secure a program for him that will allow him to take advanced work in his passing subjects and let him take another chance at those he failed in. In this way he will lose nothing and gain much.

BUT SUPPOSE, as often happens today, the teacher is not consulted about this. Suppose there is an order from on high that every child must be promoted. "To hold him back is to frustrate him. It costs money and the taxpayers must be considered. It is a bad record for the teacher and the school, this holding back to repeat the class. Parents are displeased."

When this happens it is just too bad for the pupil, for the school, the taxpayers and the parents too. The teacher is the one who knows and when he is disregarded the whole school structure collapses. The pupils who are graded according to paper records fail class after class. They are never prepared for the next grade. They enter high school because the law says they must but it has no interest for them because it has no meaning.

The classroom teacher should be consulted about promotions. If he cannot be trusted to make such decisions he is in the wrong place. If he is in the right place, at the head of his classroom, in the confidence of his pupils, trusted by the parents, then it is his word that should count. It is he, or she, who speaks for the good of the pupils for whom the schools are established.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

A LETTER tells me: "My husband and I and my sister went to visit our parents recently in another city. It was an eight-hour trip on the train and I brought along some cookies and a box of candy to eat on the way. My husband and I sat together and my sister sat across the aisle next to a young woman. I passed the cookies and candy to my sister several times but did not offer any to her seat companion. My sister thinks that I should have offered her some and that it was impolite not to do so. My husband is inclined to agree with her. I would like your opinion on this matter."

If she had been friendly, and she and your sister had been having a conversation, then you would have offered her the candy and cookies; but if she sat in complete silence or reading a book, you would not have.

'King of Comedy'

Guarding the Sennett Bathing Beauties

Six-Foot Policewoman Barred Even Boss From Dressing Room; Tale of Ben Turpin and Dead Bear

BEN TURPIN, AS THE UNCOUTH BUT HONEST PISTOL-POINTING HERO IN A SPOOF CALLED "EAST LYNNE WITH VARIATIONS." THE GIRL IS MARIE PROVOST. OTHERS ARE BOBBY DUNN AND HEINIE CONKLIN.

MABEL NORMAND . . . "SHE COULD THROW HERSELF INTO ANY PART, EVEN A PART THAT DIDN'T EXIST."

By Mack Sennett

As Told to Cameron Shipp

Second installment of the story of Mack Sennett, the father of Hollywood rough-house comedy. From the book, "King of Comedy," just published by Doubleday & Co., New York. Sennett's collaborator, Cameron Shipp, is a widely known biographer of Hollywood personalities.

ONE question everybody asks me: "Tell me, Sennett, is there more sin in Hollywood than there used to be?"

My answer: "Is there more sin in Cedar Rapids, Ia., than there used to be?"

Miss Billie Burke once noted that sin in the theater is like education at the University of Southern California. There is plenty of it, but not so many people take advantage of it as are exposed to it.

But there is no getting around the fact that show folks, being by nature excitable and temperamental, are noticeably casual about some of our better known conventions.

I had my problems at the Old Keystone Comedy lot and later on at my other studios. This was especially true after I had invented the Mack Sennett Bathing Beauties.

They were beauties, all of them. One of my main chores was to keep the Sennett name and the Sennett studio from being involved in a scandal.

I headed studios in Hollywood from 1912 to 1935 and managed to stay out of court.

One of the reasons for this was a six-foot-tall policewoman named Blanche Payson, who had charge of the actresses' dressing rooms with all the authority of the headmistress of a girls' boarding school.

Many attempts were made to get around her. In fact, I wanted to see Phyllis Haver in a hurry one afternoon and tried to get by her myself.

"Not in here, sonny boy," Blanche said.

"But I'm Mack Sennett!"

"That's what they all say," Blanche glowered. "Move on."

★ ★ ★

BEN TURPIN, the cross-eyed comic, came to us from the circus and vaudeville.

This skinny, strutting little man with a piano player's mane of hair and a neck like a string was obsessed by money. He also had the conviction that he couldn't be funny after 5 p.m. When 5 o'clock came he left the lot no matter what it cost the studio.

Ben was married several times. I wasn't acquainted with all of his wives but he brought one to the studio and introduced her all around. She was the one who was stone-deaf.

"Mr. Sennett," he said, "I want you to meet my wife. I can't understand why I ever married the old bag."

The deaf Mrs. Turpin (who couldn't read lips) smiled graciously.

We paid Turpin $1500 a week at the height of his popularity. He invested all his money, bought apartment houses, and became a rich man. He always saved a few dollars a week by personally doing the janitor work at all his apartment houses.

He seldom drove an automobile. He perferred to save money by riding streetcars. As he would enter the trolley, he would draw his wrenlike physique up to full strut and squeak at the top of his voice:

"I'm Ben Turpin! Three thousand dollars a week!"

Before taking a seat he would treat the passengers to a 108.

A 108 is an acrobats' term for a comic fall which only the most skillful athletes can perform without fatal results.

I've seen Turpin perform the 108 on streetcars and on concrete sidewalks—if there was an audience handy to whom he could announce himself as three-thousand-dollars-a-week Ben Turpin.

Turpin was an emotional little man, especially under the influence of the bottle. Once when we had leased a special train to take a company to Lake Tahoe, one of my assistants went to Turpin's home to escort him to the train. He found Turpin hitting crescendo in the throes of a crying jag.

Since Mrs. Turpin was blooming with health, my assistant dismissed the lawyer and business manager, took the priest home, and called up Tommy Lofthaus, chief of the Los Angeles Motor Patrol.

TURPIN arrived at the railroad station under full siren, delighted with his police escort. He belted down a scotch and soda and went through the entire train announcing himself as Ben Turpin, $3000 a week. He performed a 108 in each car.

We got him to Lake Tahoe in fancy fettle, but Turpin immediately became victim of a new terror. We had a scene in which the giant Kalla Pasha, wearing a black fur suit, worked interchangeably with a live bear which closely resembled him.

The script called for Turpin to hop into bed with the fur-bearing Pasha. Ben complained he had no faith whatsoever in anybody connected with Mack Sennett. He was dead sure he was being framed and would wind up in bed with the bear.

During this tantrum our bear got his teeth into his trainer's arm and almost chewed it off. This upset all of us.

We had to shoot the bear as a safety measure, but it seemed a shame to waste him. We put the warm corpse in Kalla Pasha's bed and inserted Turpin.

Ben's histrionics made a notable scene for a few seconds. He never forgave us. It is honorable to give credit where credit is due. It was Mabel Normand who connived the bedding of Ben Turpin and the bear.

Mabel, Ford, Sterling, Fred Mace, a few others and I arrived in Los Angeles in January 1912 to start our own motion-picture company.

"A gorgeous welcome to you it is indeed, O Maestro Sennett!" said Mabel.

"Now, hold your gorgeous, yapping mouth shut for just a minute," I said. "Maybe it is exactly that. Let's have a look and make a dollar."

The parade was a whopper and it would take a long time to pass a given point. A given point in my mind was a free lunch or wherever I could set up the camera and shoot unpaid actors.

"We got us a spectacle, kids," I said. "Our backers are always hollering about costs. Look at that crowd scene—all free!"

Ford Sterling was hungry, Mabel wanted to go to the hotel. Fred Mace had seen a parade before. They held back. Pathe Lehrman got what I meant.

"What's the story, boss?" Pathe asked.

"Got no story. We'll make it up as we go along," I said. "Run over there to the department store and buy a baby doll. Here's a dollar and a half. Set the camera up on the corner. Ford, you put on a tall overcoat and make like an actor."

"Who am I?" was all she asked when she saw we were under way.

"A mother," I said.

"I would be the last to know," Mabel commented.

"Now take this doll," I ordered. "It's your baby. Get going. Run up and down the line of march and embarrass those Shriners. Make out that—"

"—I'm a poor forlorn working girl, betrayed in the big city, searching for the father of my chee-iuld." Mabel finished the sentence. "This characterization requires a shawl. Who ever heard of a poor, forlorn little mother without a shawl over her poor little head?"

★ ★ ★

MABEL put on the best act you ever clapped eyes on, pleading, stumbling, holding out her baby—and the reactions she got from those good and pious gentlemen in the parade were something you couldn't have caught on film after six days of D. W. Griffith rehearsals.

Men were horrified, abashed, dismayed. One kind soul dropped out and tried to help Mabel.

"Move in, Ford," I told Sterling. Ford leaped in and started a screaming argument with the innocent Shriner, who didn't knew he was being photographed to make a buck for Keystone Cops.

The police moved in on Ford and Mabel. Ford fled, leaping, insulting the police, and they—bless the police!—they chased him. I helped the cameraman and we got it all.

The Shriners were good, but the best scenes we nabbed were the running cops. I never got their names, but if there are any retired gentlemen of the Los Angeles Police Deparement who remember taking part in that incident, let them bask in fame: they were the original Keystone Caps.

We didn't even pause at the hotel. We went straight out to Edendale to our little studio, shot a few more scenes and close-ups to tie the picture together, and we had our first comedy. I wired Adam Kessel and Charlie Bauman, my backers: "Got a spectacle first day and it's a whopper."

Kessel insisted for years that the wire said, "Got pickled first day and it was a whopper."

The first picture I ever directed was called "One Round O'Brien," with Fred Mace and Clarence Parr. I got the chance to direct because of the illness of Frank Powell, the No. 2 director behind D. W. Griffith, and because I was on hand, very much available, and begging for a chance.

Being a motion-picture director in 1910 in a studio on Long Island was not even a reasonable facsimile of a Hollywood director today. In my case there was a difference of $2935 per week in salary.

Biograph paid me $65 a week, which put me in what I considered a high-income bracket. I was expected to turn out two comedies a week.

We did what we could with what we had. If one company had exhausted the wardrobe department's small resources, the other company changed its script or didn't shoot that day.

Once I wrote a cop picture for Biograph, and when we went to shoot it, Griffith had gone off with all the police costumes. We had to go ahead with whatever costumes we could grab.

I sent a couple of my boys to scrounge for what they could. They returned with a dozen or so ancient, moth-bitten, faded police uniforms, none of which fitted anybody in the cast.

"Put 'em on anyway," I ordered. "We got to shoot."

It turned out pretty good, I thought, and it made a profit for Biograph. I knew it was a good picture, though, when the complaints came in.

Jumper Dresses

Jumper dresses continue their popularity. Some knitted versions are designed to be worn either with or without blouses. If a blouse is worn, a very fine cotton type is suggested in a pale tone such as mauve or very light green. The printed cotton jumper is new, too, and often is seen with a sheer cotton blouse which has ruffled accents and big sleeves.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

SOME notable victories can be scored if you can convince an opponent of something that doesn't happen to be the truth. This rather cryptic statement will be clarified by due consideration of the following hand.

North dealer.

	♠KJ7 ♥AK865 ♦QJ ♣743
♠Q106 ♥942 ♦85 ♣QJ1082	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠432 ♥J1073 ♦92 ♣A963
	♠A985 ♥Q ♦AK107643 ♣K

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♥	Pass	2♦	Pass
2♥	Pass	2♠	Pass
3♠	Pass	4♦	Pass
4♠	Pass	6♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the queen of clubs, and when South saw the dummy he muttered something highly uncomplimentary to his partner. Even without this confirmation, however, West knew from the bidding that South had counted on finding four-card spade support, and when East's club ace dropped declarer's king, West had a pretty shrewd idea of the over-all situation. So, after South ruffed East's club return and laid down the ace of trumps, West was ready with a Machiavellian plan. He was stony-faced as he dropped the trump ten on South's ace and the queen on South's next lead toward dummy. There was nothing unethically dramatic about West's behavior—but if South wished to infer that West was disgusted because he, South, was so lucky, well, that was South's lookout.

Declarer reacted precisely as West hoped he would, except that he didn't feel at all lucky. Why should he? Obviously, the trumps had been divided 4-2, and if he now cashed the jack of trumps, East would be the only one at the table who still had a trump. East would ruff in very soon when South started the diamonds, and East-West would take a raft of club tricks—at 100 points per club. That, at any rate, was the way South figured, and not taking kindly to the idea of losing from 300 to 500 points on the deal, South desisted from further trump-drawing, shifting to the diamond suit. . . . Needless to say, the opponents were happy to ruff in very soon and defeat the slam.

Anniversary Celebrated At Gay Party

SURROUNDED by members of their wedding party and other close friends, Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Johnson celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Friday night with a dinner party at their home in Huntleigh Village.

The bridal party was reminded of the passe styles of 1930 by means of a wedding photograph of the entire group, enlarged and surrounded by silvered leaves and wedding bells, which stood on an easel in the reception hall. The young women were in flounced apricot tinted chiffon dresses and carried huge bouquets of roses and African daisies, and the bride wore satin and rose point lace, with a long lace court train, and carried a sheaf of calla lilies.

The house was decorated with white flowers and the tables, each set for 10 guests and arranged in the hall and dining room, were completely appointed with silver including the plates and candelabra. A quartet of strolling musicians played.

Two of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson's three children appeared at the start of the party to offer their congratulations. Miss Eleanor Chouteau Johnson was home from Vassar College to be a bridesmaid at Miss Lorna Hubbell's wedding Saturday to John Julius O'Fallon Jr., and Mrs. Richard S. Hawes III (Christy Johnson) lives here. Their son, James Lee Jr., is at Princeton University.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson (she was Miss Eleanor Clark Church) were married Jan. 14, 1930, in an elaborate marquee built adjoining the home of her mother, the late Mrs. Rolla Wells, 25 Westmoreland place. They went to Europe on their wedding trip.

Their attendants present at the party were Mrs. Clinton L. Whittemore Jr. (Anne West), Mrs. Rembert La Beaume (Marie Wilson), Mrs. Edward C. Simmons II (Jean Ford), Mrs. John H. Hayward (Cynthia Polk). Fielding Childress, who was best man, and Oscar Johnson Jr., Thomas W. Pettus and John Hayward.

There were telegrams from Mrs. George W. Blabon II (Lily Busch Magnus), Palm Beach, Fla., and the former Miss Mary Hunter Marsden who is married and living in the East, both bridesmaids, and Robert A. Sherman of New York, an usher.

Miss Jean Hourigan, E. R. Edmunds Engaged

ANNOUNCEMENT was made at a small, informal tea Tuesday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Claude W. Hourigan of Columbia, Mo., of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jean Dale Hourigan, to Edwin R. Edmunds, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ray Edmunds, 823 Brownell avenue, Glendale. Guests included close friends of the bride-to-be. A summer wedding is planned.

Miss Hourigan was graduated from Christian College, Columbia, and received both her bachelor's and master's degrees in education from the University of Missouri. She is a member of Pi Lambda Theta, women's honorary education fraternity.

The future bridegroom was awarded his bachelor's and master's degrees in education from the University of Missouri where he is now working toward his Doctor of Education degree. He is affiliated with Phi Delta Kappa, honorary education fraternity, and Tau Kappa Epsilon, social fraternity. Mr. Edmunds served as a first lieutenant in the Army during the Korean campaign.

Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Webb, 7744 Mohawk place, Clayton, gave a buffet supper Saturday night, honoring Miss Dorothy Eagleton Burger, who is to be married Jan. 29 to Russell Thomas Simmons. Both Miss Burger and Mr. Simmons came from Columbia, where they are seniors at the University of Missouri, for the weekend.

The bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eagleton Burger, 404 Yorkshire place, has asked her sisters, Miss Margery and Miss Carol, to be maid of honor and junior bridesmaid, respectively. Bridesmaids will include Mr. Simmons's sister, Miss Jean; Miss Patricia Krebs, Miss Virginia Proctor and Miss Barbara Mound.

Donald Meffert is to be best man for Mr. Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Simmons, 7749 Fleta avenue, Affton. Ushers will be a cousin, Lawrence, G. Moser; Charles and Joseph H. Burger, brothers of the prospective bride; Russell MacMann and Peter S. Winter.

Miss Burger's brother, the Rev. Robert F. Burger, will come from Los Angeles, to officiate at the service at 8 o'clock at Emmanuel Episcopal Church. There will be an informal reception afterward in the adjoining parish hall.

Mrs. David M. Skilling, 610 Berry road, will give a luncheon for Miss Burger Saturday. The rehearsal dinner is being planned for Jan. 28 at Westborough Country Club.

Friends who have entertained in honor of the engaged pair include Miss Mary Louise Frederick, Miss Patricia Krebs, Mrs. William Tallmadge, Miss Caralee Stanard, Miss Jean Brossard, Miss Mound, Miss Proctor, Mrs. Harold T. Smutz and Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Bell. Mrs. Bell is the grandmother of the bride-elect.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Schmidt, 10 Old Westbury lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vollmar, 5 Old Westbury lane, returned last week from a several-week motor trip through the West. They attended the Tournament of Roses Parade and the Rose Bowl football game in Los Angeles New Year's day and visited relatives in Alhambra and Hollywood. Also included on the itinerary was San Francisco and points of interest en route to and from the coast.

Two Brides-Elect Announce Plans For Weddings

MISS MARILYN LOUISE WEBER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Weber Jr., Babler and Conway roads, St. Louis county, has set Friday, March 4, as the date of her marriage to Henry C. Griesedieck Jr., and has announced her attendants. The wedding ceremony, which is to take place at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, will be performed at Ladue Chapel by the Rev. Dr. W. Davidson McDowell. The University Club will be the scene of the reception later.

Mrs. Frederick Kipp Schwarz (Emily Ann Weber) will serve as matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids will include Mrs. Donald W. Winsby (Elise Habenicht), Mrs. Richard Kallaus, Mrs. Henry Frederick Niedringhaus III (Marie Putney), Miss Jane Griesedieck, Mrs. Joseph Orrie Morrissey Jr., the two sisters of the bridegroom-elect, and Mrs. Correl Striegel (Marilyn Weissenborn) of Cleveland, O.

* * *

MISS Helen Joy Margaret Thurman and James Kenelm Austin, whose engagement was announced recently, have selected Feb. 12 as the date for their wedding. The ceremony will take place at 11 o'clock in the morning at St. Engelbert's Church with the Rev. Clarence J. Krull performing the ceremony.

Miss Thurman, who is called Joy, lives with Mr. and Mrs. J. Chester Stewart, 607 Forest Court, Clayton. The Stewarts will give a breakfast at the Congress Hotel after the ceremony at which Mr. Stewart will give her in marriage. Miss Carol Mahoney will be Miss Thurman's only attendant.

The prospective bride is the daughter of John Thurman of Bombay, India, and Mrs. Helen Thurman of Purley, Surrey, England. Mr. Austin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anselm Austin, live in Prescot, Lancashire, England. He makes his home in St. Louis at 6730 Clayton avenue.

Approach to Retention of Old Workers

By Eleanor Roosevelt

EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK. IT WAS interesting to see in Denver an article describing in detail the plan of New York State Senator Thomas C. Desmond, who is chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on the Problems of the Aged. It shows how important this problem has become throughout the country.

Mrs. Roosevelt

It was surprising to see a New York state plan being given such coverage in a Colorado paper.

Senator Desmond's plan aims at the retention of old workers (which may mean workers as young as 45 years of age) so that they can adapt old skills to new machines or take up new occupations. It also urges counsel to help the older person find the proper job and an effort to combat the prejudice against older men and women in labor. On this last point, of course, attention should be given to some of the insurance difficulties that companies face when their labor force consists of too many older people.

I WAS INTERESTED to see how much space is given to fashions in the papers of the Southwest and Far West. It seems to me that our metropolitan New York papers give much less attention to these fashion reports from different areas of the world. It may well be that in New York we are so much nearer the areas that create the fashions that it is not as interesting.

WEDNESDAY EVENING was a delightful one for me as my granddaughter, Chandler Roosevelt, and my grandson, Elliott Roosevelt Jr., and my niece, Amy Roosevelt, came to dinner with me at the Brown Palace Hotel in Denver. We had a delightful time and were interested in the cowboys meeting there to plan for their year's schedule of rodeos.

During dinner one of the cowboys came over and presented me with a wonderful hat, beautifully made, that could be shaped in almost any style. I was almost tempted to pack it in my suitcase and bring it home, but I doubt if I would have much opportunity to wear it.

So I gave it to my grandson, who said that although it was a bit large for him he would find a specially good place to hang it on his wall. His favorite sport is riding and roping and he said that he knew many of the Texas cowboys who were in town for the meeting or stock show.

WHILE IN DENVER I was glad to see Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Hoyt, who came to see me bright and early Thursday morning.

I have been trying to read many of the memorandums sent to me during the past few weeks. There seems to be a great concern among groups about economic plans that are proposed for Asia, and I hope this concern will really bring about some thinking and action in the present Congress.

Also, it is interesting to note that the Democrats have brought up the question of ratification of a treaty between the Formosa government and the United States. There are certain angles of that treaty that might some day cause the United States embarrassment and it is well that a careful survey is being made before any action is taken.

International Designer's Pattern

PIERRE CLARENCE of France is a name and a label that is getting more and more acceptance with every collection he does. This current model of his, easy to step into and easy to make, has typical French flair, as well as a very cleverly engineered flared skirt. He has made it in four gores and separated the gores with seamed inverted pleats. Thus if you choose a striped material the stripes will match in the insertion as illustrated. Make it in wool, satin, taffeta, faille, shantung or even cotton. Whatever the selection, it will work up beautifully.

BUST	WAIST	HIPS		SIZES
34	24	35	inches	10
35	25	36	inches	12
36½	26½	37½	inches	14
38	28	39	inches	16
40	30	41	inches	18

Pattern S-232. Size 12 requires 4¾ yards of 54-inch material for dress and ½ yard of 39-inch material for interfacing.

To order a pattern, address International Designer Patterns, in care of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, P.O. Box 993, Dept. SX-17, G.P.O., New York 1, N.Y. State size. Send $1. Airmail handling 25 cents extra. New International Designer Pattern Booklet "A" available for 25 cents. Make check or money order payable to International Designer Patterns and add 4 cents for bank clearance.

Tawny Sponge Cake

Ingredients: One cup sifted flour, one teaspoon double-acting baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one-fourth teaspoon allspice, four eggs, one tablespoon water, one cup firmly packed light brown sugar (sift before measuring to make sure there are no lumps).

Method: Grease bottom and sides of two round pans (8 by 1¼ inches). Line bottom of pans with waxed paper; grease paper. Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, cloves and allspice. Beat eggs until thick and ivory colored — this will take considerable beating. Beat water into eggs, then gradually the brown sugar. Gently beat in sifted dry ingredients just until combined. Turn into prepared pans. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 20 to 25 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Invert pans on cake racks until cold. Then insert spatula under waxed paper and turn out. Note: This cake is delicious filled and frosted with sweetened vanilla-flavored whipped cream; or it may be filled with vanilla custard and then frosted with the whipped cream.

Rain or Snow Tonight

Weather conditions as of 12:30 a.m., C.S.T., Jan. 17. Temperature figures show average for area. Arrows denote wind flow; shaded areas indicate rain; dotted areas indicate snow. Barometric highs and lows in inches.

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Cloudy skies here through tomorrow with occasional rain or snow were predicted by the Weather Bureau. Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren said colder weather will continue through Wednesday morning and moderate that afternoon.

He predicted temperatures tomorrow would range from the low 20s to near 30, with a low Wednesday morning of 15 to 20. Wednesday's high, he said, should be in the low 40s. Average temperature during normal sleeping hours last night—10 p.m. to 6 a.m. today—was 40, one degree lower than the normal maximum for this date.

Below zero readings were reported early today in parts of Nevada, North Dakota, Wisconsin and Minnesota, where the nation's lows of 21 below at International Falls and 20 below at Bemidji were recorded. In Missouri, minimum varied from 20 at Kirksville to 41 at Joplin. Yesterday's highs were from 2 at Fargo, N.D., to 80 at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Light precipitation in the 24-hour period ending this morning was confined chiefly to areas west of the Rockies. Rainfall here this year, 1.32 inches, lagged today slightly behind the normal amount of 1.34 inches for the period.

By Ramon Coffman

THE birthday of Benjamin Franklin falls on Jan. 17, and I shall take up several questions today about this remarkable man.

Q. Americans make a holiday of the birthday of George Washington—why do they pay so little attention to the birth of Franklin?

A. That is a hard question to answer. Washington was a great man, but it is doubtful that he was greater than Franklin. Some scholars suggest that Franklin was the greatest figure of colonial times.

* * *

Q. In what fields was Franklin distinguished?

A. He was one of the leading writers and editors in the American colonies. He was an inventor, a scientist, a diplomat and a statesman. He served on the committee which composed the Declaration of Independence.

Q. What was the greatest thing about Franklin?

A. In my opinion his greatest quality was his kindness of heart, linked to his keen brain. Always he tried to be helpful toward mankind.

Q. What was the most important thing Franklin did for science?

A. He obtained proof that lightning is electrical. Others before him had suggested this, but Franklin proved it past all doubt. He was 46 years old at the time of his famous kite experiment.

THE FRANKLIN KITE EXPERIMENT.

Q. Was the kite experiment dangerous?

A. Yes. Franklin and his well-grown son (who helped in the test) were fortunate to escape death by electric shock.

Q. What was the most important service Franklin rendered in the struggle of the American colonies for independence?

A. As a diplomat in Paris, he persuaded the French Government to join forces with the American revolutionists.

CHAPTER 9.

THE night force at the post was in an uproar, and the provost's office was a bedlam. What a sensation. Mr. Grein bringing in Mrs. Weybright's protege for attempted murder and insisting not only on her being locked up at once but also on signing a complaint and making out an affidavit. A shaky trooper locked the big, handsome, contemptuously smiling Apache girl in a cell, and a sweating second lieutenant accepted the complaint and the affidavit and signed an acknowledgement.

Grein could not be reasoned with, though everybody, scared to death of what the colonel might do, had a try at it. The provost himself never stopped talking, trying to get Grein to withdraw the complaint until the colonel could be consulted next day and an investigation could be launched.

"No," said Grein.

Things settled down a little, but they all knew that it was only the lull before a storm. It was almost certain that after the arrival of Capt. Powell, who had just managed to get to bed, the colonel would have to be wakened and told the facts.

Finally the medico came, made Grein take off his shirt, and then went to work on him.

Grein did not wait for the fireworks. As soon as the medico had finished bandaging his hand and arm, he went back to his room, locking the door behind him this time, lit a candle, took off his guns, and sat down on the bed.

Grein got out an old newspaper and began to glance through it. Little by little he felt himself growing calmer, and he was just ready to blow out the candle and take another try at sleeping, when he heard light footsteps running up the outside stairway, and then there was a peremptory knocking on his door.

"Who is it?" he demanded, extremely irritated.

"It's Mrs. Weybright."

He dropped the paper with a start and stumbled to his feet. Of course. The little lady's pet was in the jug. She had come to raise a rumpus about it. Did the colonel know? If so, couldn't he control his lady better than this?

* * *

HE OPENED the door, and Mrs. Weybright rushed in. She did not look like her composed self at all. She looked young and wild and distracted, not 25 certainly; more like 18, with her hair flying and her eyes sparkling like jewels.

"You shouldn't come here," said Grein harshly. "If you wanted me all you had to do was send for me."

"Be quiet," cried Mrs. Weybright, loudly. She had her gloves in her right hand and she began to shake them at him.

"Now listen to me. You are going to withdraw that complaint. You are going to tear up that affidavit. You are not going to appear against Alice and get her sent to Federal prison for years. You are going to forget all about this. And if you don't, I'm going to see that you are run out of Mesa Encantada. I'm going to keep after the colonel and after him and after him until he makes it so uncomfortable for you, that if you are a man at all, which I doubt, you'll leave. . . ." She stopped to catch her breath.

"He asked me not to come here. But he agrees with me about Alice. And it's a serious thing for him," said Mrs. Weybright. "Now you listen. Alice was all ready to get married. I was helping her with her things. You killed her husband. The poor girl was out of her head. . . ."

". . . she was not out of her head. She was a lot calmer than you are right now. . . ."

". . . she doesn't show her feelings the way I do. I tell you, she was out of her head. That poor girl attacking a big rough brute like you. . . ."

". . . she cut me up pretty good, ma'am. She'd have killed me if I'd been full asleep and not just dozing. . . ."

". . . I don't care about all that. Now you listen. You are coming right down to the provost's office with me now. You are going to do exactly as I say. This episode is going to be as if it never happened, you understand? . . ."

"I'm sorry, Mrs. Weybright. You have no authority over me at all. Even if you had, it would make no difference. I would not withdraw the complaint even on the colonel's orders. . . ."

"He said you wouldn't."

"He knows."

"He told me I was a fool to come and talk to you. He knows what a brute you are. Everybody knows. Do you know, Grein?"

"From your standpoint—maybe so."

Mrs. Weybright stood looking at him for a long time, her blue eyes flashing sparks; then she spoke quietly.

"Nothing I can say, Grein?"

"Sorry. Nothing, Mrs. Weybright."

Her pretty mouth going grim, she reached up suddenly with her right hand and struck him in the face several times with her gloves, sharp, stinging blows.

Grein drew back first, staring, amazed at himself, moving so abruptly that he tripped over his high bootheels and almost fell. Mrs. Weybright stood looking at him with dazed surprise, blank unbelief, then she turned and sank down on the edge of the bed, and sat staring strangely at Grein.

"I don't seem quite to know what I'm doing," she said.

"You got company," said Grein.

"I've been guilty of some foolish actions," said Mrs. Weybright, "but nothing as silly as this."

"It's just all this trouble," said Grein. "Come on now, ma'am. Let's go to the provost's office. Get this fixed up. Maybe you'll feel better."

She stared at him in surprise. "You mean you'll do what I want you to do?"

"Yes," said Grein.

"Why? Just because I kissed you?"

"No. Because maybe I found out something I didn't know."

She got up slowly and stood looking at him.

"It seems . . . that perhaps . . . I found out something also. But I'm not certain what," she said.

* * *

GREIN turned away, embarrassed, and picked up his hat. "Come on," he said. "Let's get out of here."

He helped her solicitously down the dark outside stairway, then they started down the silent street side by side.

"I'll tell you something, Mrs. Weybright," he said. "I was so mean about this Apache girl on your account. I was so mean about Willy for the same reason. I wasn't dead certain that was the reason at the time. But now I know it was. I'll take back the complaint and the affidavit, if you like; if that will make you happy; but take my word for it, ma'am, I know what I'm talking about, she's dangerous. Just like Willy was dangerous. Willy and Toriano butchered a couple of ranchers not 15 miles from here. For why? For fun. All they wanted was some horses. No sense in it."

She took his hand and they walked along in silence till the lights of the post glimmered brightly ahead of them.

"Grein," she said at last, "I just can't bear the thought of that poor girl going to prison for years and years. Couldn't we . . . ?

"Tell you what. I'll step out of the picture so she can go free. Then you send her back to the reservation. Let her live with the Hoot Owls in those stinking hogans for a while. Don't let her come near. Maybe she might have a change of heart. I doubt it. But anyway, you'll be safe from her. All right?"

"Whatever you say, Grein," said Mrs. Weybright.

There was dead silence as Grein stepped up to the colonel. Mrs. Weybright looked a little strained and white, they all thought.

"Colonel, sir," said Grein, "I've been talking to Mrs. Weybright and I've changed my mind about insisting on a prosecution for the Apache girl."

No one could believe his ears.

"That so?" said the colonel, glancing at his wife, trying to catch her eyes, wanting her to smile at him so he would feel better.

"Yes sir. Now I'm going in and make the necessary arrangements. Mrs. Weybright will explain to you. Good night, colonel. Good night, Mrs. Weybright," Grein added.
